Season's Athletic Record Good

The football squad from the past season has set a very high standard that is hard for another team to overcome. After having played ten games they could boast of eight games won, one tied, and one lost, stacking up 184 points to the opposition's 31.

In basketball not only was last season's team well known for its ability in caging baskets but it was also heard of whenever it was one of its twelve games played. Ten of these were won and two dropped to

Coaches Rockne and Schissler Go East to Give Courses in Nebraska

Just Talking Over Prospects.

Coach Knute K. Rockne (left), head coach of Notre Dame, and Paul J. Schissler, head football and track coach at Oregon State Agricultural college, have completed their fourth annual two-weeks coaching school at the college and have gone to Hastings, Nebraska, where they will hold a similar coaching school. This will be the final one of the season before Rockne sails with a special party to attend the Olympic games. A hundred of the leading college and high school coaches of the west were at Corvallis during the first two weeks of the summer session taking the work in football under Rockne and Schissler and in basketball under Coach "Doc" Hager.

opponents whom we beat later in the season.

The baseball team for the past year has been fairly successful winning to date 9 games and losing 3.

The schedule for the past season shows that they have scored on an average nine runs per game.

The team has piled up 90 runs against their competitors.

Track is a new sport here, but despite our ignorance of it, we noted out Hill Military in a triangular affair on our field, May 10.

AFTER SCHOOL WHAT?

Most of us have a very real and difficult problem to face when we are asked the above question. The lucky ones have foreseen this day and already have made their decision as to whether it be the profession of a doctor, lawyer, merchant, or lumberman. This doesn't matter half so much as the fact that they have chosen something definite.

Have you ever seen a person with no ambition, no aim in life? He is indeed an object to be pitied. None of us care to follow his example. Yet how easy it is just to slide along with a thought or bordering on, "Eat, drink, and be merry, for tomorrow we may die."

Suddenly, we realize that our school days are drawing to a close and we must begin to face the problem of self-support. Then do we regret our former lack of interest? Of course, it is seldom too late, but how much easier it would have been had we made our preparations and patterned our high school course along lines more useful to us.

There are many fascinating professions that it really seems as if we should be able to find our particular business-like boy or girl, there is the office work or business of some nature; for the studios, there is the school positions. With all the golden opportunities before you, don't wait until the last moment but decide now!

R. Gebhardt.
