Half the things you think matter, don't, while half of those you think do not matter, do.

Those who win success must of necessity form the habit of never yielding to discouragement.

Since human life is so short we must profit by the experiences of others as well as our own.

The bootleggers will continue to outwit the government as long as they outpay the government.

Do you lack enthusiasm? Then get out of the way—let someone in who can show some speed.

The trouble with most of us is that we will not face the facts. It is a mistake to try to dodge an ugly fact.

"Oh, boy! The little duckling was sure embarrassed when he found that his first pair of trousers was down!"

If nations went to war no faster than they pay their war debts, there would be a fine prospect for unbroken peace.

Many a girl is tempted to marry by observing the beautiful solicitude and tenderness with which a man caters to the whims and caprices of his motor car.

Too many of us are apt to confuse a temporary success with a permanent one. Do not be too enthusiastic—get down to a bed-rock basis, and then be enthusiastic.

Perhaps widows and widowers so often remarry because marriage is like any other sampler: if you lose, you want to try your luck again—and if you win, you naturally want to win again.

We often find men who are proud of supporting their political party, be it right or wrong, and at the same time they ought to be ashamed of themselves for not supporting their family better.

It used to be commonly held that a child's school days were his preparation for life, but more and more it is realized that childhood is a very important part of life itself. Therefore, "begin early to develop the youth."

In order to get the perspective of progress these days it would be a good plan to look backward ten years at your own experience and see just what has been done. It will surely set you thinking and give you a touch of anticipation of what you may expect in the future.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY ON EASY MONEY

"An awfully interesting man came to see me today, Aunt Emmy. He had a list of stocks and bonds that look very favorable to me. Take this," said Helen, handing an alluring looking folder to Aunt Emmy. "This stock is pretty good. The man said it would be quoted at 20 on the exchange a month after it is put out. I can buy shares now at two dollars and I would make eighteen dollars for every two dollars I invest and all inside of four weeks." Helen paused for breath while Aunt Emmy looked at the folder.

"If I were to buy those White, Leghorn chickens of yours," remarked Aunt Emmy, "would you promise me their eggs will sell for one dollar and a half a dozen a month from now?" "Of course not, Aunt," laughed Helen. "The price of eggs depends entirely on the supply and demand in the market."

"Well, how about stocks? Why can this man promise you that stock will be selling for twenty dollars a month from now?" "Well, I don't know exactly, but the listings on the stock exchange are different, aren't they?"

"The prices of stocks quoted on the stock exchange are influenced by supply and demand like the prices of eggs. No one can honestly guarantee the future price of any stock! A promoter who urges you to buy stock on any such guarantee is misinforming you. A stock salesman you could trust would never make such a statement. If you are going to listen to such talk you'd better put your money in the savings bank."

"But I wouldn't make so much on it!" objected Helen. "Big profits mean big risks, and you cannot afford to take risks," said Aunt Emmy. "The house that gets out this booklet is unknown to you. Why don't you find out who you are dealing with?"

"How can I find out about the thousands of stock houses in the United States?"

Dairy Cow Testing and Feeding Demonstration

SEGIS PIETERTJE PROSPECT—221648 World's Record Cow for Milk Production—32,254 Pounds in One Year. Born April 10, 1913, Died March 10, 1925. Owned and Developed by Garnation Milk Farms, Seattle, Washington

One of the features of the Dairy Section at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition, Portland, October 21st to Nov. 7th, will be a demonstration of testing for butterfat and cost accounting of feed of two groups of dairy cattle, using five average Oregon cows in one group. These cows will give about 4000 pounds of milk per year, which is about Oregon's standard and the standard of the United States, too.

In another group will be five purebred cows, featuring each of the five well-known breeds whose production will be from 5,000 to 13,000 pounds of milk per year. Purebred cattle have productions of more than this amount but it is thought to impress the public of the desirability of owning a string of well bred cows which shall give at least twice as much as the average Oregon cow—the cost of these cows being not greatly in excess of good grade cows and with a possibility, during times when calves are in demand, of making for their owners.

"Well, said Aunt Emmy, 'if you insist on considering making investments, you ought to at least take the trouble to go to your bank and find out about the people you are dealing with.' 'I didn't know banks would bother with anything but actual banking,' Helen said. 'They are glad to,' Aunt Emmy said. 'The more people that save and invest money, the better it is for the banks.'—A. B. Ayres.

RESTRICTING LOANS ON UNECONOMIC FARMING

Bankers in many of the rural sections of the country are realizing as never before that they cannot afford to loan money for the conduct of farming enterprises where the odds are against that enterprise ever becoming a success. The risk is too great, and what is more it is doing the borrower an injury to encourage him in an unwarranted venture.

Some farmers may resent the idea of being questioned in regard to the use they expect to make of borrowed money. A false idea of their independence may lead them to feel that they can do as they please and follow any system of farming they desire; that it is nobody else's business whether that system is economic or not.

Best results will accrue when both the lender and the borrower recognize that they are entering into a partnership and if the advantages and the dangers are frankly and carefully discussed the possibilities of success are greatly enhanced.—Banker-Farmer.

A Few Good "Don'ts" Don't buy securities that are handled by irresponsible persons or unknown firms. Don't buy mortgage notes on distant property. Don't buy stock in new enterprises. Don't try to work the stock market. If the public were to win, professional operators would soon shut up shop and quit.

Don't buy stock in mines you know nothing about. Many mines are holes where fools dump their money. Don't buy all stock. Don't buy stock in new invention schemes. Don't buy real estate unless you have seen it. It may be a swamp. Don't buy from one who says, "Invest now or it will be too late." Don't buy from one who says, "The price will soon be raised."

Don't buy from one who offers you a discount for cash "tips." Don't buy anything on "tips." Have nothing to do with the "bucket shop." Don't speculate. A rich man can afford to, but you can't. A splendid rule is, before you buy a security take it to a conservative and disinterested banker and ask him how much he will lend on it alone as security.—Banker-Farmer.
