

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAM BONNER

YOUNG BOBBY BISON

"There are some creatures," said young Bobby Bison, "who don't care for the zoo."

"I've heard, too, that many do not wish to have their children born in the zoo. Yes, that I have heard quite often."

"Of course all animals aren't like that," he continued.

"I think you're right," said young Billy Bison, "for you were not right, we would not be here—that is, we would not have been born here, for here we were born."

"That's good," said young Bobby Bison.

"What's good?" asked young Billy Bison.

"It's good that you are so particular in the way you speak," said young Bobby Bison.

"It would have been quite incorrect if you had said anything about not being born here, but you added that here we were born—so that made it all right."

"Oh," said young Billy Bison, "I thought at first you might have meant that it was good that we were born here."

"I mean that too," said young Bobby Bison.

"Ah, but my papa was mad around the time I was born."

"Sometimes our papas get mad—at different times—and my papa chose the time when I was spending my first few days in the zoo."

"He had to be kept away from the rest of the Bison family, that was how mad he was."

"If any others get angry they're not kept away from their families."

"They stay around, with their anger and all."

"But my papa was kept away. It was best."

"He had his own excuse for having been kept away, though. He said that he was such a big, stubborn animal, and that he wanted to have his own way for his own anger—so was given a place all by himself where he could have his own way."

"That was where the zoo people played a joke on him! He didn't mean to have his own way all by himself, in the first place."

"A creature wants his own way against other creatures and their ways."

"He doesn't want to be put off by himself and told he can have his own way."

"That's the last thing he wants."

"It's like telling some one they can be as angry as they want and no one will mind and then having that person all by himself in a big yard and have one nearby."

Such a Big, Stubborn Animal.

"There is no satisfaction in being angry then! There is no one against whom one can be angry."

"But it is late in the season now and I am busy seeing that my new coat looks as fine as possible."

"I shed my coat last spring and now my new one is quite perfect at this season."

"In the spring, which, after all, is not so very far away, I shall shed once more."

"Yes," said young Billy Bison, "your coat looks very fine now. I think mine looks pretty well too."

"But we had better not think too much of ourselves as there are others who have fine coats in the autumn and early winter too—just as there are others (and many, many others of these) who have their new coats in the spring."

Young Bobby Bison knew that was perfectly true, but he talked to young Billy Bison about other matters—matters of Bison interest and Buffalo importance.

City and Country Life

A boy left the farm and got a job in the city. He wrote a letter to his brother who elected to stick to the farm, telling of the joys of the city life in which he said: "Thursday we autted out to the Country club, where we golfed until dark. Then we motored to the beach for the weekend." The brother on the farm wrote back: "Yesterday we bungled to town and baseballled all the afternoon. Today we motored out to the cornfield and re-hewed until sundown. After we had supposed, we piped for a while. After that we stearncased up to our room and bedded-down until the clock fired."

Look Like Toy Umbrellas

Little Billie—Say, papa, do mushroom grow in damp places? Papa—Yes, my boy. Billie—And is that why they look like little toy umbrellas?

Miss Helen Roseman, domestic science teacher at Coquille, spent the holidays with her parents and returned to her work the first of the week.

The Service Lumber Co. have acquired the C. E. Allen house at the south end of Main St. and are remodeling it. A. M. Hecken has the contract for the carpenter work.

Community Building

Courtesy of Tourist Stressed by Mobile

The hospitality of the old South, a more or less abstract quantity with the many busy southern cities today, will be put into immediate greater use by the automotive committee of the chamber of commerce, which has decided that the tourist is the guest of the city, the Mobile (Ala.) Register recently announced.

Labeled as a guest, the tourist will be treated as one by the city, and every attention will be made by the city to entertain and accommodate the visitor.

The tourist in all probability will come in contact with the gasoline station operator first of all, it was thought, and the operator will direct him to the chamber of commerce, where he will register and receive a guest card and a guest marker. The guest card will entitle him to certain advantages that the native has not, while the guest marker will fit on his radiator and announce to the city at large that he is a stranger within the gates.

The city in turn, recognizing him as a guest, will seek to serve him hospitably and the traffic officer will give him the courteous co-operation, a stranger always needs among unfamiliar traffic regulations.

In addition to the guest designation, the visiting tourist will be given accurate and detailed information concerning the city.

The automotive merchants agreed unanimously that their employees must be familiar with the city in order that they will be able to supply tourists with information.

The proper use of hands in signaling when driving was discussed by the committee. The arm extended at a 45-degree angle upward should indicate a turn to the right, and straight out a turn to the left. The arm pointing downward, palm forward, should mean a stop, and the same signal with the palm backward a reverse.

Men of High Vision Are City Builders

"Location, transportation facilities, automobile manufacture, world-wide advertising, progressiveness, many lines of industries, and so on, are all prime factors in the growth of a city," said R. E. Taylor, realtor, telling his ideas as to why Detroit goes ahead.

