Library Proves Exceeding Popular

Beaverton's New Public Library Will Become A Great Benefit to Many

Everyone in Beaverton and vicinity in Beaverton School district and adjoining districts are invited to call and become patrons of the library. Get the "library habit" and make the library one hundred per cent serviceable.

Stationery—paper, pen, envelopes, and ink will be furnished for writing letters at the nominal charge of one cent per letter. Postage stamps and postal cards also will be carried for the accommodation of the library patrons. People coming to the city to shop or visit are invited to come to the library rooms to rest, cool off, read or write.

The library desires very much some potted flowers. Who will be first to donate? More books are, also, earnestly requested. Let others have the pleasure of reading the books you have enjoyed and will probably never read again. Their donation to the library will be a public service.

Mrs. R. W. Jackson of the Johnson Road made the library a splendid gift of twenty-six volumes last week but whether you have one or fifty, we will be pleased to receive them, and will call and get them if you wish.

All those who have subscribed cash for the library are asked to send in their checks to the Library Board, or call at the library if more convenient, and hand to the Librarian. It will be appreciated if those who can conveniently do so will send their May and June installments at this time, or their entire subscription.

Don't forget that the library rooms are reading rooms also. Anyone is welcome to come in and sit for an hour or so—as long as they desire. Plenty of magazines, books and papers.

Tuesday was a very busy day. Half a hundred persons visited the library rooms, the visitors ranging in age from 8 to 80. Remember Saturday from 2 P. M. to 9 P. M. is the next open day.

Walter Harris, Superintendent of the Southern Pacific Shops, brought us in two complete sets of "Electrical Books," the six-volume set on "Applied Electricity" of the American Technical Society and the four-volume set on "Modern Electric Railway Practice" of the National Institute of Practical Mechanics. These works include a complete encyclopedia of electrical terms. Included in the gift was a 3-volume set of Memoirs of Napoleon Bonaparte by his Private Secretary. A number of ambitious young men and boys are sure to make good use of these books in the days to come.

People of Beaverton and the Community, let's have a thousand volumes in the Library by June 30. It will be easy to do if you send us those books you have on your shelves or in the attic, useless to you, but having great capacity for giving pleasure and profit to others. Let's go!

The Review came out so late last week that the announcement of the opening of the Public Library Saturday afternoon came too late for many to take advantage of the opportunity to get in their application for a Library card, but all who did come were much pleased with the appearance of the Library.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks and appreciation for the many kind deeds and beautiful flowers and sincere sympathy extended to us in our recent bereavement, also to those who so kindly assisted in the music and singing.

Mrs. Geo. Blasser,
Mrs. Dan Davies,
Mr. Hubert Hingley,
Mr. Henry Hingley,
Mr. Howard Hingley.

MANY TO GRADUATE FROM UNIVERSITY

Four hundred and twenty-eight seniors and graduate students have applied for degrees at the University of Oregon, and while failure to complete academic work may reduce this number somewhat before Commencement Day, University officials say that the 1925 graduating class will exceed 400, a record in University history.

Two hundred and ninety-five seniors on the Eugene campus have applied for degrees. An additional fifty-four completed their work on March 14 and will participate in the Commencement exercises, bringing the Eugene total of applicants to 319. According to present records, approximately thirty graduate students will receive either the advanced degree of master of arts or of master of science. This number, together with forty-nine seniors who expect to take degrees in the school of medicine at Portland, bring the total applicants to 428.

Commencement week exercises begin Thursday, June 11, with the Falling and Beekman orations. The annual flower and fern procession is set for the following day. Alumni Day is scheduled for Saturday, June 13, and Baccalaureate Sunday for Sunday, June 14.

The Commencement exercises, when graduates will receive their degrees, will be held in the Woman's Building, Monday, June 15. Dr. Joel H. Hildebrand, dean of men and professor of chemistry at the University of California, will be the Commencement speaker.

Dr. Hildebrand is a leading scientist and educator, and during the war he served brilliantly. He was awarded a Distinguished Service Medal for his work in the chemical warfare service.

ICE CREAM CABINET BEING INSTALLED

E. J. Hecox is installing a Serv-el two-temperature ice cream cabinet which keeps the bulk cream at one temperature and brick ice cream at a point below zero.

The refrigerant used is Methyl Chloride, which has in the last few years been manufactured in commercial quantities. Unlike ammonia and other refrigerants, it has no obnoxious or deteriorating effect upon metal and is odorless.

