PACIFIC AREA

Our readers will be glad to learn that the Canadian Government has issued a series of road maps of Canada and the United States, for the benefit of those contemplating a visit to the Dominion. The map appearing on this page is a small scale sketch of one of the sheets in the series, but the actual map shows the different highways in detail.

With its innumerable lakes and rivers now made more accessible by paved highways, Canada presents almost unlimited attractions to the vacationist. The intending motorist, camper or angler will find in that country every facility necessary for an enjoyable holiday.

Those contemplating a Canadian vacation should make application for information to the National Development Bureau of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa, from which source maps covering the area between any state and Canadian province, together with a leaflet, "How to Enter Canada," which contains a summary of the regulations pertaining to entry of automobiles for touring, may be obtained. Other interesting literature on the country's recreational attractions will also be supplied free of charge.

Blame it on the financial magazines, the financial services, the millionaire newspapers who knew but wouldn't tell.

If you expanded the plant, bought a lot of new machinery, signed a ream of notes, blame it on the prosperity fever that came out of the political swamps; certainly it was well for you to feel courageous.

The only slight blame you might take is for being a victim of manufactured news, "inspired" inspiring statements, cross-country corporation accounting, balloon-speeches by financiers worried whether they could unload their bonds in time, "new era" economists.

Bids have been received for the construction of a new post office and customs house at Astoria.

Foundation work for an addition to the Klamath Union High School at Klamath Falls is well under way.

SPLINTERS

Editor: Did you ever write anything before?

Authoress: Oh, yes; I wrote a confession story once."

Editor: Did the editor send it back

Authoress: No, he came all the way from New York to California to meet me.

Whether you need one piece of lumber or a carload, we can supply your needs. We stand back of every piece of lumber we sell and you can be sure that our prices are always reasonable.

Nice Old Lady: Don't you know you shouldn't play strip poker?"

Nice Young Thing: Oh, it's perfectly all right. It's not gambling really.

"What?"

"No. You see, we get our clothes back."

FULLER paints are really lower in price than any other quality paint on the market. They give you greater value for your money. We have all colors and can fill your wants quickly.

Blacksmith: "Now, Pat, I'm going to bring this horseshoe out of the fire and lay it on the anvil. When I nod my head, hit it hard with a hammer." Pat did.....and was fired when the blacksmith recovered.

ON OREGON FARMS

Ontario—White Russian wheat in a trial planting in comparison with Federation on the farm of Neil Dimmick of Nyssa appears much more uniform in height and is taller on the average, reports County Agent R. G. Larson. White Russian is a new wheat brought to Malheur county from Yakima Valley where it is reported to have outyielded Federation.

Dallas—More than 500 acres of Ohio hardy red clover have been inspected for certification in Polk county by J. R. Beck, county agent, E. R. Jackman, and G. R. Hyslop of the Oregon Extension service and more fields will be in the near future. This strain of clover is being established to take the place of the common red clover which has met with disfavor in the east.

Bend—Fifty-three dead woodchucks were picked up by Rasmus Peterson on his ranch in Pleasant Valley two days after County Agent, W. T. McDonald had held a poisoning demonstration there. During the demonstration, McDonald showed 10 farmers the proper methods of preparing and placing poisoned alfalfa tips for woodchucks.

Hood River—Failure to spray for codling moth this year has resulted in about 5 per cent wormy apples in one Hood River orchard, according to A. L. Marble, county agent. The grower now plans to thin off and destroy all wormy apples and apply a spray for the second brood.

DEMONSTRATIONS OF CHLORATES ON FARM

In order to better illustrate the effect of Sodium Chlorate and Atlacide on Canada Thistles, there will be a meeting on the Eugene McCornick farm three-fourths mile south of the Hillsboro, Forest Grove highway. Turn south on the first road west of the Heywood school on Tuesday, July 21st, at 1:30 p.m.

Demonstrations of the use of Chlorates on thistles are being conducted on the McCornick farm and W. S. Averill, Assistant County Agent will explain the work being done.

The demonstration will bring out several interesting facts and answer many questions asked about thistle treatment including rates of application as well as the use of Chlorates dry and as a spray.

BORAX USED FOR BANISHING INSECTS

Warm weather and dampness have a tendency to encourage cockroaches, water bugs, ants, etc. Roaches have a faculty of disappearing in daylight, behind baseboards, cracks, nooks and corners. If nothing is done to eliminate them, they will soon overrun their raven. They come out of their places of security in droves as soon as the house is in darkness and are attracted by the slightest trace of food and food particles.

A bulletin distributed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests the effective use of common borax to banish roaches.

"Powdered borax enters into the composition of many of the so-called roach powders. Borax may be used either pure as a repellent, or mixed with some other substances to make it attractive to the insects."

While borax is effective in repelling roaches, water bugs, ants, etc., it is also non-poisonous and safe to use.

Although it isn't necessary, there are various ingredients used to bait the insects, such as sugar and cocoa mixed with the pure powdered borax. The simplest method is to wash the cupboards, woodwork, and likely haunts, with a solution of warm water and common borax (about two tablespoons of Borax to a quart of warm water); then sprinkle the dry powdered borax in the back of pantry shelves, behind baseboards and around the kitchen sink. A few applications is all that is necessary to immediately drive away the pests.

REVIEW HAS BEST-EQUIPPED PLANT

Two men came into the Review office Wednesday, and asked, "Is this place for sale"

We told them we didn't care to sell. Then they asked if they might look the plant over, anyway. Of course we consented, as we are always glad to have anyone show an interest in our place of business.

They told us that they were from Portland, prospecting and looking for a newspaper that they could buy. "We have been around the country quite a lot," they said, "and this is the best equipped country shop we have found anywhere." They also asked if we printed any other papers here. We told them, no. They remarked "That's a good idea. If one paper is properly taken care of as it should be, there isn't time to make another one."

SAFETY
can be inexpensive

All other sizes equally inexpensive

MANY motorists, quite logically, distrust the safety of inexpensive tires.
But Kelly Lotta Miles tires have proved that tires can be low-priced and still be safe!
Like all Kelly tires, the Kelly Lotta Miles is built for real service. It is strong, rugged and long wearing. There is no other tire built that offers you so much dependability and mileage for so little money.
