HOME WANTED FOR A BABY

THE CLANCY KIDS

HOW IT MAY BE INDUCED

Doctor—Exercise in the open air means death to the microbe. Interested Listener—But how is one to induce the little beggar to exercise in the open air, doctor, I'd like to know?

All-Knowing
"Now that you are married, I suppose you have no secrets from your wife."
"Oh, I didn't before. She was my stenographer."
The best bird singers have sober-colored plumage.

HIS EXCUSE

Judge—"What have you to say as to this charge that you struck a man and then skipped out?" Prisoner—"Well, you see, it was from force of habit, Judge; I used to be a baseball player and we were ordered to play the hit-and-run game."

A Catastrophe
Madame Rotary—How was your European trip?
Madame Kiwanis—A great disappointment—we missed an issue of Continued Stories magazine somewhere and it never caught up to us.

AT THE MUSEUM

Rosamond (viewing knight's armor)—How delightful 'twould be to have one's heart swayed by so gallant a knight.

Mary Jane—Yes—if the tin snail didn't try to rule with an iron hand.
Remember
Husband—That man is, the ugliest person I ever saw.
Wife—Not so loud. You forget yourself.—Pitt Panther.
In Switzerland there is only one divorce to every 18 marriages.

Erin Bars "Foreign" Games
The Gaelic Athletic association of Ireland maintains its ban on "foreign games." Any member who takes part in cricket or rugby football, or even attends matches as a spectator, is disqualified. Ireland has no baseball and in many years has only witnessed one or two exhibitions of the great American game. But many Irishmen who have seen it out of Ireland would dearly like to nationalize it there. However, like cricket, it is a "foreign game," and this, in accordance with the decision of the Gaelic Athletic association, is an obstacle to its introduction.

The Oxford Accent

F. M. Haas, the champion oarsman, said at a dinner in Worcester: "The English laugh at our accent. Well, it's time we laughed at theirs." "One day at Oxford university a coxswain was short a man, and so he went out and scoured the roads. He found a likely looking student in the High and held him up. "I say," he said, 'are you an oarsman?' "No," said the student, 'I never been on an 'orse in me life.'"
