DAIRYING

(Continued from Editorial Page) during the first two months, and switched to grain and roughage with success. In all cases changes in feed should be made gradually.

There are those who believe that no substitute for whole milk is practicable. Therefore they start with whole milk and gradually dilute it with water. One proportion recommended is three parts of whole milk to one part of water, after the first month to be continued until the calf is eating a sufficient quantity of grain and hay. The success of this plan rests upon the ability of the herd owner to get the calves started early on grain and hay, and then see that they eat it in equal amounts.

Powdered skim milk is also used for feeding calves. It is dissolved in warm water and fed immediately. It may be alternated with skim milk on farms where the supply of skim milk varies. The powdered milk keeps well and is easy to handle. The cost of powdered milk to equal 100 pounds of skim milk is about half what you can sell an equal amount of whole milk for. One pound of powdered milk to nine pounds of water at a temperature of 100 degrees Fahrenheit is about right.

Another substitute for milk is when, from the cheese factory. The whey needs to be sterilized as in a fermented condition it is bad for the calf, unless of course the cheese is made on the farm and the whey fed at once. Start at the end of the third week and gradually switch the diet from whole wheat to whey. At the end of six weeks the whole milk can be dispensed with altogether and grain and hay substituted.

Calves should never be allowed to become poor. This will stunt their growth and retard normal development. They should have good feed, good care, good attention, kept in good condition and growing every minute. Legume hays are better than timothy for growing calves because of the minerals they contain for making bone and muscle. Alfalfa and clover hay must be fed carefully, as they are laxative.

IDEAL GIFT FOR A BOY

What glorious adventures boys between the ages of ten and twenty have reading THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION! As if by magic, this well-known magazine carries boys to distant parts of the world, introduces them to strange people, lets them experience queer customs and revel in the adventures of foreign lands.

In a single issue, a boy will battle the frozen Northland with sled and dog team, cross Indian-haunted plains in a prairie schooner, zoom over war-torn lands in an army plane or on dangerous routes with a U. S. mail pilot, hunt wild animals in Africa atop the swing back of an elephant, go cruising in a battleship, fight Arab raiders with the Foreign Legion and participate in many other thrilling experiences that come to readers of THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

It is such experiences as these that sharpen a boy's wits, kindle his imagination, strengthen his character, develop his understanding of the world in which he lives and of the people that inhabit it. Here, indeed, is the ideal gift for that boy in whom you are interested—that son, nephew, cousin, neighbor, or perhaps, the son of a business associate. An attractive gift card bearing your name will be sent to the boy, if you request it with your order. Then every time the mailman brings the magazine to his door, the boy will think of you gratefully.

Subscription prices are only $2.00 for one year, and $3.00 for three years. Mail your order direct to THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION, 550 W. Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. Service on your subscription will start with whichever issue you specify.

The Coos Bay-Corvallis-Portland-Tacoma air passenger route will be officially inaugurated December 10th by the Bennett Air Transport Co.
