SENIORS ELECT ANNUAL STAFF

The Senior Class held a two-period meeting Friday morning. They now take great pleasure in presenting the following students as the Senior Staff for 1925-26:

B. H. S. LOSES FINAL GAME

The B. H. S. football team lost the final game of the season to the Hillsboro High second team by a score of 7 to 0, Friday, Oct. 22. The game was close and hard fought throughout. Hillsboro's lone score was not made until 1 minute before the end of the game.

SOCIETY

Honoring Miss Mildred McLeod a birthday dinner party was given by her parents at their home Monday evening, October twelfth. After the dinner had been served Miss McLeod was presented with a victrola, which made its own presentation speech by playing, "Yes, Sir, That's My Baby" while being brought in. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Those present were: Helen Kearns, Georgianna Malarky, Mrs. Marsh, Miss Mildred McLeod, Mrs. J. McLeod, and Gale Kearns. Merwin Dant, John Livermore, Jackie Marsh, Mr. Marsh, and Mr. J. McLeod.

The Freshman Reception, given at the Beaverton High School on Oct. 14th, was a decided success. The Sophomore Class was delighted with the large number that attended and were especially glad to see the Alumni, which shows that their interest in Beaverton High is not waning.

Several friends were entertained at the home of Misses Martha and Doris Woodruff Thursday evening, October twenty-second. Dancing and a concert, broadcasted by Francis Ross's Orchestra were enjoyed. Those present were: Helen Kearns, Georgianna Malarky, Ruth Haulenbeck, Merza Halsten, and Doris and Martha Woodruff.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We are glad to announce that through the cooperation of the staff, the faculty and the local newspaper, we have been able to realize a long cherished desire. We have completed arrangements to have this paper printed for the remainder of the year by so doing, our paper will compare favorably to any similar publication.

CLASS NOTES

FRESHMEN
The Freshmen wish to thank the members of the upper classes for the reception that was given in our honor. We are sure everyone had a good time. "Hot Dog!" The six weeks' tests are over and from the looks of several who received their report cards, we might say that the grades ranged from "the sublime to the ridiculous." No one is discouraged as yet because we remember that old axiom "Try, try again." We are highly elated over our prospects for a Basket Ball team, as we have very good material. Watch our "Smoke" - Keep on the lookout for an important announcement that will appear in an early issue of this paper.

SOPHOMORES

First Freshman: "Did you go to the Reception?"
Second Freshman: "No. Did you have a good time?"
First Freshman: "No. I didn't have a 'good time' but I did have a snappy time. I no more than finished one game than there was another to play." The gym was decorated with Autumnal leaves, fir, and cedar. Japanese lanterns were used for lighting. I heard a faculty member remark that the attendance was the greatest in the record of Beaverton High. But as someone said, "The more the merrier." Refreshments were served in the gym. Some Sophomores must believe in this motto, "Music while you eat." For music there was RED-HOT, served with spoons. The wash tub tried to "hog" the show, but it was put to disgrace by the auto horn. The Glee Club sang. This might not sound exciting now but it was then.

Second Freshman: "We'll have to work to make our return party better, eh what?"
First Freshman: "I'll say."

JUNIORS

The Juniors are busy and taking an active interest in all the activities.

STUDENTS GIVE FREELY FOR OLD IRONIDES

Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 28, M. C. Kenney of the Portland Lodge, Elks 141, gave an address to the student body, followed by one to the grade school children. At his request the assembly sang "America" preceding his speech. As this is Constitution Week every school is having the opportunity of hearing the story of the Battleship Old Ironsides, which has served under all the presidents from Washington to Coolidge. The school children of America are having the opportunity of raising money to make this ship a permanent museum that all visitors to the Boston Navy Yard will be permitted to visit and see the famous old decks and masts that played such a vital part in American History.

Buttons were given out to advertise the plan.

SENIORS

The Senior class held a special meeting for the purpose of discussing and deciding on something to do for the newweds, Lovena and Hershel Funk. It was voted on to tax each member twenty-five cents. A committee of three was appointed by the President to decide on the present. They are, M. Halsten, M. Merrill, and J. Kimmy.

The Seniors wish to congratulate the Sophomore class on the way they put over the Freshman Reception.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB
The Girls' Glee Club has been having some wonderful practices, and many new members have been added. There have been some suggestions about having uniforms to wear while making public appearances. A black and white bolero outfit has won most of the approval. Many new and pretty musical numbers will be heard in the future. Among them are, "All the World is Waiting for the Sunrise" and "Ma Lindy Lou." Both are good, and the assembly will probably have the pleasure of hearing them soon.

STUDENT BODY

The most important question that is now confronting the Student Body is that of the Annual. At our last meeting there was much discussion in favor of it and it was decided to start work on it as soon as possible. The Staff will be composed of Seniors, but all the other classes are urged to assist. We wish to state here that this is a school project and each class should be well represented. Let's get behind the Annual and make it the biggest and best book that has ever been published by Beaverton High School.

