A horsy man and a nagging woman make a well-matched pair.

A girl isn't necessarily timid just because she jumps at a proposal.

Many a man owes all he has to his wife—and a lot more to other people.

A cynical old bachelor says that marriage is an institution for the blind.

The men wonder where the summer girl was stowed away during the winter.

Faint heart often wins fair lady—with a little artful assistance on her part.

The best thing to do when you find yourself up a tree is to fall on your feet.

Men will willingly acknowledge their home-ties so long as they do not include home-made ties.

Marriage makes one out of two, but somehow it doesn't seem to decrease the world's population.

The modern girl dogs no wear her heart on her sleeve because her frock so rarely possesses one.

If there is one man on earth who earns every cent that he gets, it is the chap who marries for money.

Why does a man love to have a woman ask questions about himself before marriage but not afterward?

When Nature produces a shallow brain she usually tries to even up things by supplementing a fluent tongue.

There's this to be said in favor of Mormonism—it does not throw the entire burden of supporting a husband on one woman.

Two things the average man can't understand are why a dog should have fleas and why a wife should have so many fool relations.

Everything considered, it is probably just as well that the United States hasn't seventeen vice-presidents, as some of our big banks do.

Another trouble with the world is that there are too many people laboring under the impression that laws do not apply to them.

The reason that we would hate to marry a "flapper" is that as a helpmate a member of that species is about as useful as a match that has been lit.

Men who do not approve of bobbed hair for women should remember that it will look a great deal better not to let their own hair grow too long at the back of the collar.

You can't blame a woman for wanting her husband to keep well. There isn't anything on earth more disagreeable than a sick man who isn't sick enough to stay unconscious.

VALUABLE HOUSEHOLD RECIPES AND SUGGESTIONS

When good buttermilk is to be obtained, it will find many uses in the food. As a drink, ice cold on a hot day with a lettuce sandwich, it forms a meal. Biscuits made with buttermilk are par excellence; and dumplings never are quite so light or ever as delicious as when the buttermilk is used with baking powder.

Lettuce with Roquefort Dressing—Take one-fourth of a cupful of roquefort cheese. Mix together one-half teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of vinegar, three tablespoonfuls of oil. Blend well and add the cheese. Pour over head lettuce and serve at once.

Cheese Balls—Take two cupfuls of cottage cheese, dry and unsalted. Mix it with one-half a cupful of catsup, one and one-half teaspoonful of salt, paprika, and one-third of a cupful of chopped nuts. Chill thoroughly and make into little balls. Serve on watercress.

Cabbage with Cheese Sauce—Select a hard head of cabbage, removing the heart without further cutting the cabbage. Cook until tender in salted water. Drain, place on a hot hoop plate and cover with a thick white sauce to which a cupful or less of cheese has been added. Serve cut in pie-shaped pieces.

Cabbage Salad—Chop one small cabbage; add a cupful of chopped celery to three cupfuls of cabbage and three sliced bananas with a slice of finely-minced pineapple. Season well and cover with a highly seasoned salad dressing.

The Reporter Has His Troubles

AND THEN THERE ARE FOLKS SO MODEST THAT THEY HESITATE TO GIVE OUT ANY PERSONAL INFORMATION, LEST IT APPEAR THAT THEY ARE TRYING TO "GET THEIR NAMES IN THE PAPER!" THEY'RE TOO MODEST, WE CLAIM!

LOTS OF PEOPLE ARE VERY OBLIGING, BUT THERE ARE A FEW WHO RESENT THE REPORTER'S QUESTIONS AS BEING "NOSEY", FORGETTING THAT HE IS ASKING FOR THE READERS OF HIS NEWSPAPER, AND NOT OUT OF CURIOSITY.
