First Cooking Class Slated For Tuesday

Opening Session of Third Annual Culinary School To Be Held May 8

NEW DISHES TO BE DISCUSSED

Instructor, Rose Bartlett, Plans
Interesting Cookery Course

The first class of the third annual free cooking school, sponsored by the Beaverton Review will meet at 2:30 p. m., Tuesday, May 8th at Beaverton high school. Mrs. Rose Bartlett, who has been secured to conduct the classes again this year, will be present to welcome the housewives of Beaverton and instruct them in the finer points of all things culinary. Many Beaverton ladies remember the good times enjoyed at the two former Review Cooking School sessions as well as the valuable information received, and are planning to be present at the opening class next Tuesday for the dual purpose of renewing acquaintances with Mrs. Bartlett, and to receive further guidance along the fascinating pathway of expert cookery methods.

The other three days of classes will be held on Thursday, May 10, Tuesday, May 15 and Thursday, May 17. During these sessions such tasty subjects as luncheon loaf, tea rolls, prune nut bread, and cheese fondue will be taken up by the instructor and thoroughly explained to the ladies present, and at the same time there will be going forward the actual preparation of the dishes under discussion, and the "pupils" will have the opportunity of seeing the cookery work conducted by Mrs. Bartlett, assisted by her efficient aids, and later generous samples of the finished product will be offered, in order that the "proof of the pudding" test recommended in the old axiom may be used as the final mode of judgment.

Mrs. Bartlett announces that Beaverton ladies who sometimes secretly engage in wishful dreams of what they would like in the way of kitchen appointments when they think of long-imagined ideal homes should plan to attend the school, if for no other purpose than to get new ideas on the subject of kitchen equipment. Mrs. Bartlett, herself a stickler for having things just right in woman's most important domestic headquarters, has been busily supervising arrangements for installing the school here.

Chief among the appointments is the big gray Smoothtop range that will be used. Altho, quite experienced in the matter of using a Smoothtop, the instructor has lost none of the proud joy that was hers when she first started cooking with one. On the subject of a Smoothtop Mrs. Bartlett waxes eloquent and is enthusiastic in her praise. She declares that she can never quite decide whether she is more attracted by the fact that when using a Smoothtop or that a kitchen is such a graceless and soot-less place with one installed.

Beaverton Swamps Brickyard Tossers

Local Nine Chalks Up Season's First Victory In Game Sunday

BEAVERS PLAY BIG TIME BALL

Six Corner Aggregation Gets Short End Of 25 To 6 Score

The ball game Sunday was won by the Beaverton squad to the tune of 25-6.

Beaverton was slightly handicapped by the lack of their regular pitchers. Mark Jones was at Seaside where he had planned to go some time ago and Emmons, who was eligible to play for the first time Sunday had an engagement elsewhere so that it looked rather bad for the locals.

After casting about for a time Coach Zehr decided to put Rutz into the box, having "Snootz" Halsten, "Bugs" Barron, Bill McCallen and two or three others who, in a pinch might be able to get the ball across for a strike-out a time or two during an inning.

But Rutz, who was only signed up two weeks ago proved equal to the occasion and was able to hold the Red Sox to six hits in nine innings was kept in till the end.

The team work of the locals is improving swiftly and from now on there will be something to offer at the end of the game besides an alibi.

With Davies on first, McBreen at second, Churchley at short and old "Buz" Barron at third, the infield will give an account of itself against the strongest teams in the Tualatin Valley Baseball league.

Then there are Emmons and Jones in the box, a pair that can be relied upon to get the ball across when they want to. The record Jones has already made is an indication of what can be expected from him. Emmons is said to be one of the artists that can place the ball just where he wants to. Then at the receiving end is Ferdie Schmidt. One who knows ball has only to see "Smitty" in a game once to know that he is one of those natural players, a fellow who knows what to do and can do it without "throwing the ball away." Then for the outfield there are Kelley, Rutz, McLean, Snootz, Barnes, McCallen, Hoffman and Barry. You all know Barry, another of those natural players.

The "Red Sox" are a mighty fine bunch of boys who have had little experience on the diamond, with a little more practice will be able to rattle up a better game when they settle down and play.

Church Sisterhood Gives Farewell To Mrs. Jenne

The ladies of the Sisterhood of the Church of Christ gave a farewell surprise farewell for Mrs. Herman Jenne, who is moving to Portland in the near future to make her home, on Tuesday afternoon, May 1, in the church parlors.

After a period of social good time, a lovely luncheon was served the twenty-three ladies present. Following the luncheon, Mrs. Eli Kingston, president of the Sisterhood, presented to Mrs. Jenne in behalf of the ladies a beautiful pair of hand-embroidered pillow cases and a lovely bouquet. She also received other charming gifts.

