THE MODERN
HUSBAND'S TASK.
The newly married man of today has a more difficult task than he would have had in former years, to maintain harmony in the family. The girls of the present time are very independent, often too much so, yet they have sometimes reason for their course. They may not put up with things that their mothers used to stand without much complaint.

If the young married man of today does certain things that were done without much question years ago by many husbands, these independent girls are likely to founce out of the house and go home to their mothers, or set up as independent wage earners. And that, too, without much discussion of the matter. Apparently a lot of them are doing it right now.

It is possible that a few may regard, too lightly their marriage vows, but it is a safe bet that the young women are not entirely to blame for the broken up homes.

In former years many women disliked so much the breaking up of the home they would put up with neglect, selfishness, and even with infidelity rather than make any row about it. Many husbands even got the idea their wives would stand anything rather than leave their home and children, and the selfish brutes took advantage of this submissiveness. They can not figure on so much docility these days and its a good thing for all concerned.

Even the man who is guilty of no serious offense but who is only just selfish and inconsiderate may find that the woman of his choice refuses to live with him. True, she should overlook minor faults in view of her pledges and her obligations to her children. But a man who wants to build a happy, permanent home, should be that he will have to consider his wife's happiness just as often or a little often, than he does his own. He must be fully conscious of the fact that a home is the product of the partnership in which the wife has an equal voice with the husband and that courting days do not end as soon as the marriage ceremony is over.

AUTUMN ON ACACIA FARM Over the hillside and thru the dale Up the path to the mossy vale To where the rippling waters flow,
Is where I long to go.
Far below I gaze upon the meadows green,
Here and there cattle dream.
In the distance where the Big Nestucca flows
On its waters I love to row, All around me I hear the whistling breeze, Winding thru the trees, I notice that the maple's leaves and others,
Are turning to rich colors.
Dart up the tree like lightning I see the gray squirrel scrambling.

On the treetops birds are singing In swamps frogs are croaking.
I feel the cold, silent evening coming,
Just the kind for dreaming.
Acacia's beauty will ever reign.
As you're walking up its lane.

Poem)

Here's why this new and greater motor fuel gives a Quicker Start!

GENERAL
MOTO-CRAT
GASOLINE

Touch the starter—the motor hums. Instant start! And this is why.
General "Moto-crat" Gasoline is highly volatile. That means just this: Every drop vaporizes instantly. Just as soon as the spark lets go it ignites. There's action for you!

But remember—General "Motocrat" Gasoline is perfectly balanced. To produce that quicker start gas-miles have not been sacrificed. You get a noticeable increase in power—no acids or sulphur—less carbon—no fouled spark plugs—no pitted valves.

Your General Independent Dealer has General "Moto-crat" Gasoline. Fill up your tank and let your engine decide. It costs no more than ordinary motor fuels.

Fill your crank case with General Parabase Motor Oil—made to see your engine through to the end of the run. It's perfect motor insurance. For Fords use Para4rd.

CHICAGO—What a child eats determines what he will be as much as heredity or environment, according to Herbert C. Hooks, secretary of the Evaporated Milk Association, in an address here.

"First of all, we are what our parents and distant ancestors make us," declared Mr. Hooks.
"Then we are what we eat, and finally we are what our surroundings make us."

"Some idea of the importance of the child of the food he eats may be gained from consideration of the mass of the war-born babies of Germany, who, 8 to 12 years of age

Strong Bodies

ness through which it goes, the milk curds are smaller and easier of assimilation by the infant.
"Milk contains nearly all the elements for bodily health and strength. The calcium in it builds bone and teeth, the proteins are unexcelled for building muscle tissue

Good Parents

now, have the minds of normal children of 4 and 5 years. Reason for the inferiority of these babies lies not so much in the fact that they did not have enough food to eat as that they did not have the right kinds of food.
"Balanced diets spell health for babies. Improper diet spells disease. Mother's milk is the perfect food for infants, but in thousands of cases this natural food is inadequate or impractical because of congenital reasons. A substitute must be prepared from cow's milk and the all-important thing is the purity of the supply. This often points to the use of evaporated milk which is simply fresh cow's milk rendered double-rich by reason

Bad Environment and replacing waste tissue, and the lactose or milk sugar, is an energy food. The baby and child who drink plenty of milk are storing up health for the future."
