Pare, core, and slice the fruit. Cook gently until it is tender, in a very little water. Measure the fruit, and add to it the lemon juice and two-thirds as much sugar as there is fruit. Cook rapidly until the mixture becomes clear. Turn into clean, hot glasses. When cold, cover with paraffin.

CANDY AS A SELF-STARTER

The after effects of long-distance running have been carefully studied by those interested in athletics and dieting.

Several years ago after the famous Boston Marathon run it was found that the physical exhaustion of the men was in exact proportion to the sugar content of the blood—those with the least sugar content being the most exhausted and vice versa.

PARTY FOOD ACCORDING TO HOYLE

It is no longer "to bridge or not to bridge"—it's simply whether it will be auction or contract! Just now the vogue for some of the older games has been revived and you'll find young things and old bent double over the chess or cribbage board, or even in a study, over the familiar games of Flinch, Rook, or Eingo.

Games may come and games may go—the refreshments go on forever! Every guest is a hungry guest and it isn't a party unless we eat. Fashions in food, however, change as often as do the games, and this particular year of 1930 finds party dishes less numerous, less rich than of yore (can it be the new silhouette?) but more festive, daintier, of greater variety and choice.

Neither are changing styles in methods of preparation far behind the calendar. Party food is easier to make now—the hostess is praised—for Mrs. Modernage makes her head save her hands and feet by using directions and recipes and ingredients that are modern too.

The decorations—usually consist of flowers and such clever notes as gas-filled balloons in groups of one, two, three or more attached to the tables to mark their rank. Black and white parties, with food to match are even given, and the Godey craze has swung full-fledged into the card party, with tallies, prizes and cards all in the Godey-print mood. Airplanes provide the motif for some of the successful entertaining, and the movies have inspired a "star" bridge.

The familiar use of the four suits as decorations and in the food still leads in popularity however, and many of the recipes carry out the idea of the trumps.

Here are recipes from popular hostesses whose parties are always successful:

All Trump Sandwiches
12 slices bread
1/2 lb. soft butter
3 oz. cream cheese
12 pecan or walnut meats
2 tbsps. cream or rich milk
1 canned pimento
12 pitted dates
Cut thin slices of bread in oblongs to resemble playing cards. Spread lightly with softened butter and then with cream cheese which has been rubbed to a paste with cream. Make the "spots" on the cards with diamonds or hearts cut from canned pimento, and with clubs or spades made from nut stuffed dates cut in slices. Makes 2 dozen small sandwiches.

Grand Slam Salad
1 envelope quick-setting lemon gelatine
1 cup boiling water
1 cup grapefruit juice
2 doz. after dinner mints
Watercress
Few drops vegetable coloring
Sections from 1 No. 2 can of grape-fruit.
1 cup diced cucumbers
Sour cream or cheese dressing
Dissolve the gelatine in the boiling water. Drain the juice from a No. 2 can of grapefruit and add it to the cooling liquid. Add a few drops of coloring and enough after dinner mints to flavor the mixture delicately. Cool.
When the jelly is of the consistency of egg white, fold in the grapefruit sections which have been cut in halves with scissors and the diced cucumbers from which the seeds have been removed. Pour into one large or several small molds. When firm unroll on salad plates and surround with a wreath of watercress. Serve with sour cream dressing or cream cheese dressing. Six servings.

Queen's Tarts
1 recipe pie crust in tart shells
1/4 cup sugar
2 tbsps. cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon vanilla or 1/2 tsp. lemon extract
2 cups scalded milk
1/2 to 1 cup sliced fruit
1 cup cream
Mix dry ingredients, add eggs slightly beaten, and pour on gradually the scalded milk. Cook fifteen minutes in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened, afterward occasionally. Cool and flavor. Pour into tart shells. Arrange sliced fruit or berries on top and cover with whipped cream.

leaving Saturday morning for a two weeks' vacation in Southern California. They will visit with Mr. McElroy's parents and other relatives.