Saints Nine Takes Game From Cathlamet High

St. Mary's May 2, 1928 (Special) The St. Mary's baseball team added another early to their belt Friday, April 27, when they journeyed to Cathlamet high school and took a speedy game from the tossers there by a score of 13-2.

The Saints displayed mid-season form in the contest and had but small trouble in taking the game from their down-river opponents.

W. Woodard, on the mound for St. Mary's fanned 16 Cathlamet batsmen, and was strongly supported all through the fracas by the snappy infield work of his teammates.

Former Local Girl Pays Visit Here Via Air Route

Mrs. R. M. Miller had the novel experience of being a hostess over the week-end to guests who employed the progressive mode of air-taxi service in traveling to her home.

Miss Mona Miller, who formerly was employed in the Studio Pearty Parlor, and Miss Elvina Roe, both of Seattle, arrived Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Miller and on Sunday evening departed for their homes in Washington, making both the trip and the return as passengers of the newly-established West Coast Air Service, operating from Portland to Seattle.

Cedar Mill Folks Plan Benefit Basket Social

Cedar Mill, May 2, 1928. (Spec.) The patrons of Cedar Mill school are planning a box social and program to be held Saturday evening, May 12, at the school house here.

Proceeds from the function will go to swell the coffers of the school-building fund.

The Grange feature, the mock-wedding, that proved so entertaining when presented last week by that organization has been secured as an added feature of interest to augment the box-social program, also.

Importance Seen In Local Bloom Raising

Flower Growing Industry May Add To Fame Of Tualatin Valley

REVIEW GETS FINE BLOOMS

Gardeners Exhibit Prize Specimens Grown In This Vicinity

With the coming of another blossom-time in Beaverton, both the amateur and commercial flower-growers of the vicinity are proudly displaying choice blooms plucked from gardens that each year yield up more beautiful and striking offerings of the local flora. It is significant that every year Beaverton flower growers succeed in producing blooms superior to those of previous seasons, and that more interest is being taken in their cultivation. Those with an eye for the future in such matters declare that the natural facilities for flower raising that the vicinity possesses, coupled with the increasing enthusiasm in this project undoubtedly means that the day when Beaverton will be far-famed for her blooms and flower-beds is rapidly approaching.

In the past week the Review office has been the recipient of a number of unusually striking bouquets and blossoms that were propagated in the fertile soil of Tualatin Valley—flowers that would easily win distinction for the beauty, color and size in competitive showing with any others that surrounding regions might have to offer. Chief among these were the exhibits of G. W. Baker and son, and T. J. Allen.

A display of six matched tulips, all perfect in shape and gathered with an eye to pleasing contrast, were brought to us early in the week by the senior member of the firm of G. W. Baker and Son, commercial gardeners, with plots located in Sorrento at the edge of Beaverton. The tulips, while being marvelous in the matter of blooms, were supported on sturdy stems that measured more than 20 inches in length.

A pair of delicately shaded carnations were given a place of honor in the editorial sanctum Wednesday when T. J. Allen offered them for approval. The flowers were exceptional in size and the brush of Mother Nature had been deftly and masterfully applied. One carnation was a masterpiece in pastel pink shading, while the other boasted solid scarlet hue. Mr. Allen has been an enthusiastic flower fancier for a number of years and has engaged in amateur growing of various blossoms for many years.

At the several fairs and flower shows held the past year Beaverton gardeners and their immediate neighbors from other communities have carried off a large share of ribbons and prizes. While our sister-city to the west, Forest Grove has recognized the possibilities that are offered by advertising the growing of blossoms, and now identifies itself as "Daffodil Town," and the metropolis, Portland, has won world-wide fame by the slogan,

Rebekahs' Hubbies Give Surprise Feed Tuesday

The feminine portion of the local Rebekah lodge were pleasantly and completely surprised by their husbands and friends Tuesday evening by a well-appointed and faultlessly served dinner, following the regular lodge meeting Tuesday evening in the lodge hall here.

After the business meeting the ladies were busily practicing their drill work, while the gentlemen secretly completed the final touches on the supper, and when the fair members discovered that the doors to the dining room were locked the curiosity with which all members of that gender are said to be possessed prompted an investigation—an investigation that revealed a sumptuous repast prepared by the men and all ready to be enjoyed.

The tables were decorated with pink and green crepe paper and jaunty caps of the same material. A delightful supper of chicken pie, ice-cream and two gigantic cakes, also decorated in the prevailing motif of pink and green was heartily enjoyed by the members.

Following the repast a program of readings by Walter Harris, Ira Lee and Harley Taylor, and a solo by Fred Strickland, accompanying himself on the banjo was presented.

Mrs. Lew'n. Noble Grand of the order, thanked the gentlemen on behalf of the ladies, and Mrs. Allen who recently returned from California, where she has been spending the winter months gave a very enjoyable talk on her trip.

