TIGARD NEWS

Dr. Baggett's handsome new home near the high school in East Tigard is progressing rapidly.

Another attractive new house near completion is that of Eberhard on the place recently purchased from Mr. Dean at Truce Station.

Members of the Tigard grange turned out en masse Monday and repaired the tar and gravel roof on the Grange Hall. The ladies brought lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Christensen will soon be leaving their farm to occupy their beautiful new home on the Pacific Highway near Walnut Ave., which is almost completed.

Tigard grange is planning a peace program which will be put on at the Hall, on the first Friday night in September, the 6th. It is free, and all are cordially invited.

Mr. Litton of Tigard has completed a well on Mrs. Gustin's acreage at Greeburg for C. Rufsvold as he has purchased an acre and contemplates building in the near future.

Tigard grange will hold their annual picnic on Labor day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Root on the field place. Everyone is looking forward to a good and lively day. Bring your basket and have a good time.

The Bible Class of the M. E.
Church at Tigard held their monthly party Wednesday evening at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs.
Allen with a weiner and marshmallow roast and campfire stories of old times which were very entertaining. There were fish stories, love stories, rattle snake stories, and even down to the fly swatter story. They were much enjoyed by the large crowd that attended. The class meets the 3rd Wednesday night of each month at different homes.

SQUAWKS
By VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE
FOR THE GOOSE—
A GIRL knows when a man wants to marry her, early in the game.
But not as early as the neighbors.

A stupid person might misunderstand your silence. But what harm can that do?

There's bound to be a certain amount of self-interest in any passion that oughtn't keep you from trustin' it, even if it looks perfectly jake.

FOR THE GANDER—
Why does a thirty dollar a week clerk look'n' out of the window of a restaurant look more like somebody than his boss that's walkin' by?

A real great man is great without bein' proud. An imitation one is proud without bein' great.

Any guy that thinks, while he's down on his knees proposin' to a woman, that she didn't know what was comin', is even dumber than he looks.

Youngsters will probably pass along the news that a New York father dropped dead while spanking his son.

As An Agriculturalist
Sees Farm Board's Job

The new Agricultural Marketing Act approaches farm relief from a materially different point of view from that of former bills before Congress in recent years, says Dean H. L. Russell of Wisconsin University College of Agriculture in the American Bankers Association Journal.

"It contains a new idea, fraught with the greatest possibilities—the organization of a Federal Farm Board," he says. "It has been possible for farm cooperatives to borrow from Federal-aided institutions before, and at a materially lower rate than city business men had to pay for working capital, but this is the first set-up made by the government in which a commission has been carefully chosen to give undivided attention to an effort to solve the problems of a farm group."

"It is hard to conceive of a higher degree of responsibility than must be assumed by this commission. No board ever created by congressional action has been clothed with as wide plenary powers. It is authorized not only to advise but to execute, to plan and put its plans into effective action, to buy and hold, to dump, to dip into the Federal treasury to accomplish its ends with what would be almost unlimited resources to any private commercial concern. The board's only job is to succeed, and no governmental agency even during the war time emergency had a wider latitude."

"Many will think the farm relief program will be universally applicable to the individual land owner or operator. Such procedure is far from the case. Aid is to be extended through cooperative organizations by making it possible for such groups to obtain cash advances to hold crops so as to permit of more orderly marketing."

"While the primary relation is with cooperatives, the individual or unorganized farmer will also profit by the activities of his organized fellows. If a stabilized program of marketing is able to eliminate the surpluses that exert such depressing influence on prices the general price relation should be improved. If this occurs the individual farmer should also benefit."

"It is here that the government is proposing a novel attempt in economics.
Through stabilization corporations for each commodity it is proposed to make possible the handling of the surplus so as to lessen its disturbing influence on prices. With non-perishable products such a program is, of course, considerably possible, but one wonders what would happen if a stabilization corporation had to handle a perishable crop in great quantities."

"Is it going to be possible for a stabilization corporation to stabilize? It would be one thing if it had merely to stabilize the American situation, but often that situation is complicated with world conditions. Perhaps the very fact that such a stabilization corporation is in position to function may have a steady effect on the market."

"Markets respond to psychological stimuli as do individuals. The very fact that the government has now definitely stepped into the breach with all of its resources available to make the new plan work will exert undoubtedly a strong stabilizing effect."

"It would be presumptuous to forecast what the ultimate effect of the new act will be. It can, however, be definitely stated that in the present plan much of the philosophy that had been so drastically criticized as eco-nomicly unsound has been eliminated. The existing plan is worth trying. It will undoubtedly cost the Federal treasury no inconsiderable amounts of money, but if it produces the hoped-for result it will have been well worth while."
