JUST ANOTHER PHASE OF THE WATER SITUATION

In our former articles we spoke of the possibility of getting water from the Wessinger Springs, of the further supply being purchased from the City of Portland, and of the purchase of water from the Tualatin Water Co.

The other proposition that is probably coming up at the City Election this fall is the matter of selling the Beaverton Water System to the Oregon-Washington Water Co., the corporation that bought the water system of Cornelius and Hillsboro from the Portland Electric Power Co.

Now this company has made a survey of the water situation here in Beaverton at their own expense. They say they are anxious to get into this lower Tualatin Valley and get a foot hold here.

It has been whispered about that they made application to the state Public Service Commission to build a water line from Hillsboro this way and that this permit was denied. Now there is a little that looks as though it would bear investigation along that line.

Mind we do not say that the permit asked has been denied. It may have been just that. We don't know. But the thing that looks funny to us is that no one knew anything about the hearing that the Commission would probably have held somewhere in this region before they would possibly turn down a proposition of that kind.

AMERICA LEADING IN RADIO COMMUNICATION

The opening of a new, direct radio channel between New York and Lisbon, Portugal, for the transmission and reception of Radiograms was recently announced by the Radio Corporation of America.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edwards and son, Ireland left Wednesday morning for a week's vacation at Netarts.

Mrs. R. L. Tucker and daughter Miss Margaret, and Mrs. F. C. Peck went Wednesday at the F. D. Peck home.

Mrs. Charles Jacka and daughter, Mrs. L. L. Myers and son, and Miss Halie Myers were luncheon guests of Mrs. Florence Johnson at Dilleys O. C. on Thursday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Throssel and grandson of Santa Monica Calif., and Mrs. Fred Cane of Yamhill, Ore. visited several days last week at the homes of Mrs. Throssel and Mrs. Cane's sisters, Mrs. W. R. Petch, and Mrs. A. W. Butterfield.

Dear Miss Flo, We are three girls, 13, 14, and 15 years old, of black hair, blue and brown eyes, fair complexion. We wear short dresses and wear knickers to school. We use rouge and lipstick and have bobbed hair.

Should a girl 14 or 15 love a boy or write to him? Should a boy come to see a girl and day in the week and should a boy love two girls? How old should a girl be when she marries? Do you think the boy should be older than the girl? Do you think a boy should be... Should a boy of 14 go with girls? Do you think a boy should give a girl a birthday present and should a girl give a boy one?

BROWN AND BLUE EYES.

Dear girls, you certainly are curious about a lot of things, but I am going to try to answer your questions. Of course it is proper for you to have friends, both boy and girl friends, but you seem to be a little too young to think of the boys as sweethearts. It is very nice to invite a boy for dinner. It is pro-

BANKER-FARMER MOVEMENT GROWS

Funds Supplied by Banking Organizations in Many States to Finance Studies and Contests.

The nationwide movement being conducted by county and state bankers' associations and the American Bankers Association in cooperation with the state agricultural colleges and county agents for the purpose of bringing about both local and national solutions for farm economic problems has shown notable results during the past year.

In Missouri a meeting was held at the College of Agriculture at which the bankers again appropriated $1,000 for boys and girls' club work. Kansas county bankers have raised $500 to stimulate beef calf clubs and report definite results obtained in getting farmers to lime their soil and grow alfalfa.

In Kansas no less than fifteen counties are reported by the Extension Service as engaged in definite banker-farmer work. County key bankers attended four district conferences during the year.

The Louisiana bankers' agricultural committee met at the College of Agriculture in connection with a bankers' farm course. The bankers are thoroughly aroused to the wisdom of tick eradication and are co-operating to that end. County key bankers are being selected and county meetings with bankers throughout the state will be arranged.

Results Shown In Kentucky key bankers have been appointed in each county with the result that the bankers of the state are co-operating with the College of Agriculture more specifically than any other group of business men. Some of the fruits of this cooperation is demonstrated by the fact that the number of dairy cattle in the state has increased seven per cent and the production per cow twelve per cent. Three counties in the state have eliminated all scrub hogs.

In North Carolina the outstanding accomplishments have been the honoring of "Class A Farmers," that is, those attaining a degree of proficiency in a well balanced and sound system of farming as indicated by a score card prepared by the College of Agriculture and the Bankers Short Course given there. Future plans provide for the continuation of the county key banker system and the arrangement of county banker-farmer tours.

