School Meeting To Elect Director, Clerk

Educating The Youth Of The Land One Of The Nation's Big Jobs

WILL MEET MONDAY

The Reputation Of The Beaverton Schools Unexcelled In County

The greatest business in the world anywhere and at any time is the business of educating and training the young.

Just as the household centers about its children in all its hopes and plans, just as for them the father works and the mother sacrifices, so in the case of the nation everything should turn about the improvement of the young people.

On them and on their fitness rests the future safety of the nation more than on any plans or schemes or institutions which their fathers may set in motion.

Always the character of the people has more to do with the success of a nation than the institutions or customs it may have, or the defense which it may possess.

What we spend money for in the best sign of what we desire most, A Britisher, the other day, gave $500,000 to his Government to be applied towards the English debt. This was an unparalleled act of patriotism. Men will give their lives for their country, but few are willing to give money.

So we grate and write and grow enthusiastic over our public schools. But the test of our appreciation of them comes best by coming out and helping when there is something to do for the schools.

Monday night of next week is the annual school meeting, when some of those who are to have the direction of the affairs of the school are to be elected. Beaverton has been indeed fortunate in having had such capable men to guide and direct the school system here that our schools are known for miles around us as of the very best. It is true that they cost money, but there are few things really worth while which do not cost money.

But the real test of whether a community wants the best of schools is in whether its citizens are willing to give of their time and energy to place and keep their school at the crest of the wave.

A director will be elected at the meeting Monday evening to succeed Mr. Day Gray. Whether Mr. Gray will consent to again be a candidate is not known definitely but there is every assurance that there will be others who are willing to step in if he does "not choose to run."

There is also a clerk to be elected to succeed Mr. Kamberger whose term of office expires.

Leedy Grange Nets Neat Sum From Their Dances

Cedar Mill June 11 (Special) The regular monthly dance sponsored by Leedy Grange held Saturday, was well attended, considering the condition of the amusement park and the sickness throughout the country. This was the last dance of the season and the Grange wished to thank one and all, each and every one of those who helped towards the new hall which will probably be begun in the near future.

The H. E. C. committee has been able to turn in more than $200.00 in to the treasury since the first of January, 1928 because of the large crowds attending these dances. They hope to see all back again next season when the dances start again.

Attorney Allen Gives Advice To City Dads

Clean-Up Day Date Set For Tuesday Of Next Week, June 19

RAYNARD IN CHARGE

Mr. Adams Awarded The Job of Grading And Laying Of Tile

Attorney Allen was at the adjourned meeting of the Town Council which convened at the City Hall Monday evening. He had not been able to get to some of the previous meetings and the City Fathers had had numerous interrogations that they wished to have his opinion upon.

The contract submitted by Mr. E. Stipe at the regular monthly meeting held last week was submitted to Mr. Allen but he asked to take it under advisement.

Mayor Erickson pressed the matter of the old starch factory being a fire hazard and menace to property surrounding the place. Several interesting statements were made by the members of the Council and by Mr. C. E. Hedge who was present. Had one been able to get a stenographic report of the conversation concerning that building, he would be in possession of a considerable part of the past history of the industrial development of our fair City. Lacking this report, it seems impracticable to attempt any lengthy statement in regard to the matter. It may be said in passing that the Town of Beaverton either vacated a part of the street or leased it to the operators of the mill which once stood on the site. A statement was made that the property could be purchased for the taxes and street assessments due but no one seemed in possession of information as to just who had title to that property.

Mr. Allen was of the opinion that in order to get anything done to put the place in better condition would have to be done through those who hold the nominal title. The letting of the grading and laying of the tile along Lombard St. was about the first thing that came up and Mr. Dan Adams being the lower of the two bids submitted, the Council voted to award him with the job.

The Mayor and Recorder were both in possession of letters from the Public Service Commission stating that they would be here in Beaverton and hold a meeting regarding "an overhead crossing" on June 28.

Someone suggested that Mr. Fordney was willing that all cans and other rubbish might be thrown in the old ditch that has been now diverted straight down Short St. Councilman Raynard was elected a committee to make arrangements to have all refuse hauled and dumped into said ditch. It is expected that he will have a truck go around to residences and collect all that is in readiness to be packed away. The City is to pay the driver of the truck. Probably next Tuesday will be designated as CLEAN UP DAY.

Beaverton's Float Wins Third Prize In Division

The ladies' of the Booster Club have been busy the last few days getting Beaverton's float ready for the Portland Rose Festival. Men have been hurrying hither and yon getting the material together that the ladies' have been weaving in, to a thing of beauty.

The design represents a horn of plenty arranged with flowers pouring out into fields spread out wide and flat, beautiful and pleasing to the eye. The flowers coming out of the cornucopia were represented by young ladies dressed to represent panics. The head gear representing petals were of different colors. Almost everyone in Beaverton was out to see the float department. Numbers of machines escorted the big spectacle as it moved slowly along the pavement. State Traffic Officer McMahon preceded the float to make sure that the way was cleared.

In the parade the float was erected by a down pour of rain. Many were the uncomfortable ones who were parading to show the glories and advantages of the place from which they hailed.

Beaverton's float received the third prize in its division.

The greatest sermons are yet to be preached; you can preach them. We are staggered when we think of the discoveries which adventurous science has made during the lifetime of one young man. Yet Vena Gaskill, the greatest discoveries are still to be made; you can make them." This was the theme of the graduation address by Dr. Jesse T.