The Student Body has decided to join the debate club this year. Many of the students are going in to debate and we expect to have a good team under the direction of Mr. Cochrane.

Just One Of The Family

Texas down south in Massachusetts that I was prognosticated. We had a quite a large family in our house. I had two sisters—both girls. Then I had seven brothers, all named Bill, except Charlie, and his name was a "peach". It's a good thing he wasn't twins, for then he would have been a pair (pear).

George was plumb cracked on science. He wrote a book named "Scientifics" teaching us that what is, is not, and what is not, is. What will be never was and what has been will never yet be.

His scientific turn of mind never yielded him elegant jobs. One day I heard he had been fired, so I hustled up to his sleeping quarters. "What kind of a job did you have?" I put forth.

"I was a stenographer in a livery stable," he says.

"Why, what did you do?" I asked amazedly.

"I took down hay for the horses," he responded.

But science came to his rescue, once, at a most worthy time. Just before brother George had married his wife they bought a cow in partnership. Several weeks later when I met him on the street he said that he and his wife had quarreled.

"Just what was the particular difficulty with your spouse?" I wanted to know.

"No, I didn't have any mouse, I was plain sober," he chimed in. (He was always dumb like that.) Finally he told me that he had gone to milk the cow one day and his wife had objected.

"But don't I own half of the cow?" asked brother.

"Yes, but you own the front half and I own the back half," his wife complained.

Well, I choked to the neck—red, white and blue with grief, but stopped only for a say: "What did you do?"

"What did I do?" I stopped feeding my half and her half died."

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The girls have good prospects for another winning basket-ball team this year, as there are five girls with us who won letters last year. Those who wish to go out for basket-ball practice have been given an opportunity to sign up for it. Practice begins this week, and Miss Lanning has made arrangements to meet with the girls and get in some good practice. There is much new material in the Freshman class this year and we expect a good showing from them.

DO YOU KNOW?

That dollars and cents were given for the repair of Old Ironsides, by the Beaverton student?

That no 'F's' were given in American History the first six weeks?

That three 'F's' were given in English Seven the six weeks?

That twenty-six boys turned out for Basket Ball practice, all hoping to make the finals court?

That Helen Kearns' name was accidentally left out of the Staff in the last Hammer and that she has been crying about it ever since?

That Mildred McLeod had a birthday not long ago?

That Lester Gray washes off his face powder every night?

That there are now two hundred pupils enrolled in B. H. S.?

That Miss Lanning won't allow notes to be passed while she is in the assembly?

That the Freshmen keep the grass worn off the tennis court?

That Ruth Haulenbeck never uses powder or rouge?

That we now have some advertisers from Tigard?

That Jim Kimmy will appreciate any contributions to the "DO YOU KNOW?" column?

It is said that we carry a weight of 15 tons of air on our bodies. The fact that so much of it is hot air is what gives us the pain in the neck.

FEDERAL RESERVE HELPS FARMERS

How Its Aid to England's Return to a Gold Standard Benefits American Agriculture.

By M. A. TRAYLOR
Second Vice President American Bankers Association.

There has been no more important event for the American farmer and stock man since the Armistice than the recent return of Great Britain to a gold standard. It seems a long distance from the Montana farm to the gold vaults of the Bank of England but the price the farmer gets for his wheat and cattle depends not a little on that gold.

The farmer sells his wheat to the elevator man and yet the real buyer in many cases, is an Englishman, a Frenchman, a German, or an Italian. About one-third of the wheat crop is usually sold abroad and this part is a large factor in fixing the price of the entire crop. Between the farmer and the foreign buyer there are many steps. In recent years the most important step has been that at which the foreign buyer has to pay the American exporter, for the international mechanism of payment has been badly out of order because Europe was off the gold standard. It was just as though an English buyer drove up to your farm house, bargained for your wheat and drew up the contract. But when you discussed payment, he said: "I'm sorry I haven't any good United States money to pay you with; I'll have to pay you in my English paper money, which isn't worth its face value in gold. I don't know what it may be worth next week, but that is your risk."

A Deadly Foe of Trade
How many would be willing to sign contracts on this basis? Yet that is the way most of the world's trade has had to be carried on since the Armistice. In practically all countries except the United States the currencies have had no fixed value in gold, but have changed in value from day to day. Whenever one country sold anything to another country, somebody had to take the risk of loss because the value of the money might change before payment was made. Such uncertainty of payment is a deadly foe of trade, and people were afraid to do any larger international business than they had to.

Increasing the length of the day in Oregon by use of artificial light is recommended by the O. A. C. experiment station. Lights may be used at morning or night, or both, giving the layers about a 13-hour day. The more simple plan is to use morning lights only, putting them on at 4:30 o'clock.

Experimental dark indicates that morning lighting is as good as night lighting or as a combination.
