FAIRIES

by Verne Bright

The fairies bring me dreams When I am in my bed— I play by silver running streams The stars sing overhead. I leap and run in the white moonlight, The fairies run with me; O, they laugh in the wind and merry brook, And sing in the willow tree. The fairies splash my eyes with dew And tease my yellow curls— But mother says that fairies are Just little girls!

LeRoy James, of Beaverton, route 4, was slightly injured in an automobile accident Sunday near Tobias. Paul D. Commerce Group Discusses Road

Petition For Widening Broadway Through Beaverton Is Being Circulated

Special to the Review—A special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce was held at the I. O. O. F. hall Friday evening for the purpose of taking definite steps to route the Canyon road (now under construction) thru Broadway in Beaverton, where the present highway now runs. Mr. Livermore, one of the County Commissioners, gave a talk in which he advised that the property owners give every cooperation to the State Highway Commission to induce them to extend the Canyon road through this city. It was brought out in the meeting that certain rumors were afloat to the effect that the property owners within the city limits desired to extort such unreasonable damages from the State Highway Commission that the latter had decided to run the Canyon road some distance to the north and leave Beaverton off the highway entirely. To correct such rumors a petition is now being circulated among the property owners along the highway, asking that the city administration widen the present street to conform with the plans of the State Highway Commission, and saying that they will not be unreasonable in their demands, but will give every cooperation to extend the Canyon road through Beaverton. The petition has been signed by practically everyone so far, and, although as yet somewhat embryonic, it gives every promise of being a unanimous request.

JUDGE MARRIES

FIRST COUPLE Judge Swenson, who was inaugurated as our city jurist last January, married his first couple in the Chambers on August 12 at 7:30 P. M. The contracting parties were both of Portland, namely, P. George O'Connor and Miss T. E. Mincielly, P. M. Madden, the judge's business associate, signed as witness.

ALASKA IS FISHERMAN'S PARADISE, SAYS EXPLORER

Water, water, everywhere—A million brooks bountifully stocked with trout and salmon. Such a fisherman's paradise, Arthur Young and Captain Jack Robertson found on their journey through Alaska, all of which are thrillingly pictured in "Alaskan Adventures," Friday and Saturday at the Beaver Springs found them on the island of Kodiak. It was the great time when the salmon in swirling millions seek the sources of the many streams to spawn and dip. Bears, after their long winter sleep, are hungry and the struggling fish fall an easy prey to these marauders. This is but one of the many interesting things which may be seen in the vivid picture of our northernmost possessions. Preceding this and immediately subsequent to the showing of "Our Gang" comedy, will be presented several local amateur artists in a musical revue with a program as follows: 1. Orchestra 2. Vocal Trio, "My Old Carolina Home" 3. Orchestra 4. Orchestra 5. Vocal solo 6. Orchestra 6. Special Presentation of an Indian scene with 150 dusky maidens, tepee and Indian ballad. They are all highly talented and the equal of many so-called professionals. All this without any additional cost of admission which we believe will surely attract a capacity house. This Revue will only be staged once—following the comedy at the first show. COME EARLY.

Hillsboro First to Initiate 'Dad Watson Movement'

We wish to call attention to an ad for "Dad" Watson appearing on the back page, near the bottom of the first two columns, calling attention to the all opening of the Hillsboro Dance Pavilion on Sept. 3, at which time "Dad" will feature a real old-time dance, with old-time music supported by old-time hospitality. At the same time we wish to comment the city of Hillsboro for sponsoring the movement, it being an effort toward a closer unity and a deeper confidence between father and son, mother and daughter, and a broader community spirit. The city of Hillsboro has signed "Dad" up for a year's engagement, following a thorough investigation of the so-called "Dad Watson movement," which is destined to sweep the country.

DOCTORS MOVE INTO THEIR NEW QUARTERS

R. S. Welsh, M. D., and J. R. Talbert, dentist, who have been occupying adjoining offices in the R. Rossi building, have moved into new quarters on the second floor of the west wing just recently completed. The arrangement of their new quarters is in accordance with plans as designed by the doctors themselves, and are complete in every appointment to the last detail, and contain many unique features of particular interest to their respective needs. Each room has two electric plugs and is supplied with both light and power meters, the operating rooms and laboratories being plumbed for both gas and compressed air, with the medicine chests and surgical cabinets built in so as to occupy the least possible space. Both doctors will occupy the same reception room, which is comfortably furnished with a wicker suite and a few odd chairs. Leading from the reception room is the private entrance to each office. As you enter Dr. Welsh's office proper you pass into the consulting room, which also opens into the hall, affording every privacy. Off from the consulting room is the operating room, leading through to the rest room and laboratory. A private passageway, in which are connected their phones, joins the two suites. Dr. Talbert has two operating rooms and a laboratory, equipped with the latest improved instruments for the execution of dental surgery, his operating unit, which he purchased for his new offices, being an ensemble known as a Ritter trident, or three in one—the cuspidor, instrument plate, and drill all being supported on a single base. What we noticed particularly aside from the offices and equipment was the wonderful view from Dr. Talbert's west operating room, being able to discern objects clearly as far west as Huber on the highway, and north to the Wilson road. The ventilating system in the laboratories is also rather unique, being so built as to admit the fresh air under the work benches, a system also designed by the doctors.

