Grange Celebrates Children's Day

Worthy Lecturer Mrs. B. K. Denney in Charge. Rose Show Will Be Held This June.

The Beaverton Grange met in regular session last Saturday, it being the second Saturday of May. The regular ritualistic work was taken up and under new business it was decided to hold the Annual Rose Show at the next regular meeting, the second Saturday in June. Prizes will be given for the best collection of flowers and a special prize offered to children for the collections of wild flowers. We hope to be able to give more accurate data in the prizes and classes of exhibits later.

A special feature of the program was the children's day exercises under the direction of Mrs. B. K. Denney. The children had the whole program. Most of the selections were readings. One number specially worthy of mention was Elton Kelley's "Seven Times One". Another that seemed to be well received was Joy Hulet's rendition of "Kentucky Belle". Several children performed on the piano. Among them were Sammy Lawrence and Betty Hultley.

As this was the Saturday preceding Mother's Day the children marched around the hall and gave each mother present a flower. Also each placed a flower on the altar in honor of the "Unknown Soldier."

LOCAL GIRL WINS IN STATE CONTEST

Clare Seidmore, a pupil in the Beaverton Public Schools, won First Prize in the State Dandelion Essay Contest for Seventh and Eighth Grade pupils in the Second and Third Class School Districts, in the State of Oregon. This prize is a check for twenty-five dollars. As a winner of the ten dollar county prize, she was eligible to compete for the state prize.

The other county winners were Districts of the First Class: 7th and 8th Grades, Jean Blades of Hillsboro; 5th and 6th Grades, Elmer Johnson, Hillsboro. Districts of the Second and Third Class: Seventh and Eighth Grades, Clare Seidmore, Beaverton; 5th and 6th Grades, Olive Scott, Scoggins Valley.

The other state winners were Districts of the First Class: 7th and 8th Grades, Clyde Pink, Pendleton; 5th and 6th Grades, Dorothy Slead, Medford; Districts of the Second and Third Class: 5th and 6th Grades, Mary Hall, District No. 5, Columbia County.

BAD MANAGEMENT IS CAUSE OF WEAKNESS

Leg weakness in chicks is a rather peculiar disease found most often in incubator hatched chicks at the age of 10 to 14 days. It frequently attacks chicks which have been apparently healthy and growing. When this disease appears in a brooder there are usually several cases at about the same time. Occasionally a very high percentage of the young chicks develop it within a few days.

The majority of outbreaks of leg weakness coming to the attention of the veterinary department of the Oregon Agricultural College seem to be associated with the method of management.

"Every severe outbreak we have observed has been in the chicks that were closely housed and that were being fed a ration containing only a small amount of green feed," says Dr. B. T. Simms, professor of veterinary medicine.

"It is a significant fact that very few cases are ever seen in chicks hatched under hens and allowed to run with the old birds. In some outbreaks this trouble appeared in only a part of a hatch.

Treatment after symptoms are well developed is not very satisfactory. A change in the method of management will usually prevent development of more cases. Such a change consists in allowing the young chicks to run in the direct sunlight and to have a plentiful supply of tender green grass or clover."

HIGH SCHOOL

Final preparations are being made for Commencement, which will be held at the Beaverton High School, Friday, May 15. The Junior Class has charge of the decorating and the management in general. The program will start promptly at eight o'clock.

Monday afternoon, the Freshman English Classes, with Mrs. Dewhurst, English instructor, and Mr. Cochran went on a picnic up near "The Springs." The two English Classes have been having an "English" Contest, and the losing class had to treat the winning class to a picnic.

Friday, May 8, the Beaverton High School held their excursion on the steamship "Madeline." The boat left the dock at 8:30 A. M. and returned at about 6 P. M. The place where lunches were eaten, Prescott, was about forty miles down the Columbia River. A number outside of the high school also went on the excursion. Everyone reported a most enjoyable trip.

Rev. J. J. Staub, pastor of the Sunnyside Congregational Church of Portland, gave the Baccalaureate address Sunday night at the Beaverton High School. One musical number was given by the Girls' Glee Club, and one by the choir of the Beaverton Congregational Church. In appreciation of Rev. Staub's address, the Senior class autographed and presented to him a 1925 Ee'na, the high school annual.

OBITUARY

Fred Rossi was born Feb. 10, 1907 at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Regelo Rossi north of Beaverton. He attended the St. Cecilia school, from which he graduated from the Eighth Grade in 1922. From there he went to Benson Polytechnic in Portland, where he took a mechanical engineering course training himself to become a machinist.

