A CORRECTION

NOTICE
The Postoffice Department has been advised by the postal administration of Czechoslovakia that the official name of that country in the English language is "Czechoslovakia", while the names "Tschechien", "Czechien", "Tschechel", "Bohemia", "Tschechovien", "Czechia", etc., are not permitted in the address of mail articles. Consequently, in case articles reach the country in question in the objectionable manner above cited, such articles are returned to origin.

FARM REMINDERS
For poisoning the Douglas ground squirrel—the common gray digger—this is the best season. During June when the females and young are above ground they are readily exterminated. The squirrels are killed most effectively by the means of poison grain. The grain is scattered along the squirrel trails and about the holes. Properly scattered poison does not endanger livestock, as the animals do not pick up enough to harm them.