Following the program an impromptu dancing was enjoyed.

St. Mary's Thespians To Give "Pair of Sixes"

St. Mary's H. S. May 2. (Spec.) On Sunday afternoon, May 6, St. Mary's high school will present to the public their annual play. It will start on 2:30 p. m. and will be held in the high school auditorium.

The play management declares that the production promises to be good and it will pay everyone to come and see it.

The theme is of two pill-barons who are entirely incompatible and the strange bargain, based on a hand of cards, that they make furnishes a gripping and at times hilarious plot to keep the audience entertained.

A special feature of the program will be music furnished by the St. Mary's school band.

Fruit Growers To Hold Regular Meeting Monday

The Tualatin Valley Growers organization will hold their regular monthly meeting on Monday evening, May 7, at the Beaverton Realty company's office. At this session they plan to formulate their permanent organization and are making preparations with that in view.

Secretary Deitch announces that he is arranging a very interesting evening for the growers and it is expected that the coming convocation of the fruit raisers will be one of the most profitable and interesting of any in the history of the organization.

County Federation Of Club Women Meets

Organization Has All-Day Session At Gales Creek Friday, April 27

NEXT MEETING TO BE IN JULY

Unanimous Vote Cast For All Officers At Election Hour

Washington county Federation of Women's Clubs met in all-day session Friday, April 27, at Gales Creek, the guests of Gales Creek and Watts Women's Clubs. The newly erected club house was the scene of the meeting.

Mrs. W. Roberts, Forest Grove, president, called the body to order and the usual preliminary business of minutes, reports and roll call were duly discharged. The song, "Binding Ties," written by Mrs. Agnes Hines was adopted as the official club song, and the members joined in the singing of their new refrain.

Reports were read from the following auxiliary organizations of Club Federation: Cornelius, Forest Grove, Gaston, Watts, Hillsboro, Service, Coffee, and General Relief clubs, Hillside, Huber, Hiteon, Gales Creek, Liceyville, Metzger, Sherwood, Schools, Hillsboro Needlecraft and the Forest Grove W. C. T. U., all evidencing the activities of the women's organizations in those communities.

During luncheon hour adjournment, Mrs. Emma Bryant, County School Superintendent, Harry Seymour, State Club Leader, and Mrs. Wells, of Hillsboro, a candidate for the State Legislature, addressed the members.

The Federation announces that they wish it thoroughly understood that they are not political in nature, but they state that they, as progressive women of the county, are naturally interested in the subject and want to support those of the membership who are giving of their time and efforts in making the government what it should be.

Included among the business of the day was the subject of redoubs and the question of their crucifix, which was discussed and tabled, a motion to continue the cover charge of ten cents for luncheon at the meet was passed, and an expression of thanks by means of a rising vote, tendered to the hostesses by their hospitality.

Violin and piano duets by Mrs. Polly Marshall and Mrs. Irene Marshall, a picture demonstration and talk, by Mrs. Clara Smith, art chairman, and a talk on the Oregon Club Women's Magazine by the business manager, Mrs. Lynch, were outstanding features of the program enjoyed during the course of the session by the Federation members.

In the election of officers, unanimous ballots were cast for Mrs. W. Roberts, for re-election to the presidency; Mrs. Robert Warren, Watts, vice-president; Mrs. J. Person, of Hillsboro, secretary; Mrs. Griffith, of Gaston, treasurer. Mrs. C. Christensen, Hiteon, Mrs. Batchelder, Hillsboro, and Mrs. Robert Chamberlain, Huber were elected as directors for the coming term.

The next Federation meeting will be held in July.

Turkey With Four Legs And Odd Beak Hatched

A. W. Marshall, proprietor of the Green Clover barbecue in west Beaverton, brought to the Review office a freak specimen from a recent hatching of turkeys last Tuesday morning.

The bird had four legs, two pointing to the fore and the other pair inclining to the aft. The beak, also, resembled something seen only in horrible dreams or in some fantastic futuristic painting, with two plainly discernible tusks where nothing of the sort is to be found on respectable poultry. The strain of so much superfluous equipment was evidently too much for the bird and its life in this vale of tears was short.

Mr. Marshall reports that the odd fowl was hatched from a setting of eggs owned by his mother-in-law, Mrs. J. H. Lee, of Seapoose, Oregon.

Cedar Mill Man Thrown Thru Truck Windshield

Cedar Mill, May 2, 1928 (Special) Mr. George Kenny was badly cut about the face Friday April 27, when he was thrown through the windshield of a truck, driven by Ernest Wutrick in which he was riding.

A plank, used to cover a recently repaired stretch of road, flew up when the truck struck it, firmly binding the wheels and stopping the truck.