The machine is absolutely automatic and does away entirely with the use of ice. This is the second installation of this cabinet in the city and one of the first in the country. This is an entirely new process and credit should be given Beaverton merchants in the way that they grasped the advantages of this type of refrigeration, being among the first in this country to install these machines.

ST. MARY'S TO HOLD FESTIVAL

On June 7th a Festival will be held at St. Mary's New Home, the proceeds of which will go for the building of a gymnasium.

Various places of amusement will be had as well as many festival booths. A chicken dinner will be served from 12 to 2, and luncheon from 3 till 7. At 8 P. M. the St. Mary's Dramatic Club will present a Musical Comedy including selections from famous light operas.

Come one—Come all.

CHORAL CLUB WILL GIVE MUSICAL PROGRAM

The Beaverton Choral Club and the following soloists, Gettrude Hoerber of Portland, Miss Gladys Taft of Portland, Mrs. H. M. Barnes, Rhoda Schellenberger, Carina Peterson, Mrs. E. G. Webb, and Florence Southland, will give a musical program at the High School Auditorium on Tuesday evening June 2.

Members of the Choral Club are Mrs. Walter Harris, Mrs. H. W. Barnes, Mrs. L. F. Spencer, Mrs. C. E. Allen, Mrs. J. E. Davis, Mrs. L. R. Dean, Mrs. E. G. Webb, Mrs. D. C. Howard, Mrs. R. T. Weills, Mrs. R. B. Denney, Mrs. J. I. Eggman.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend. No admission charge will be made.

ALOHA-HUBER ITEMS

Mr. T. A. Cascadden has been on the sick list this past week, but is feeling much better. Miss Luella Cascadden spent Sunday with her parents on the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Peters of Portland were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Alexander Tuesday. Mr. Peters is a great bird-dog fancier, so comes out quite often to talk "dog" with Mr. Alexander, who also delights in that pastime.

Hennessey Avenue is now being graded preparatory to rock-ing, and, needless to say, the work is welcomed by all who live in that vicinity, as it is a short cut from the county road to the highway, and Hennessey Avenue has many home owners.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meach and son Douglas were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mann last week. Mr. and Mrs. Meach have just returned from San Francisco, where they spent six months with the intention of making it their home. They left the Sunny South, however, for beautiful Oregon.

Next Tuesday, June 2nd, the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Huber Commercial Club will hold its regular meeting in the club house. Please attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Moore were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mann. Sunday all motored to Moore's home-site, a beautiful spot at Oswego lake, where the Moore's intend to build a home in the near future.

The Huber Commercial Club Box Social and dance last Saturday night was well attended. There were many beautiful boxes, some of which sold as high as $5.75. The six-piece orchestra furnished splendid music. An old time quadrille furnished great amusement both to those who attempted to "swing 'em around" and to the spectators. J. W. Patterson was the Hon. Caller.

HUBER PARTY TAKES VACATION

Mr. and Mrs. R. Strahan, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meach, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Hedge, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph B. Moore, and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mann are spending the holidays at Merrill's Lake, Washington, fishing.

Mr. Mann wants to try his luck with the beautiful new hand made fly pole recently presented to him by Mrs. Mann, and if the fishes know a good thing when they see it, they'll surely bite.

The ladies of the party, wishing to "reduce," have decided that a climb of 1703 feet in a distance of two and one-half miles, is as good a way as any, though perhaps not the safest. The writer hopes, however, that they will get to the top before reducing to mere shadows and so frighten the fish away, that Mr. Mann "might" have caught, which

Church Soon To be Erected

Portland Architects Have Been Retained, Plans and Specifications are Under Way

On Tuesday evening DeYoung & Roald, Architects, who have been retained by the Bethel Congregational Church to supervise construction of the new church, to be erected at Sixth and Watson Streets, were authorized to proceed with plans and specifications, and Mr. DeYoung informed the Committee that they would advertise for bids within a very short time.

In view of the fact that construction will be under way shortly, the Building Committee will appreciate payment of all pledges as soon as possible, to the Bank of Beaverton, or to a member of the Committee, of which Mr. F. W. Gady is the Chairman.

MANY FAMILIES COMING TO OREGON

Eighty-five families, bringing with them a total of $185,000 for investment in Oregon farms, have returned signed questionnaires stating their intention of coming to Oregon during the month of June, according to W. G. Ide, Manager of the Land Settlement Department of the Oregon Development Fund.

