A hypocrite is one who pretends to believe you when he knows you are lying.

Sassick persons seldom need advice as to what they should do. They just naturally do it.

Well, one more couldn't do much harm. Why not have a "Mind Your Own Business Week?"

California wants to annex Nevada, but that would simply ruin Reno's leading industry.

"When the roll is called up yonder" the size of a man's roll will not count for so much.

It's strange how much the world's statesmen are thinking about "unthinkable" wars.

We know what the new Ford looks like but have hardly had time to judge its tonal qualities.

A doctor gets paid according to his knowledge of the patient's physical and financial condition.

Samson was one of the earliest big advertisers, and got amazing results by using two columns.

Being old-fashioned, we still feel that a girl should not propose to a man, except as a last resource.

A press agent says of a lecturer that he never visits the same place twice. Maybe he doesn't dare to.

The octopus squirts a cloud of black ink at its enemies. Quite similar to some of our human ink-slingers.

New York specialist says a woman's refusal to talk is a sign of insanity. Fortunately, such cases are rare.

Anyway the new freedom for youth requires less prevarication than was necessary to establish the old-time alibi.

Apropos of attractive and artistic alliteration, we note that a Mississippi editor refers to certain "purveyors of putrid prejudicial political potpourri."

Oklahoma farmers are being instructed in a "meat short course." Some boarding-house keepers appear to have graduated from a short meat course.

A Congressional committee is trying to amplify taxing methods. When they get that worked out they might try simplifying methods for getting the money to pay the tax.

Quite a lot of people have rushed into print to deplore the publicity recently given to a "companionate marriage" at Girard, Kansas. Thus giving it more publicity.

BEAUTY A TOWN ASSET
In spite of the apparent commercialism of the age in which we live, it is evident to any observer that the American people are rapidly developing a greater appreciation of the wealthier classes, but extends to the great masses in the towns and villages in the rural districts.

Towns are being laid out with wider streets, with provision for larger lawns, more trees, shrubbery and flowers and a more attractive setting generally.

Recently built houses show better architecture and greater harmony with their surroundings, while unrightly yard fences have largely disappeared. The net result of all these modern developments is beauty. And aside from the satisfaction which it affords the eye, it pays in dollars and cents.

Beautiful cities, towns and villages attract people. They attract permanent residents, they attract tourists, and they attract trade. It is natural that a person selecting a trading center will choose a town that is beautiful and clean in preference to one that is unsightly and dirty, if other conditions are anywhere near equal.

NEWS 200 YEARS AGO
In connection with the 200th anniversary of the Maryland Gazette which was celebrated at Annapolis a few weeks ago, some early copies of that newspaper were exhibited.

The news and advertisements of that day were naturally different from what is found in current newspapers, as they reflected the customs and beliefs of their time.

One of the stories from Vienna told of the burning of several persons convicted of witchcraft, among them a "midwife who had baptised 2,000 children in the name of the devil." A local item related the experience of a negro slave who struck a white man in an argument over a dog fight. The negro was sentenced to have one of his ears cut off "pursuant to the law in such cases."

Among the advertisements was one announcing the arrival of a cargo of "about 200 choice slaves, which will be exposed for sale on Thursday the 22nd of this instant."

In its issue of October 21, 1762, the Maryland Gazette published the news of the birth of a son to the British king and queen, which had occurred on August 12. The story bore the headlines: "Great Joy to the Nation! A Prince of Wales is Born. God Save the King." This was the dissolute and notorious character who afterwards became George IV.

The Maryland Gazette was frequently suspended for varying periods, but is still published and is credited by the Librarian of Congress with being "the dean of present-day American newspapers."

ABOUT WOMEN
Miss Marja J. Gomolska, owner of two Polish newspapers, one in Utica and the other in Syracuse, N. Y. is thought to be the only woman publisher of a foreign language newspaper in the United States.

Miss Harriet Reed has been appointed arbiter of the industrial board of Illinois at a salary of $5,000 a year.

Miss Mildred Parisette of Texas and Miss Margaret Berg-n of New Jersey are two young American singers to make their debut with the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York this season.

Women who enter the ministry of the German Evangelical Church are not permitted to marry.

Miss Anne Case is attending evening classes in a London public school at the age of 75. She speaks four foreign languages, German, French, Spanish and Italian.

Miss Iyo Araki, a Tokio nurse who proved herself a heroine in the great Japanese earthquake, is in this country to study American nursing methods.

Twenty new electric locomotives in England were recently named for celebrities, one being called the Florence Nightingale in honor of the famous nurse of the Crimean War.

Athletes Honored With Banquet

May 23 was officially announced as the date for the annual athletic banquet. The word "athletic" includes all who, during the past scholastic year, participated in any athletic endeavor as members of the varsity.

Approximately fifty youths partook of the spread, including football stars, stellar basketballers, trackmen and baseball heroes. All types of athletes, big and small, ponderous and speedy, light and heavy were amply represented.

From these fifty youths St. Mary's picks her teams to uphold her honor on the field of competition.

Immediately following the repast, the fine and delicate art of after-dinner speaking was practiced by several potential talkers, at the request, of course, of the presiding toastmaster, Rev. Father Heesak-

er. Too many stars, would-be speakers, spoke, so it would be too lengthy and tedious to mention them, much less quote them, but perhaps the most enjoyed speech of the evening was that of Phosae Robinson, brother of Prof. Robinson, and a partaker of St. Mary's hospitality. It was not so much
