Senator Stanfield Renders Great Service to Oregon

In an address sent to and read before the Portland Advertising Club, Wednesday, Apr.
21, 1926, United States Senator Robert N. Stanfield said:

"When I entered the U. S.
Senate March 4, 1921, agriculture was in dire straits, prices were down, producers were hard up and the banks and loan companies in farming communities were unable to realize on the notes they held. Quick action was necessary to relieve the agricultural distress.

Works Hard, With Gooding,
For Emergency Tariff

"After repeated efforts I succeeded, assisted by Senator Gooding of Idaho in overcoming the objections of Senator Penrose, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, to an emergency tariff on farm products, and on May 27, 1921, the Emergency Tariff Bill became law.
This act placed protective duties on 28 of the principal farm products, including wheat, corn, potatoes, onions, cattle, meat, wool, butter, cheese, milk, apples, cherries and nuts.

Stanfield Comes to Rescue With Amendment

"May 20, 1921, the Stanfield Bill was introduced "to preserve the livestock industry of the United States, to release for commercial, agricultural and industrial purposes certain funds of banks, livestock loaning and trust companies, to amend the war finance corporation act, and for other purposes."

"The Stanfield Bill, or its principal provisions, became a law on August 24, 1921, the Senate Committee on Agriculture submitting its main features through Senator McNary as an amendment substituted for the Norris Bill, along with other provisions. Under its terms the War Finance Corporation made advances for agricultural relief amounting to $298,000,000, of which the banks, trust and loan companies of Oregon that serve agriculture received $6,696,000.

Drafted Into Relief Service by Treasury Department

"As soon as the War Finance Corporation was prepared to function under this law, and at the request of the Treasury Department, I went West, where I spent months assisting and advising with the bankers, thereby enabling them to procure the needed help quickly and before it was too late to save them. Fortunately, very few failed in Oregon in comparison to other states.

Forced to Keep Silent to Protect the Banks

"Much was said about my absence from the Senate during this time, but I was forced to keep silent and go about my work without referring to my absence or mission, because if the people had known why I was in the West, and what I was doing, suspicion would have been directed to every bank I entered, and to every banker with whom I talked. Until the banks could turn their frozen paper into liquid assets, my silence was imperative to avoid embarrassment to them, and the defeat of the relief needed and sought."

How's your oil after 1,000 miles?

IT'S not how well the oil you use lubricates during the first few miles it is in the crank-case that counts. Any good oil will lubricate well at first. It's the end of the run that counts.

Parabase was made to lubricate just as many miles as you would expect good oil to go—and a little farther.
Parabase takes care of those last few miles before you put in fresh oil when all the damage is done.

Parabase does not quickly break down under the stress and heat in your motor. It stands up—it is your insurance that your motor will be as sound at the end of the run as it was at the beginning.

Tell your garage or service station man to fill up with Parabase.
