I Awoke From a Long Dream
I thought I was walking again in a beautiful little city in the east of 5000 inhabitants. Because of the tree-shaded streets and beautiful green well kept lawns. It seemed that every man vied with his neighbor in the upkeep of their lawns, painted houses, polished windows. Oh but it was a lovely sight and feeling—the shade, the singing of birds and the sighing of the wind through the trees, the perfume of the gay colored flowers, brought admiration, romance, energy, and the love of life as I had never felt before. Then I learned the reason for all this loveliness. The mayor of this beautiful city some 18 years before was a lover of beauty and romance, and he had sent forth a request that every man, woman and child able to work should plant a maple, poplar, or some lovely shade tree all along in front their place in the middle of the parking strip 20 feet apart. He also saw to it that the city furnished plenty of water at a reasonable price so these lovely lawns could be kept up with but little cost, or their had to be a good reason given. Every one who came into that city knew there was a power of love behind it all and that the city fathers were not dead to romance and thought only of gain and money. Visitors wished to buy in a place like this to rear their families and at once began to inquire after real estate.

Vacant lots were kept clean of trash and no old rotten half tumbled down shacks were left to stand in conspicuous places.

And behold, when I awoke the town was little old Beaverton under new management.

FARM REMINDERS

Oats is the most universally preferred grain for work horses.

Cutting or grinding of hay for horses is not usually recommended, as it is usually dusty and has a bad effect on their breathing.

The mother who is "up in the clouds" one day and lets Tommy do anything he pleases, and the next day scolds him for doing the same thing, because she is "down in the dumps," is not helping his nervous balance.

Teacher—Johnny, to what class of the animal kingdom do I belong Johnny—I don't know, teacher. Pa says you're an old hen, and Ma says you're an old cat.

What's a stack of hotcakes got to do with a GARDEN?

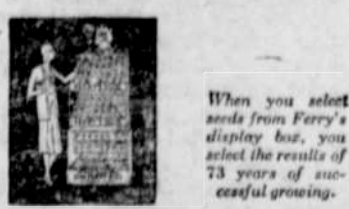

HOTCAKES just off the griddle are at their tenderest. Then's the time to eat them—when they're hot. And vegetables just from a garden are at their tenderest. Then is the time to eat them, too—when the radishes are solid, crisp. When the tomatoes sparkle as you peel them, and you can slice them smooth and thin.

Have a kitchen garden and enjoy all your vegetables at their climax-time, when they are most tender and sweet. Plant Ferry's purebred Seeds. These have abundant life inside. They are what their name says—purebred. Generations of the seeds that finally became these seeds produced vegetables and flowers approaching perfection.

Ferry's Seeds are at the "store around the corner." A few packets will show what your own yard can grow—but you will want more than a few packets when you look over Ferry's Seed Annual. With this, your garden can produce from early-radiant time till frost, when crisp, white celery can last clear on till spring again! For the Annual, write to D. M. Ferry & Co., 500 Paul Avenue, San Francisco, California.

P. S.—THE GARDENER HAS NO SECOND CHANCE. PLANT THE BEST.

When you select seeds from Ferry's display box, you select the results of 73 years of successful growing.

Beatrice Grimshaw

IF you have read any of the South Seas stories by Beatrice Grimshaw you know how wonderfully thrilling and thoroughly worth while they are. And you can also appreciate the fact that her novels have practically "cornered" the literature of that fascinating district. You will find "Black Sheep's Gold" quite up to the Grimshaw high standard in romance, color, and adventurous incidents.