These 85 families represent 22 states and the three Canadian provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick, according to the report. The new settlers will come to Oregon by rail and overland by automobile.

BEAVERTON ROOK WINS HONORS

William W. Lassiter of Beaverton, freshman in vocational education, placed first in the pole vault for the O.A.C. rooks in the annual track meet between the O.A.C. rooks and the University of Oregon fresh, on Bell field Friday. The height was eleven feet, and six inches. The rooks won the meet by 82 to 40.

SPRING FROLIC AT TIGARD

A Spring Frolic will be given at St. Anthony's Hall at Tigard on Saturday evening, May 30.

The popular Gigray orchestra has again been engaged for the evening, and a large attendance is anticipated.

Mrs. H. E. Weed entertained the Portland "New Thought Club" last week. Thirty-five covers were laid. Mr. Weed addressed the meeting on "New Ideas in New Thought."

OBITUARY

Mr. Jos. Hingley was born Oct. 15, 1850 at Staffordshire, England, the youngest son of a family of thirteen children.

He attended common school there and afterwards was apprentice to a blacksmith, where he learned iron work.

In 1871 he married Miss Mary Edwards, a short time before leaving for the New World. It was in 1872 that he arrived in California. He soon after sent for the young bride, who had remained in the Mother Country. From California he came to Portland in 1873, where their little child, May, now Mrs. Geo. Blasser, was born.

After living in Portland for about two years, the family moved to what is now known as Progress and established a blacksmith shop, later putting in a store and post office. It was Mr. Hingley who recommended the name Progress for the new post office to which mail came by stagecoach and on horseback from Portland.

While the family were in Progress five children were born, one of whom, Myra, died in 1903.

In 1907 Mr. Hingley moved back to Portland, having lost his wife in 1900. Since that time he has made his home in Portland until his last illness, when he came to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Geo. Blasser, where he died May 20.

In 1923 Mr. Hingley experienced a slight stroke of paralysis but seemed to have fully recovered. About eight weeks before his death he walked from the Y. M. C. A. in Portland out to Clinton and 32nd St. The vigorous exercise proved too much for his heart and he began to fail from that time. His death was due to breaking down of the tissues of the heart.

He is survived by one brother, Noah Hingley of Scholls; five children, Mrs. May Blasser, Hubert and Howard Hingley of Portland, Mrs. Dan Davies of Seattle, Mr. Henry Hingley of Wenatchee, Wash., also 3 grandchildren, Helen and Ruth Hingley of Portland, and Danella Hingley of Wenatchee, Wash., besides a host of friends and neighbors.

Mr. E. S. Jones, factory representative of the Durant Motor Co. of Oakland, Calif., was in the offices of Otto Erickson and Co. Wednesday to state that Mr. Erickson had been appointed Washington County representative for the Star car. Mr. Erickson will handle only the Star car and will not be interested in the other makes that this company puts out.

Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Carney of Portland were the guests of their niece and nephew, Georgianna and John Malarkey, Sunday, and enjoyed a motor trip to Vernonia, going by way of Forest Grove and returning through St. Helens.

OPERATOR'S BRAVERY SAVES BURNING TOWN

Miss Dora Simon, telephone operator, is the heroine of the town of Mapleton, Minnesota. Owing to her presence of mind and her bravery in remaining at her post while the flames raged around her, the village recently was saved from destruction by fire.

Hearing an explosion and without knowing that the building was on fire, Miss Simon sent in an alarm for the fire apparatus. The telephone office was located on the second floor of Mapleton's largest building. An oil stove in the basement of the store below had exploded and the building was flying embers set fire to other buildings within a radius of 2 blocks.

Meanwhile, the telephone operator remained at her post, calling for aid and summoning help from other towns, including Mankato, 20 miles away, Amboy and Wells. The room, however, soon filled with smoke blinding the operator. Gropping about, she made her way to the stairway and either fell down or rolled down nineteen steps to the street, where she collapsed and was found by the firemen.

There is a tragic note in this heroism in that while the telephone operator was so bravely fighting for the town, her brother was dying in a St. Paul hospital.

THE VALUE OF A BRAND

State Market Agent Spence says it is hard to understand why it is the producer who most strenuously objects to grades and standards, when he should be the first to adopt them. The eggs, for instance, when eggs are eggs, and potatoes are potatoes and berries are berries. Perishable farm products must be brought up to the same level in marketing as other merchandise, and the farmer simply permits the middle-handlers to make the profits when he sells his products as field run, and lets them do the grading and make the money.

