Church of Christ Going Up Soon

Ground Will Probably Be Broken
Sunday for Church at Present
Location of the Gospel Tent

The closing meeting at the Gospel Tent will be held next Sunday evening. There will be a meeting every night during this week. Sunday services will be held forenoon and evening. A large class will be baptized Sunday afternoon in the Tualatin River near Farmington. This makes the third baptismal service to be held on succeeding Sundays. One time eleven were baptized, at another 18, and it is expected that a goodly number will be baptized at the ceremony next Sunday. A Church of Christ has been organized for a permanent house of worship. The church building will be constructed at once. A large percentage of the money needed has already been paid in.

The site selected for the building is the same as that on which the Gospel Tent has stood. Cash Johnson, Tom Allen, S. C. Rogers, Geo. Hughson, and Mrs. W. M. Thurston have been acting as a committee to select the location. An option has been secured on the two corner lots on the northeast corner of Second and Main Sts. Mrs. Thurston has generously offered to purchase the lots as a memorial to her late husband.

Present plans are that the ground will be broken for the new church building next Sunday. It is expected that a permanent pastor will be secured and a regular place of worship established.

Miss Alpha Williams has been chosen to lead the choir to be organized at the Church of Christ, and a Junior Choir will also be organized, the leadership of which has not yet been decided.

TELEPHONE ANSWERS

MONKS' PRAYER

A lonely telephone, high up in the Alps, on top of the Great Saint Bernard Pass, presided over by a tall old monk, stands guard for the hardy travelers who attempt to cross the range by the Pass, rather than to make the trip through the tunnel below.

The telephone, the monks and the famous dogs of Saint Bernard have made the Pass safe. The wire leading from the telephone goes to an inn some ten miles lower down the Pass and in times of storm when a traveler leaves the inn, word is telephoned up and one of the monks goes down with the dogs to reach the traveler before he is overcome.

"But are there no lives still lost in winter?" inquired a young American.

"No—not a life in many years." The tall old man was silent a moment. Then in a reverent tone he said, "For over a thousand years, my son, we have prayed for the safety of travelers here. And He has answered our prayers at last." The smart young American asked, "Or was it the telephone?"

The old mountain climber turned and looked at the Yankee with quiet eyes. "Yes, my son—that is how God answered our prayers."

ELECTRIC LOCOMOTIVE BEATS STEAM POWER

Out of the 8,760 hours in the year, the electric engine can give 6,000 hours of service which produces revenue, and the steam locomotive less than 3,000.

Experts believe that "the electric locomotive comes, not to supplant, but to supplement steam as a motive power."

The electric locomotive today and for many years to come will have no more right to operate on lines of very light traffic than has a steam locomotive to operate on lines where the duty required or density has grown beyond its physical attributes to handle.

LETTERS

From Our Readers

Beaverton, Oregon, July 10, 1925. The Beaverton Review: In reply to your paper of July 10, 1925, I can remember when it was possible for a man around Beaverton to leave anything he wanted to outside of a house, and it was there when he went for it. I have lived in and round this town for over sixty years, when there were only seven houses between Hillsboro and Portland, and in those days it was possible for a man to live an honest life, and today you will find the same class of people in Beaverton as anywhere else.

H. C. Watts.

HUBER COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETS

The Huber Commercial Club held its regular meeting Monday night, July 13, with the Vice-President, Chas. Rose, in the President's chair, Mr. Mann being absent. Three new members were added to the list.

The meeting was mostly devoted to trying to adjust the water rates, which were recently increased at the same time the water supply decreased. The Public Service Commission advised Mr. Stipe, our district manager, together with an engineer from the Tualatin Valley Water Co., to meet with the club and explain the cause for said increase.

They explained that the company was in arrears, and they thought that by increasing the rates they would in the near future be able to put in a new reservoir, thereby giving the patrons plenty of water at all times, which will of course be satisfactory to everyone concerned. There were many suggestions and arguments concerning this matter, which finally was referred to the present committee for investigation.

Auto Turns Over Near Club House

W. C. McAllin Injured; Taken to Portland Hospital; Returns to his Work the Next Day

About 3:30 Wednesday afternoon, a car driven by W. C. McAllin turned over as it was being driven around the corner from the Canyon road down toward the Multnomah Golf Club house.

McAllin, who is about sixty years old, had only been driving a short time, and in making the turn he ran off the bank on the right hand side, where the "Winged M" sign stands. The car turned completely over, broke the 2 hind wheels off, broke the windshield and top and came to rest sitting right side up.

Mrs. McAllin, who was with her husband, was rather badly injured, and McAllin was cut about the face and head by the glass from the windshield. He was taken to a Portland hospital but was able to return to his work at the clubhouse on Thursday.

ANNUAL MASONIC PICNIC HELD SUNDAY

Sunday, July 12, the local Masons and Eastern Stars held their annual picnic at Rippling Waters. Swimming was enjoyed by a good many, both before and after dinner.

A base ball game was played between the ladies and the men, and the game ended very much in the ladies' favor, which was pretty good considering the fact that the men gave them 6 outs to their 3, and that there were a great many errors on the part of the losing team. There were no accidents reported excepting that two of the ladies lost their French heels in the course of the game.

When the ball game was over there were sack races and egg races for both ladies and men. Mr. V. A. Wood won the gentlemen's sack race, and received the prize, a cigar, and Mrs. J. Sprague captured the ladies' prize of 50c.

In a tug of war the winning side was awarded a bottle of stick candy.

After clearing up the scraps left from the noon dinner the lively crowd started home.

HOP GROWERS MUST COMBAT NEW PEST

Hop growers who have been directing their sprays against the hop aphid already this season may have an additional pest to combat in the red spider, due to the hot weather. No control measures have been applied against the red spider this season so far, but some growers have already sprayed twice for hop aphid, and may have to spray again.

A combination spray to control both pests has been shown to be practical. The formula for the spray is commercial concentrated lime-sulfur, 2 gallons; calcium caseinate, 1 lb., sulfur (sublimated or dusting sulfur), 5 pounds; nicotine sulfate, 6 ounces; and water to make 100 gallons.

The powdered caseinate and sulfur are first thoroughly mixed together and then water added slowly, working the mixture into a thin, homogenous paste.

The commercial lime-sulfur is poured into the spray tank, and water added. As the tank is filling, the sulfur paste is poured through a strainer to remove the lumps. The nicotine is added last, just before spraying. In place of the calcium caseinate, one-half pound hydrated lime added to one gallon of skim milk can be used.

Growers who use quassa to control the aphid can combine their spray with lime sulfur in the same way as the nicotine. Soap is not necessary to use when the calcium caseinate spreader is used, and soap should not be combined or used in sprays that contain lime sulfur.

The world is alive and on the alert for new thoughts and ideas, and the man who takes the initiative and launches something new is sure to find a place in the front rank.
