Meeting To Be Held To Discuss Cannery

Local Growers Will Consider Project To Provide Market For Surplus Produce

A meeting of fruit and vegetable growers will be held Wednesday, Jan. 4th, at 7:30 p. m. at the Odd Fellows hall for the purpose of discussing a better method of marketing farm products. The principal discussion will center around the probable building of a cannery. However, the proposition of a pickling plant or a fruit depot may also be taken up. The community as a whole feels the need of some sort of an industry that will give a payroll. It is the hope of the Cannery club that a large audience be present to give it every support. Several outside speakers will be present. Come and help make the meeting a success. Ray Glatt, secretary of the Woodburn Fruit Growers' association, one of the most successful in Oregon, has not yet been heard from. (Later advices as to the effect of this meeting may be postponed until the week following.)

HOLIDAY SAINT APPEARS AT COOPER MT. PROGRAM

A Christmas wand drill by twelve girls was especially spectacular, and was the feature of the program. Other numbers included songs, readings, and dialogues. Thirty-eight of the students of the school took part in the program, and each one did his best, thereby contributing to the success of the whole affair. Miss Millie Jacobsen was accompanist.

New Year Comes

By William Frederick Bigelow

A NEW YEAR is in the harbor, bringing the desires of our hearts. It comes laden with every good thing we have wished for—peace and prosperity, good-will and happiness, labor and the desire to labor. Our share of all these things is in the hold; we have only to claim it.

And pay the duty. Because the year—this year or any other—is not a bringer of free gifts, of largesse unsought.

There is toil.
There is striving.
There is being unafraid.

WITHOUT these we need not go down to the harbor, for we shall only come away with empty hands. Some one with a fuller heart will get our share. But if we are willing to pay—

If we shun deceit,
If we abhor trickiness,
If we keep our own hands clean,
If we hold fast to that which is good,
we shall watch the year depart, knowing it carries with it nothing of ours—nothing that we have missed. Instead we shall have laid up riches—against an uncertain future.

UNCERTAIN unless we are very careful now. Two things we must work out this year: Peace, with honor, abroad; honor, with peace, at home. The first is facing us now, the second on next election day.

It's a tricky year; it's a precious year. Which, depends on us. But there is no need to worry—

There is courage.
There is faith.
There is God.
Happy New Year—

CITIZENS HOPE TO WIN HIGHWAY THRU TOWN

Some of the prominent citizens on Broadway met by arrangement with the chairman of the State Highway commission, Mr. Van Duzen, Thursday, and report considerable progress toward getting the Highway through Beaverton on Broadway.

The chairman of the commission stated that $5,000.00 had been awarded by the County court of Washington county to help pay right-of-way expenses through town. This money would be available whether it went on Broadway or on the route a little north of Broadway.

It has been reported that some of the citizens on Broadway have been circulating a remonstrance against the paving project which was instituted at the last meeting of the Beaverton Councilmen. We haven't heard whether any signatures were on the petition or not.

It is only natural that property owners along the route of the present Highway would want traffic to continue by their places. It is also natural that the Highway should seek the route best adapted for all the people who are to travel. As the proposition stands now it would look as though a considerable number of people would be deprived of benefits received from the traffic passing their place should this Highway be routed over any other location. Of course, there are those owning property who would gain frontage on the Highway, and also probably those who would like to see a street put through their property, so that they would have whatever benefits come from the traffic passing their property.

In times past when the residents of Beaverton wanted a street improved, the abutting property was assessed to pay for the improvement. This, of course, does not hold true for the 16-foot pavement the State Highway laid some years ago, but at the same time, those people whose property was passed by the 16-foot pavement also laid additional pavement to widen and improve the street.

So far as the Review is concerned, it receives very little benefit from the people who travel the Highway, directly, but indirectly it receives support and benefit from those who benefit by the people driving on the Highway to a greater or less extent. Of course there are businesses located on the Highway who do not advertise and in no way contribute to the support of the town's newspaper. However, even those we would hate to see injured in any way from any cause. If the relocating of the Highway is going to injure them, then the Highway should not be relocated, and Beaverton should stand as a unit to protect the interests of all her citizens.

Mrs. Daisy Hocken and children of Corvallis are spending the holidays at her sister's, Miss Merle Davies.

Mr. W. H. Sidmore of the Steel Tank and Pipe company of Portland, who has been in Longview constructing steel tanks for the new paper mills, has returned to his home.

Mrs. and Mrs. I. L. Morelock, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilmot, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Brown and son, Elwood, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Miller attended a family dinner given on Sunday at the home of Mrs. A. J. Fanna of Portland.

Former Beaverton Girl Passes Away

Mrs. Edith Barnes Clark Dies
Sunday in Los Angeles
As Result of Burns

Edith Barnes Clark was born north of Beaverton. She lived there until she was eight years old, when with her parents she moved to Beaverton, where her parents still reside. She attended public school and the Congregational church in Beaverton.

She worked for some time in Portland, where she met and married Mr. Roy Clark. About two years ago they moved to Los Angeles, Calif., where she was residing at the time of her death, which was the result of severe burns received when her clothing caught fire from a gas flame. Her mother went to Los Angeles and was with her when death came.

The funeral was held in the Congregational church Thursday afternoon, Mr. Pegg in charge. She was buried in Crescent Grove cemetery.

Besides the immediate family, she leaves to mourn her loss a host of friends, and more distant relatives.

COMMUNITY DINNER AT KINTON WELL ATTENDED

Kinton, Ore., Dec. 29 (Special).—Those who were at the church Sunday and partook of the community dinner expressed themselves as well pleased and glad they attended. A chicken dinner with all the fixings, old fashioned plum pudding, cakes, pies, etc., made up the Christmas dinner. A Christmas sermon by the pastor, Rev. W. L. Strange, was much enjoyed. A box full of many useful articles was presented the pastor and his wife.

During the day there was an election of officers for the church and Bible school. August Dallmann was elected as one of the trustees, the others being E. I. Cox, and Mrs. F. A. Bucher. The officers for the Bible school for the ensuing year are as follows: Superintendent, S. H. Pomeroy; assistant superintendent, E. L. Cox; secretary, Mrs. E. L. Cox; treasurer, Mrs. Floyd Bierly; organist, Miss Grace McCormick; superintendent of the Cradle Roll, Mrs. C. W. Young; librarians, Leo Young and Ivan Bierly. The new officers will have charge of the school next Sunday.

Commence the New Year right by attending next Sunday.