When a producer puts a product on the market true to the grade under which it is sold and when he stays with it long enough and consistently enough to gain a reputation, that producer will not have very much trouble in finding a ready market. Such a reputation is not easily gained, but once gained it is hard to lose.

THE HUGE MIDDLE TAX

If half of the selling cost of domestic requirements could be eliminated, what a difference it would make to the volume of business of the country and what a difference it would make in living costs. When the farmers are well enough organized to demand it, cream separators, harvesting machinery, sewing machines, incubators and many other necessities will be sold direct to farmer groups instead of the present most costly system of local agencies, super-agencies, high pressure salesmen, etc. There are many lines today where the merchandising of the products is equal to the manufacturing cost of them. If producers and consumers were as solidly organized as the manufacturing industries, a huge unnecessary middle profit and expense cost could be eliminated, to the good of the many.

OREGON A SEED POTATO STATE

California is a great market for seed potatoes and if the growers of Oregon will take advantage of it and will ship California the quality of seed it wants—the very best quality—there is no reason why a market cannot be secured for hundreds of carloads of seed stock. In fact, there is no reason why Oregon cannot supply the bulk of the seed for that state, if it will go after the business right and ship only the very best seed stock, for California is very partial to the Oregon-grown Burbank.

Dr. Talbert has moved into his new house on 2nd and Lombard. The house was built by A. B. Hoeken for his sister, Mrs. Hardingham, who moved to Portland.

Popular Dorothea Huntley Married

Pretty Wedding Takes Place In Local Church, Reception Held At Home Of Bride

Mr. Collis Powell Moor, of Moro, Oregon, and Miss Dorothea Louise Huntley of Beaverton were married Sunday evening, May 24th, at the M. E. Church, Rev. G. A. Gray officiating.

The groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Moore, prominent wheat ranchers of Sherman County, is a graduate of the University of Oregon of the Class of 1925 and past president of the S. A. E. Fraternity.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Huntley of South Beaverton, was a student of the State Normal School at Monmouth and the University of Oregon, where the romance began.

The church was beautifully decorated with pink and white roses and peonies on cedar background with an abundance of palms artistically arranged in fanshape on the rostrum.

Mr. Roscoe Moore, brother of the groom as best man, and Miss Janet Huntley, sister of the bride as maid of honor, were assisted by the bridesmaids Misses Vena Gaskill, Mildred Anderson, Mildred Simpson, and Mrs. Joe Muessig. Little Rhoda Thyng and Jean Kline were flower girls.

The ushers were Messrs. Arnold Southwell, Donald Park, Frank Carter, and Benjamin Reed of the S. A. E. Fraternity of U. of O.

The bride's dress was ivory crepe-backed satin trimmed with embroidered lace and her veil was silk net with the head band of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, orchids, and white sweetpeas.

The maid of honor was dressed in green and silver taffeta and the bridesmaids in pastel shades of crepe de chine. They carried large bouquets of coral rosebuds and sweet peas.

The little flower girls wore white organdie trimmed with blue and pink ribbon, and carried baskets of rose petals, which they strewed at the feet of the bride as she entered on the arm of her father.

Mrs. Joe Muessig sang "I Love You Truly" and Mrs. J. E. Davis sang "O Promise Me" which were both very much appreciated. Mr. Willis Gady accompanied, after which he played wedding marches from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn.

Immediately after the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, to the immediate relatives and friends from out of the city.

The house was appropriately decorated in blue and gold.

Mrs. B. L. Lyman of Seattle poured and Mrs. Louise Patton of Portland served the bride's cake after the ceremony of cutting by the bride. Mrs. Lawrence Lloyd presided over the refreshments, which were served by the Misses Doris and Martha Woodruff, Merza Halsten, Ruth Patton and Elizabeth Gray. Miss Betty Huntley and little Jean Gray passed the wedding cake.

After a short wedding trip to British Columbia and Northwest points of interest, Mr. and Mrs. Moore will be at home in Moro, Oregon.

NOTICE

Attention is called to the fact that the Post Office Department has been advised by the Leningrad office that the name "Russia" should no longer be used in the address of correspondence, as the new official name of that country is "Union of the Socialist Soviet Republics". The use of initials should be avoided in order to prevent confusion or the possible return to origin as undeliverable of articles improperly addressed.

In another column will be found the first of a series of articles prepared by Dattis P. Murray on "Things to Consider when buying a home."
