A good voice and good rhymes can make a senseless poem sound beautiful.

Silent men always provoke in you a curiosity as to what they think of what you say.

A man without ambition can look back over his life and see no great disappointments.

As one gets older he becomes less "temperamental." He gets nothing by it.

It's better to put up with a good deal rather than have a quarrel with a neighbor.

The real bore is the one who takes up the whole trip describing scenery elsewhere.

Whenever we run the devil out of town he runs into a bootlegger and hires him to represent him.

Few men want to be dressed better than their associates, but all want to be dressed as well. That's democracy.

Which are you, a resident or a citizen? A mere "resident," who just lives in a town but doesn't do anything to make it better, is liable to get into the habit of criticizing the "citizens," who are trying to make the town a pleasant place in which to live.

BRAIN TEASERS

Is Missouri any relation to

Can a color-blind person be

Is the law passed on Monday

What is the chest expansion of the average oyster?

Why aren't all husbands referred to as "silent partners"?

Why is it that none of the girls we ever take out are on a diet?

What happens to all of the collar buttons that roll under bureaus?

Did they teach spelling in the school that our stenographer attended?

FUTURE BECKONS YOUNG AMERICANS

Achievements of Past Only Show Great Opportunity Ahead.

Great events of the past quarter century which lead some young men to complain that all the big things have been done, leaving no opportunity for them, as a matter of fact only go to show that even greater opportunity today lies ahead of them. F. N. Shepherd, Executive Manager of the American Bankers Association, recently told members of the American Institute of Banking in New York. After reviewing the outstanding accomplishments in science, industry and finance during the last twenty-five years, Mr.
Shepherd emphasized the reward given men of achievement in America, especially in the financial field.

"The achievements of the past are the groundwork for the opportunities of today and tomorrow," he said.
"There never was a time when so great were the potentialities of the individual. The world was never so ready and able to pay well for what it wants. For superior service to society under competitive conditions, whether through invention or production or organization or distribution of useful articles, no reward is begrudged, particularly here in America."

"Adding to human comfort and human needs, these things make life easier and better. The world has shared, but it is in America that they have reached their highest development and utilization. The American spirit of useful enterprise, however, does not confine itself within our own borders. It permeates the entire world and renders great service to peoples other than our own."

"Let us pass over America's service to humanity in the war and consider what is being done now. Largely to rebuild the economic life of a world shattered by the war and its devastating after effects, America has, since the war, loaned other peoples over ten billion dollars. Last year alone a billion and a half in foreign financing was consummated in the United States. American financial genius has so far readjusted our banking machinery to meet enlarged international obligations that stupendous foreign loans, such as the $100,000,000 Dawes plan credit to Germany, are consummated and the books closed after being open to public subscription only a few minutes."

"With our new world viewpoints we in America have many great things yet to do. These things are typical of the broadminded world viewpoint of American finance. It shows the vision necessary to the men who guide our business affairs today. Certainly there is an inspiration in this and the great opportunities which await us."

Bankers and business men of the leading towns of Taylor county, Texas, employed a county agent last spring, and requested that he vigorously promote boys' and girls' club activities. As a result of his work over 300 club members were enrolled.
Work is being concentrated this year on poultry culling and grain sorghum seed selection. This fall there will be exhibits and contests, for which the business men are contributing generous prizes.

IN MEMORY OF DELBERT SHEARER

By his Mother

As the days and weeks and months go by,
Oh, how we miss you, Delbert dear.

Each day seems longer than the one just past But we feel your presence ever near.

We miss your footsteps on the stairs,
The music of your harp now laid away.

We miss your voice and pleasant smile,
For now you sleep in a bed of clay.

I saw your face in my dreams last night,
Felt your kiss upon my lips, But you only stayed so short a time, Then vanished through the cloudy mists.

Your pals are friends so staunch and true.
Though you sleep on the hillside far away,
With sage and cedar and the flowers you loved,
Will strew your grave on Memorial Day.