Bobbie's Barbecue Changes Hands

P. A. Hicks Disposes of Popular Novelty Eating House To B. W. Saunders

A deal was consummated on Tuesday whereby B. W. Saunders became the owner of Bobbie's Barbecue restaurant on Broadway, purchasing the same from P. A. Hicks, who founded and opened the establishment about a year ago. The new proprietor took possession Wednesday morning with Miss Dorothy Weisenbach, a young lady possessed of a delightful disposition and trained in public catering, in charge. Mr. Saunders contemplates many improvements and has changed the name to "Beaverton Barbecue," the name "Bobbie's" being the original owner's pet name for his better 'alf, and, naturally, more or less personal in the Hicks family. The Beaverton Barbecue is the only eating house of its kind between Bertha and Hillsboro, and since the day of opening, has enjoyed a thrifty business, a barbecue sandwich having a palatable seductiveness that ever leaves a longing inclination for more. Apart from the specialty and short order department they serve a regular full meal menu. Mr. Saunders, formerly of Oregon City, is among the recent arrivals in Beaverton, having purchased the King garage about six weeks ago, a name which he also changed to "Beaverton." He will continue to operate both establishments, the buildings being contiguous, but will give his personal attention to the garage. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, together with their head waitress, Miss Adeline (Peggy) Reiff, will leave in a few days for Salem, where they will establish a temporary residence. For several months Mr. Hicks will be on the road operating concessions at many of the county and state fairs throughout the Pacific northwest. They have made many friends in Beaverton since their all of whom will accompany them with their best wishes to their new home.

PARTY MAKES 1000-MILE MOTOR TRIP

Leonard Adams of the firm of Stipe and Bernard returned Monday from a two weeks' motor trip through many of Oregon's principal playgrounds. With him were his grandmother, Mrs. A. C. Adams of Bellingham; his aunt, Miss Ruth Zaiser, of Los Angeles; and Miss Celia Bernard of Portland. In all he drove approximately 100 miles. Since their return the two former ladies have been the guests of Leonard and his father, L. P. Adams, on Wednesday Mrs. Adams departed for her home, Miss Zaiser to remain a few days longer. While absent Leonard acquired a real out-of-doors complexion and in every way looks fit and ready for another year's battle with the everyday problems of business life.

PORTLAND BOYS RECEIVE INJURIES

Two Portland boys by the name of Claude Goodwin and Dewit Morgan were quite seriously injured Saturday night when they ran into a car parked on the highway just east of the Loop Service Station. They were brought back to town and given first aid treatment by Mrs. P. A. Hicks at the Barbecue. Dr. Welsh subsequently dressing their wounds, several stitches being required to close the wound in the Goodwin boy's head. Officer McMahon investigated the accident Monday, and we understand will prefer charges against the occupants of the parked car. Goodwin has a brother in Hillsboro. W. H. Hart, proprietor of a large chicken ranch out on route 3, shipped a fine crate of Rhode Island Red pullets to D. S. Hale at Seaside on Tuesday. Mr. Hart has an enviable reputation as a chicken raiser, being known both for his honesty and for his ability in developing egg laying strains in several of the popular breeds. He also operates a large commercial hatchery and ships baby chicks to destinations many miles from Beaverton. Mrs. John Summers entrained for Portland Tuesday morning on a return ticket.

FALL CAUSES VERY SERIOUS ACCIDENT

An accident that elicited profound sympathy among the people of Beaverton, and many outside friends, befell Mrs. N. G. Freeman last Thursday night. She had crossed Broadway from their home to the theatre, and as she stepped on the curb her foot slipped, throwing her forward into the theatre lobby, a distance of several feet, causing a fracture of the surgical neck of the femur, the joint entering the socket of the hip bone. This is not only a very painful, but a most serious break, necessitating the placing of the patient in a cast for at least three months. First aid was administered by Dr. Welsh. Friday morning Mrs. Freeman was taken in an ambulance to the Emanuel Hospital, Portland, where an X-Ray examination revealed the seriousness of the accident. Although resting as well as could be expected, she is still suffering great pain. Mr. Freeman spends considerable time at his wife's bedside, as does also Mrs. C. E. Allen, a close friend of the family.

