FAMOUS ARTIST INSTRUCTS

William de Lottwick Dodge, famous mural artist, in his studio at the Sequi-Centennial International Exposition grounds in Philadelphia, where the 150th anniversary of signing the Declaration of Independence will be celebrated from June, to December, of this year, giving instructions to a group of young artists who are creating the "Rainbow City." Mr. Dodge is the color expert for the exposition, and every bit of color work done must be approved by him.

No Secrets to Making Perfect Cup of Coffee

Can Be Achieved By Following A Few Simple Rules Says Famous Cooking Expert

By Mildred Maddocks Bentley Formerly Director of Good Housekeeping Institute

What is the secret of first-rate coffee—the kind that starts the day right—that makes you feel "like a million dollars"?

Literally hundreds of women—and a surprising number of men—have asked me this question in one form or another. And it's an important one—for what can be more blighting to domestic happiness than a cup of muddy coffee or coffee improperly "treated"?

Selection of Coffee There are many excellent brands of coffee in the market—the choice of one of these is largely a matter of individual taste. But I do want to say that usually coffee in the bean retains its flavor longer than in the ground form—so, if possible, buy the whole beans and grind your coffee fresh for each meal.

The Coffee Pot Connoisseurs maintain that coffee brewed in a metal pot has a less delicate flavor than in a container of glass, stone-ware or agate.

For drip coffee, if you do not have a special drip coffee pot, an ordinary one equipped with a double cheesecloth bag will serve the purpose. The cheesecloth should be washed in cold water after using and renewed at least once a week. Keep the bag always moist.

The "Creaming" This I consider quite as important as the actual brewing. Good coffee can so easily be spoiled by using cream of inferior quality or the "top of the bottle" if carelessly poured off.

LETTERS FROM A COLLEGE FRESHMAN

Waldo Hall, Oct. 25, 1926. Dear Folks—I got your letter this morning, and as it was the first letter received in five or six days, you can imagine how glad I was to get it.

Sunday I went walking all by myself and explored the whole south side of town. I met a girl while on my rambles who is in my journalism class and stopped at her place for a little while but that's the only place I've been where anybody lives, except Allee's and Nelson's.

I see Imogene Hocken occasionally, she is in my history class; and "Bud" Cook is in my zoology lab., but we only have that once a week.

Last night at church I met a fellow from Vernonia and had a lot of fun kidding him about the "Eagle's" scream. I also told him what you said Vernonia looked like but he said it's lots different now.

The other day I saw Elva Ekstrom and she asked me not to tell you folks about her engagement. She said she didn't want the folks around Beaverton to know about it until she was married.

I have also met a girl from Vernonia. Her name is Margaret Smith and she sits next to me in zoology lab. (Vernonia seems to be well represented here on the campus.)

There is going to be school, probably the three days before Thanksgiving, but there aren't any exams, scheduled. Then maybe we'll have Monday off if we beat Oregon, and I'm sure we will. So it's up to you whether I stay here that week or not.

Did I tell you I was Program Chairman of our Sunday school class. Next Sunday I'm going to have a couple of Japanese girls sing for Sunday school. Their names are: Yoshiko Kanemura and Ruth Nomura. They are awfully cute.

How about my stationery, Dad? I had to borrow a envelope to send this letter in, so can't write any more until you send me some stationery.

Write often. Lovingly, Tina. P. S. See you Homecoming.

IT MAY NOT BE THE TRUTH, BUT

(From the Beaverton Hummer) A college graduate is one that can count up to twenty without taking off his shoes.

If all the animals that gave up their lives for the fur coats of milady: fox, squirrel, raccoon, or a wolf coat, were to come back to life there would be exactly 8778 foxes, 89,251 squirrels, 12,800 raccoons, 6810 wolves, and 8,000,000,681 rabbits.

Spaghetti should not be cooked too long. About ten inches is long enough for most people.

Silver cups are quite the rage this year. If you sell the largest number of Annual coupons you get your "John Henry" on one.

Miss Christenson and Miss Mills think it is lots of fun "batching."
