MICKIE, THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

By Charles Sughro

No News to Him

No Longer King of Road.
Not long since in a Southern court the owner of an automobile sued the driver of a horse which, while being driven by its owner, backed into the plaintiff's car. The horse owner asserted he was not liable, because the animal's antics were the result of an inherent nature! The court, however, held otherwise, thus showing once again that the horse, more or less sadly—as you will—is no longer king of the road.—American Motorist

Keeping Cut Roses.
The life of cut roses can be prolonged, often to an extraordinary extent, if every night they are taken from their bowl or vase, a tiny bit snipped off the stalk, and then roughly scratched with the finger nail on one side of the scissors at intervals up the length, and then plunged right into a very deep pan of cold water. Even if the flowers themselves sometimes get under the water it does not matter.

Carry on Old Business.
In Wales and Durham, England, "Quilt Wives" still practice the traditional craft of quilting, the art of which has been handed down from mother to daughter. The wool for wadding is bought locally and is first washed and carded; it is then placed in the frame between the two outer coverings of the quilt, and the whole is ready to be stitched.

Conservation.
An economical mother has a young son who persists in bringing his elbows to the apple pie in the cellar. She told the generous lad to have the boys eat the mellow ones. He was heard telling the young hungry tribe, "Now, be sure and eat the mellow ones, because mother wants to keep the good ones."

Attaining Happiness.
Happiness is not to be solicited, but comes with an appearance of finality, to be juggled with off-hand. It seems to be some kind of balance, as in riding a bicycle, attempted painfully a thousand times, and achieved at last without effort.—Elizabeth Bowen.

The Only Reason.
It has been asked why more Americans do not own hippopotamuses. It probably is because none of the installment stores have thought about selling hippopotamuses at a dollar down and a dollar a week thereafter.—Atchison Globe.

Differences in Eggs.
Because Russian hens are allowed to run wild foraging for themselves their eggs can be preserved for 12 months, while those of the carefully tended flocks of western Europe spoil much quicker, declares an egg specialist.

Real Name of Flag.
Strictly speaking, the designation "The American Flag" is not correct, as there does not legally exist such an emblem. Congress has always referred to the national flag as "The Flag of the United States."

Helpful Visitor.
Don't feel you must be just as funny as you can be when visiting a sick person in order to cheer him up. Keep a pleasant face and try to be entertaining, but don't talk so much that you tire the patient.

Steam in the Cylinder.
Repression, some one has said, is a capital method of expression; it is the steam in the cylinder that turns the wheels, not that which is blown from the whistle.—American Magazine.

Too Cruel.
When a magistrate at Manchester, England, asked a husband why he did not return to his wife, the man retorted, "I have done nothing to deserve such punishment."

Somewhat Old Pastime.
A roller skate was patented in France as early as 1819 but the first popular demand for roller skating is said to have arisen in Austria in 1864.

London's Shame.
In London recently eleven people were found living in one room, while below them were two families of ten persons each occupying two rooms.

New York's First Church.
The first church of Manhattan Island was established there 500 years ago by Jonas Michaelius, a Dutch minister, who was sent over from Holland.

Will Start It Going.
E. R. writes—Tell a woman a dead secret and you may depend upon her to put some life into it.—Chicago Post.

Mean What You Say.
Everything you say will be remembered by some one else after you have forgotten it.—Atchison Globe.

Poor Sport

"Ever gone through a windshield?" feebly asked the victim of a wreck of the nurse.
"No," she replied, "I never have."
"Well, you haven't missed much," he grunted.

Quite Long Enough

Wife (reading paper)—It says here that a London man boasts that he has had an umbrella for twenty years.
Her Husband—That's long enough. He ought to return it.

IF HE DIDN'T GET FRESH

honey! Whadda you think of me as an old sa??" She—"You'll do all right so long as you don't get fresh."

The Price Asked

"Did you use that poem I sent you?" asked the self-important poet.
"No," said the editor. "The fact is, we hardly thought it was worth what you asked for it."
"But I didn't put a price on it."
"No," the editor agreed; "but you asked us to give it our careful consideration."

Inherited

"Sadie," said her mother, "why is it that you and your little brother are always quarreling?"
"I don't know," replied Sadie, "unless I take after you and he takes after papa."

Gives Her More to Talk About

Blinks—That woman never stops talking.
Jinks—Well, she'll stop talking anytime you have something to tell her that has to be whispered.

FREE FROM GERMS

sanitary grounds?" Maggie—"Why, of course not; such grounds are free from germs."

He Watched 'Em

Farmer—Where are my horses? Didn't I tell you to watch them while I went into the store?
Watchful Sam—I did watch 'em. They went down past Geeter's feed mill, and when they got out on the main road where it was good running they made so much dust I couldn't see 'em any more.