He came home sick from school May 1st. The doctor pronounced his ailment pneumonia. That was on Friday, and the next Thursday he was feeling so well that he was thinking of getting up. His mother brought him his breakfast, and he asked for tea, but the breakfast was never eaten. He was taken suddenly, and died before his people could reach him, although they were just outside the house.

The funeral rites were carried out according to the most solemn ceremonial of the Catholic Church at the express wish of the bereaved parents. The Solemn Requiem Mass was chanted by Father O'Neill, pastor and celebrant, with Father Heesaker as Deacon and Father Jackson as Subdeacon, both of St. Mary's Home, Beaverton. The Sisters of St. Mary's of Beaverton formed the choir that rendered the requiem, in cooperation with the clergy.

The church was crowded with Catholic and non Catholic friends and the floral offerings were numerous and magnificent, the gift of family, friends, tenants and admirers.

The tribute paid him by Father O'Neill in his sermon was in part as follows:

"It is a consolation for me in this solemn hour that I should have the honor and privilege of testifying to the esteem in which he was held in Home and Church and City, among family, friends, or acquaintances, whether as devoted Son, devout Church-member, or sincere friend and scholar. He was everybody's friend and friend of everybody. His sweet simplicity and easy elegance won all hearts and proves that virtue brings its own reward. His practical Christian faith gave him God's standard of values. He knew what was worthwhile and what was worthless, for he regulated his life by divine faith and not by human folly, thus avoiding the foolishness and frivolity so often regarded as essential to youthful existence. I venture to assert, without fear of successful contradiction, that he was Beaverton's Best Boy.

"Of high thoughts and amiable words, of courtliness and desire of fame, of love of truth and all that makes a man. His pure sweet spirit is worthy of the company of the elect. God who has bereaved you, his beloved parents, will give courage and comfort and blessings in some other way."

Besides his father and mother, he leaves to mourn his loss a sister, Nellie, several more distant relatives and a host of friends.

Building Going Forward Rapidly

Squires Service Station Being Rebuilt. Rest Rooms, New Equipment Ultra-Modern.

Mr. L. E. Squires, proprietor of the Squires Service Station, where Broadway crosses the Oregon Electric track, has been making preparations to improve his property for some time. He has moved his house to the back end of the lot, filled in the yard, and made other preparations.

Actual construction was begun this week on a twenty-by-fifty-four-foot cement service station, which is to be the last thing in modern construction. Mr. Squires promises Beaverton the best-equipped rest rooms in town. There will be two covered drives, complete Alemite chassis greasing systems and air pressure greasing systems for rear end and transmission service. There will be two pumps, concrete enclosed grease tanks, and everything of the very latest type.

Two salesmen will be on hand so that service will be immediate and satisfactory.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO MEET MONDAY

Mr. D. A. White has been kind enough to tender the use of his theatre for this meeting. He has secured a picture, Richard Talmadge in "Let's Go!"

It will be a free picture. There will be light refreshments served to those desiring to partake. After the show and the lunch Mr. Frank Irvine, Editor-in-Chief of the Oregon Journal will address the meeting on "Oregon and Oregon Products."

The show and lecture will be free to all. There will be a charge of fifty cents each for the refreshments. Proceeds will go to the support of the Chamber of Commerce.

ONE-TWO-THREE

STRIKES—YOU'RE OUT! The baseball boys promise us a stiff entertainment Sunday when they cross bats with the Laurel bunch. Laurel is accounted one of the strongest teams in the League.

Two new players have been secured to play in the game Sunday. The grounds have been leveled and worked over and everything looks like a very interesting time.

The boys claim Yamhill was mightily pleased to see the little sprinkle of rain Sunday as they had come over to Beaverton expecting to get trounced, which they no doubt would, had the weather not been so threatening.

NEW REFRIGERATING PLANT INSTALLED

Mr. George Thyng announces that he has installed a Sevel refrigerating machine with J. G. Peck's two-temperature ice cream cabinet. One compartment, with temperatures of 0° to -5°, is for brick ice cream, and a compartment for bulk has a temperature of 10° above. The cabinet will hold 50 gallons of ice cream and keeps it in perfect condition, at the same temperature all the time.

AUTOS COLLIDE ON WATSON STREET

The other day Kenneth McGill of Whitford, accompanied by his mother, was driving north on Watson St. His attention was wholly taken up with something about the Raynard residence. His car got on the wrong side of the road. Harrison Hughson was approaching. To avoid a headon collision Harrison started to pull to the other side of the road. As he started to cross the street McGill caught sight and instinctively also began to cross. The cars struck apparently at an angle of about fifty-five degrees. Hughson's car was bent considerably and one wheel put out of commission. McGill's car suffered considerable on the front end but none of the occupants were hurt.