In Virginia $15,000 has been raised by subscription for boys' and girls' club work, largely from bankers. A group meeting was held at the College of Agriculture with two hundred bankers in attendance. The Committee on Agriculture of the State Bankers Association voted to continue and check up on the county key banker work.

The reports from New York on the activities for the past year included the distribution of 20,000 short form farm credit statements prepared co-operatively by the agricultural college and bankers. The bankers' agricultural committee also arranged to send suggestions to the banks of the state to aid in financing purchase of dairy cattle to replace those lost by the tuberculin test.

Bankers' Farm Schools "Short Courses" continued popular during the year. Several colleges held such courses under the auspices of the state bankers' agricultural committees and are repeating them this year. "Minimum of Talk—Maximum of Demonstration" was the character of program put on by the Kansas Agricultural College for the second Bankers' Farm School in April. Four representatives were invited from each of twenty counties, consisting of the county key banker, the county agent, the secretary of the county bankers per to go riding with a boy at night unless parents object. Your parents should be asked before you make an appointment with a boy whether or no, they would object to your being with him.

A person loves or does not love; there is no such thing as deciding whether or not to be in love! It is quite nice to correspond with a boy. A boy may come to see a girl as often as he likes if she does not make known to him that she would prefer him to limit his visits. That is up to her. I don't see how it is possible for a boy to love two girls if he can "love" more than one, it is not love at all. Just a liking that he thinks is love.

As a general rule, I think a girl should be at least 18 when she marries and the boy ought to be the same age or more—but there are many cases of happy marriages where the boy was younger than the girl. Jealousy is never a good quality. A boy of 14 may have girl friends. Why not? An exchange of gifts is always a sweet and thoughtful thing.

But, dear girls, at your ages I think you should regard your boy friends with the same emotions that you regard your girl friends, rather than thinking of such things as love and marriage. These things will come later.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

On When Women Come Into Money.

As Aunt Emmy sipped her tea she heard the conversation drift to the Slade sisters. The fact that they had inherited a large fortune and would have to administer it themselves created considerable comment.

"My husband says old man Slade made a big mistake not putting it in trust for them," said Mrs. Burt. "He says women never should handle large sums of money because they are 'financially uneducated'—he really means 'dumb'."

"All women aren't dumb about money matters, are they, Aunt Emmy?" exclaimed Miss Pringle. "Of course not," Aunt Emmy agreed. "There are all sorts and kinds of women all the way from very prudent to very foolish."

"Well, anyway, an awful lot of women have been victimized in financial things—just look at all the widows that have been robbed," insisted Mrs. Burt.

"There won't be so much of that in the future as in the past," Aunt Emmy said. "Women have been easy to victimize because they knew so little about money affairs, but now they are realizing this danger more and more and are taking advantage of the financial advice departments their bankers have set up for them. One thing that has led to women's financial undoing is their natural love of pretty things. This trait often leads them into foolish investments and speculations to get money quickly. Once a woman sets her heart on a thing she can't wait until it is here."

"But if women didn't buy things, there wouldn't be any business," spoke up Molly. "Women are the natural spenders of the family, Dad says."

"Yes, but they would have more to spend if they'd go a little slower," replied Aunt Emmy. "Every time I see a woman falling for some silly get-rich-quick scheme I think of the nice things she could buy with the money she is going to lose. If they'd go slower—they'd get farther."

"From what I know of the Slade girls, Molly began—but just then the Slade girls themselves came in. "We're so sorry to be late," they apologized, "but we have been having our first lesson in finance down at the Trust Company. They are going to give us quite a lot of time and explain all the things we ought to know about money to keep us out of financial trouble."

"Well, my dears, you are going to the right school," said Aunt Emmy. "If every woman would do that there'd be less trouble and more pretty things for all of them."

Where will You be at 70? Recent investigations have shown that a large number of persons are dependent on relatives in their old age. When the autumn of life approaches, and the leaves of youthful vim and enthusiasm fall it is extremely difficult for any person, no matter how able, these investigations prove, to compete in the world of business and commerce. What better insurance against dependence in old age than a savings account in a bank? One dollar will start you on the road to economic security.
