Old Established Firm May Locate Cannery Here If Assured Of Products

The program prepared by the secretary, with the assistance of F. J. Dietsch, for the Chamber of Commerce, was delivered to about 40 people at the Odd Fellows' hall Tuesday evening, when the Chamber held its regular meeting.

The Bethel Male quartet rendered two very pleasing numbers, ably assisted by Mrs. R. C. Doty at the piano.

The matter of a constitution and by-laws for the Chamber was taken up. President Pinder stated that previous by-laws had been lost, or possibly had never been turned into the Chamber by the first secretary, D. U. Cochran. W. G. Ide, manager of the land settlement department of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, offered to supply copies of by-laws, from which, probably, Beaverton will adopt some as models.

Mr. Pinder, who automatically took the presidency when E. W. Woddruff resigned, was formally elected president, unanimously, and Frank Dietsch was elected vice-president.

During the main part of the program, Mr. Dietsch presided, because he had the details of the program more fully in hand. The first speaker was W. G. Ide, of the land settlement division of the State Chamber. He spoke for only a few minutes. Mr. Ide is a resident of this section, having comparatively recently moved out onto an acreage tract or farm between here and Orenco.

B. C. Byam, the manager of the industries department of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, then spoke, followed by an address by G. W. Thieszen, manager of the recently-formed Clackamas County Fruit Growers' association, who told something of the organizing of his association, and spoke highly commending the work of R. H. Kipp, the principal speaker of the evening.

Mr. Kipp stated that Reid-Murdock and company of Chicago, an old, established, and one of the largest packing-houses in the country, had written the Portland Chamber that they, this company, would, in the near future, build three canneries on the Pacific coast. They are coming to the Pacific coast because no where else can they find the quality of fruit that is grown here.

Another feature, taken into consideration by this company was that freight rates from Portland were 8 cents per 100 pounds cheaper to New York City than they were from Chicago, owing to the Panama Canal, and the ability of the cannery to ship their products by water.

He mentioned that eastern Washington county seemed to present a very good location for one of the canneries, and if a survey would be made and the required data secured which would show that this section of the country was producing the amount of produce suitable for canning that this company would require, they would probably locate one of their canneries not far from Portland, and in this direction. He hopes that a survey would be made, of the ability of this lower Tualatin valley to produce the fruit and produce. He closed his speech with an appeal for haste in the making of this survey, as he has to make his report, with recommendations as to the location of the cannery, to representatives of the Reid-Murdock company by the 20th of January.

The Chamber organized a committee, and the machinery was put in motion to get the necessary information before a meeting that was called, to be held in the Odd Fellows' hall, Wednesday, Jan. 18, at 1:30 p. m., when it is hoped to get a representative body of the growers of this section together. As a consequence, 3000 copies of a questionnaire are being distributed to the residents of this vicinity, and it is hoped that a large number of these will be filled out and returned promptly, so that the work of compiling the data can be completed before this meeting.

If you are a fruit grower, kindly report to the Chamber of Commerce, on a questionnaire, or in some way, the number of acres of fruit—raspberries, cherries, etc.—which you have, together with any produce, such as pumpkins, horseradish, cucumbers, corn, or any product that can be named.

This is not a co-operative concern nor a stock selling scheme, as the Reid-Murdock company is fully capable of financing any un-