BEAVERTON-TIGARD ROAD IMPROVED

Under the direction of the County Court the Beaverton-Tigard market road leading south from Watson street has been surfaced with a coating of oil and gravel, which is almost the equal of a paved highway. Speaking with Commissioner Livermore, we learned that the oil-gravel surface is somewhat of an experiment, but gives every indication of proving entirely satisfactory as a smoothing-off and mud-defying covering for rural roads. The only element of concern is the lasting qualities, which in every way seem to warrant the present expenditures. The elastic binder and gravel content making a veneer about an inch in depth, which should resist the general wear and tear of road travel for many years. A market road running south of Wiltch Hazel and north of Reedsville has been finished with the same coating. A coat of oil is first spread on the road, then left to soak for several weeks. The finishing oil is rather glutinous in consistency, and practically immune to atmospheric heat, remaining in form, yet pliable, under all ordinary conditions.

She will visit the Forest Grove and Hillsboro clubs in the morning. Mr. and Mrs. Sewall of Staycove avenue and Fred Turnstead are enjoying a visit to Diamond and Crater Lakes. They will visit in Bend on their way back. Word was received from the Gilmores that they were having a fine trip through Yellowstone Park, although they had encountered several electric storms. Mr. Cameron, Harley Taylor, and Rufie Santoro were out motoring about while making plans for a Literary Society picnic to be held August 28 at the Elser park on the Tualatin. The Hazelale members and friends are invited to be out on a wonderful time is anticipated for young and old. Don't forget! (More on back page.)

Club Installs New Drinking Fountains

One At Bank Corner Already On Duty; Other To Be Near 20th Century

The Booster club had workmen install the front street fountain at the bank corner on Tuesday, that all who pass may drink; and, needless to say, it soon became a watering place for thirsty pedestrians. Although street fountains are not uncommon, the installing of one in Beaverton was somewhat of an innovation and elicited considerable and favorable comment—thanks to the constructive activity of the Booster club. Another such fountain will be installed on Broadway at the east end of the 20th Century store. The Booster club is just what the name implies—an organization working for the general civic advancement of Beaverton, willing at all times to cooperate in or initiate, any worthy enterprise that will help to make our city a bigger and better place in which to live. It was originally organized as an auxiliary to the Chamber of Commerce to promote sentiment for and attend to the details of the building of the Beaverton float for the Rose Festival parade. So successful were the club's efforts in their initial endeavor that the members were prevailed upon to keep the organization intact, which they consented to do. However, it is simply a public unit in our civic life and can only live so long as shown and supported by public spirit. Its membership is open to all, and the Review would like to see many more co-ordinate themselves with its activities. The next regular meeting will be held on the evening of Tuesday, August 30. Watch for further announcements next week.

NEW STORE ENJOYS GOOD PATRONAGE

E. L. Jackson, manager of unit No. 26 of the Thrift Grocers, which opened in this city last Saturday, reports a very satisfactory business to date, the patronage on their initial day far exceeding all expectations. As previously reported in this paper, the Thrift Store is located in the Boyd building in the space recently vacated by the Little Brown Jug confectionery. Mr. Jackson is a married man and will reside with his family in one of the Welter houses on Fair street east of Lombard. The store is conspicuously designated with a very attractive electrically illuminated sign extending out over the sidewalk. Prominent on the sign is their emblem—an arrow piercing the center of a bull's-eye. Mr. Jackson was assisted at the opening by R. E. Carnine, district superintendent.

SCHOOL DISTRICT MAY ENLARGE BUILDING

Barnes school district No. 57, northwest of Beaverton, is considering a proposal to call a special school election in the near future to consider plans to increase the present one-room school to a two-room structure. Members of the board contend that one teacher will not be able to take care of the overcrowded condition this fall, and that one teacher could not possibly give a pupil much individual attention. Barnes is one of the rapidly growing communities just a short distance from Beaverton. Mrs. Emma Bryant, county school superintendent, points out that this is a part of the tendency throughout the Tualatin valley to convert the 80-odd one room structures into two room buildings. A more highly trained teacher is then able to take each group. Contractor Verne Domogilla has been awarded the job of installing the water system for the new Riverside golf course at Portland. When finished the job will aggregate about 20,000 lineal feet of pipe, sunk below the front line, besides necessary standpipes and club house plumbing. Work was started on Monday morning. On Sunday, Mr. Domogilla, together with his family, and parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Doering, motored to Salem and spent the day with his parents, each family driving their own car.
