COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

(From the Beaverton Hummer) A commercial department is necessary in any progressive high school. This department is the preparatory business school for the student before he takes a position in an office.
Beaverton High School is not without this important division.
We have practically 110 students in our school taking a commercial subject. Below is the average attendance of each class.

Typing, I	20
Typing, II	20
Typing, III	20
Shorthand, I	20
Shorthand, III	9
Bookkeeping	18

We are very glad to add Shorthand III to our list this year and are very sorry we could not last year. To add to the interest and material of this class work, all nine students subscribe for a monthly magazine entitled, "The Gregg Writer."

Without our commercial department, we would be unable to put over "The Hummer" and Annual as we have done so successfully. Our important typists, such as she who is typist or the Annual and The Hum-mer originally came from this department as do our able bookkeepers and good note writers, who write in shorthand.

In former years, Beaverton High School has been well represented at the County Typistist's Contest and one of our former girl graduates, being an excellent typist, won first prize.
We hope to be able to send many such to the contest this year, and with the wish that they will receive high honors.

The two capable teachers of this department are Miss Clary and Mr. Metzler and as some of the previous graduates have since become private secretaries, we hope that these feel confident that these teachers can send forth many more students just as able to fill the same positions.

DEBATE PROSPECTS BRIGHT AT B. H. S.

Enthusiasm runs high and competition is keen among the twenty-seven contestants who have come out and entered the lists for forensic honors.

It may easily be seen how great is the rivalry for positions on the teams which are to represent Beaverton High when one realizes that only four can be chosen.

Elimination contests are being conducted and the freshman class have Lawrence Drewery and Mabel Kautz to contest against the sophomore team, consisting of James Underwood and Vernon Rosebraugh, for class honors in the semi-finals.

The juniors selected their standard-bearers in a big debate Tuesday. It was a terrific battle of wits in-as-much as they had seven participants and each as ambitious as possible.

The winners were Kenneth Wood and Henrietta Gerrow.

The seniors selected their standard-bearers later in the week, so now, watch the fur fly when they meet the aforesaid Juniors.

The question for debate is:
"Resolved that the policy of Federal subsidies to the states under Federal supervision should be abandoned."

A CORRECTION

In these columns last week, we stated the Mr. Frank Pul-ver, Proprietor of the Beaverton Sheet Metal Works had a contract to install the "heating system" at the new Tigard Union High school house.

The heating plant at that school house will be of the hot water type while Mr. Pulver installs only the warm air systems.
However, Mr. Pulver has a contract for the roofing and the sheet metal work at the Tigard Union High school.