"Detroit is just filled, way beyond the average proportion, with brainy, able, experienced, successful men, with resources behind them, and broad, practical vision to carry them ahead—that is the main reason for Detroit's success."

"There are living in Detroit today a number of men trained up to big things; they know the game; they love to play it, and, notice—the bigger they grow, the easier it is for them to keep on growing!"

"These men are, in general, not the inheritors of wealth! They are mostly self-made. And that, too, is a great thing for the future of Detroit—because the man who makes $10,000 to $50,000 himself, has grown so seasoned and experienced that he has a better vision than the man who inherits money. He knows when to put his money into a new thing."

"The man who has gone right out with his own fists and fought the battle for success—knows how!"

Flower Boxes for City

Flower boxes are being placed on the electric light poles at Camden, Maine. The boxes are the gift of Edward Bok and they are to be kept watered by citizens whose places of business are nearest the boxes. They are filled with earth, moss, ferns, geraniums, other bright flowers, and trailing vines.

Proper Growth of Trees

In the care of one's yard caution should be taken against irregular growth of trees and means adopted to rectify any fault in the tree's growth at the start. Many trees are inclined to lean in a certain direction through being forced into that position by prevailing winds from the opposite point and, unless braced while young, it will be impossible for them to grow upright as they should. It is well that a sufficient space be spaced up around the tree, and the ground fertilized.

SERIOUS RESULTS

"Beware of driving with one hand, my boy—it often has serious results."

"Guess you're right—I know of two marriages resulting from it myself."

Trees Require Food

There is a tree in your yard which is hungry, and, though it cannot tell you in as many words, you can bet it is just as hungry as though it stood on some street corner and cried out in words.

It's the great fault with trees; they cannot tell you they are hungry. They just stand out and starve until their clothes—their bark—get too big for their body and fall off.

Mr. Homeowner, that tree in your yard is worth a heap of money. It's a mighty big asset when you want to sell your place, and it's a lot of comfort these hot days. Get busy and give it something to eat.

If you don't know what to give it, call in a doctor, not a man's doctor or a child's specialist, but a tree doctor, and let him prescribe a diet for that tree.

Zoning Law Upheld

A decision of interest to all members of the National Association of Real Estate boards is that just handed down by the Supreme court of Minnesota upholding the validity of the Minneapolis zoning ordinance, which excludes flat buildings from certain areas zoned for single family residences. The decision reverses a former opinion of the court.

Benefit of Home-Owning

"More than one-half the houses in the United States are owned by men who make less than $2,000 a year," declared W. D. Carter. "It is estimated that approximately 90 per cent of those who build or buy a home do not pay for it outright at the start. Habits of thrift, economy, and self-denial established and practiced in saving to meet the monthly payments by which the home is paid for are among the greatest benefits of owning a home."

Flower Boxes for City

Flower boxes are being placed on the electric light poles at Camden, Maine. The boxes are the gift of Edward Bok and they are to be kept watered by citizens whose places of business are nearest the boxes. They are filled with earth, moss, ferns, geraniums, other bright flowers, and trailing vines.

LOCAL NEWS

Doy Gray made a business trip to Hillsboro Tuesday.

G. W. Noes has been complaining of being under the weather this week.

Benny Germinquet entertained several boy friends from Portland at a chicken supper Tuesday evening.

Several young people gathered at the Speake home to have Goldie instruct them in the Charleston steps.

Mrs. C. P. Robinson of Ashland, Oregon, visited friends in Beaverton last week, stopping with Mrs. Spraner.

J. M. Baker and family of Ashland, Oregon, spent the holidays with Mrs. Baker's parents, C. E. Hedge and wife.

J. F. Fredricy is plastering the newest Berthold house, which it is expected will soon be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Briggs.

It is reported that the local marshal, J. E. Story, arrested Oscar Duley, the speed cop, a few days ago for parking in a restricted area.

Masquerade Ball and Carnival Dance at Huber Wednesday, Jan. 13. Three big cash prizes. Music by Wahner's Broadway Entertainers. 8:30 to 1:00 A. M. Lunch served at all times. 6

Stewart Russel, who has been in the hospital in Tillamook, is back in town. He left Beaverton and went to trucking lumber from the Embody mill to the railroad at Mohler where he got his leg broke.

Ike Aselsfine who drove out from Portland Wednesday night in a dense fog reports that several machines were in the ditch and otherwise wrecked along the highway that night. This looks as though a Tunnel wouldn't be a bad idea from the standpoint of safety.

PROSPERITY PREDICTED FOR AUTOMOTIVE INDUSTRY

W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, predicts continued prosperity for the automotive industry during the year 1926.

"My opinion is that 1926 will be a good year in the automobile industry," he said.

"That there will be as many passenger cars sold at retail as in 1925."

"That dealers will improve their merchandising methods and the dealers who do will increase their turnover."

"That used cars will have to be treated as merchandise and dealt in as such at fair prices and in running order."

"That dealers' improvements in shops and tools will help to reduce the maintenance cost of automobiles."

"That people will never stop buying good motor cars at the right price."
