POINTERS ON HOME CANNING

Beets are best canned when they are young as they are sweetest and best then, says the school of home economics at Oregon State college. Sort them to approximately the same size, wash thoroughly and cut off all but about one inch of the tops, leaving the root on. This prevents bleeding during blanching. After blanching in boiling water from 2 to 10 minutes, dip in cool water and slip off skins with fingers. Pack in jars and fill with boiling water, adding 1 teaspoon salt and a little sugar to each jar. Process pints 35 minutes, and quarts 40 minutes at 240 degrees F.

Only tender, sweet varieties of corn are suitable for canning, says the school of home economics, O. S. C. One of the first essentials is that it be very fresh. It may be cut from the cob without pre-cooking if the homemaker is careful. Make a sweet brine, using 1 cup sugar and 4 tablespoons salt to 1 gallon water. Cover the corn with this, bring to a good boil, and while still very hot fill loosely into boiled hot jars. Place immediately in pressure cooker and process pints 50 minutes and quarts 85 minutes, at 250 degrees F. Cool the cooker very slowly.

It is unsafe to home can non-acid foods, such as beans, corn, peas, beets, asparagus, spinach and other vegetables except tomatoes, and meats or fish by any other than the pressure cooker method, says the school of home economics, Oregon State college. Research and practical experience show that these foods cannot be safely canned by heating in boiling water. The deadly bacillus botulinus has been known to resist boiling, a temperature of 212 degrees F., for more than 6 hours.

ON OREGON FARMS

Baker—Crested wheat grass and brome are showing up best in the dry land grass nursery on the Hawley ranch in Sumpter valley, according to P. T. Fortner. These are followed in order by tall fescue, tall oat grass, alfalfa, sweet clover, chewing fescue, and quincy grass. Those not doing so well are slender wheat grass, western wheat grass and Canada blue grass. The plots were seeded April 15.

Ontario—In an attempt to save a large acreage of red clover and alfalfa planted without inoculation on the new Vale project land by E. B. Gould, the irrigation water is to be inoculated as it is applied in the field, says County Agent P. G. Larson.

Corvallis—Oregon has regained her position as the leading hop producing state in the country, and shows a definite trend towards increased production, according to an economic study of the hop industry of Oregon. Aside from a small acreage in Jackson and Josephine counties, the hop industry is confined entirely to the Willamette valley area where Marion and Polk counties alone have three-fourths of the state's acreage.

Oregon City—Use of three commercial fertilizers (ammonium phosphate, 3-10-10, and 6-10-4) on red raspberries brought an average net increase to George Bliss of Carus of $78.36 per acre, after subtracting the cost of the fertilizers. Other fertilizers used in the trial in which Bliss co-operated with County Agent J. J. Inskeep, were am-

WHITEHALL WILL BE TORN DOWN SOON

The contract for wrecking the building known lately as the Whitehall but in earlier times as the More hill was awarded this week to R. Spencer. This building has been a prominent landmark in Beaverton since its construction.

Diligent search and inquiry has revealed that the building was of rather recent construction though by most Beavertonians it is spoken of as an old building.

There are several buildings in town which antedate the Whitehall, one the Gange hall, and another the Nazarene church.

Primarily constructed for a dance hall, the building had a floor second to none the material coming all the way from Wisconsin of the finest hard or sugar maple material. The foundation at one corner has been taken out some ten years ago to allow for the use of a part for a garage. This allowed that corner to settle and for a number of years the structure has leaned considerably.

Mr. J. Davis who owns the place now states that he is preparing to build a fine two-story brick as soon as conditions warrant.

Mrs. R. M. Miller and son Jack returned from Seaside the first of the week after a ten days visit at that place.

WISE SPENDING IS KEY TO SUCCESS

The secret of success is wise spending. The most important phase of wise spending is spending less than you earn and saving the difference. The Bank of Beaverton, a member of the Federal Reserve System invites you to open a savings account with them, so they may be of service to you in your quest for success and financial independence.

W. S. AVERILL PLANS TO CONDUCT TOUR

Methods of irrigating Ladino clover for pasture will be the subject of a tour to be conducted by W. S. Averill, assistant county agent, on Thursday August 27. The first stop will be at the A. J. Evers' farm, Verboort, at 1:30 p.m.; the second stop will be at the John Thornburgh farm, Gales Creek, at 2:45 p.m.

At the Evers' farm visitors will be shown the new pumping plant and water being applied. A. S. King of the College Extension department will be present to discuss methods of preparing land to be irrigated.

At the John Thornburgh farm will be seen a gravity system of irrigation in operation, with a different system of distributing water.

Both of the projects to be visited were seeded this year. The Evers' project is being watered for the first time this week.

Those who are interested can meet at the county agent's office at 1:10 p.m., and go from there to the Evers' farm.

SILENTLY PASSING

Mrs. Doets Eisenbeis died Monday morning at her home in Aloha at the age of 58 years.

She has been an invalid for about 15 years and about two weeks ago she suffered a stroke of paralysis from which she never recovered.

She was a member of the First Christian Church in Portland. She was a loving wife and mother, and was loved by all who knew her. She leaves to mourn her loss, a husband, two daughters and one son.

BEAVERTON FAMILY IN NEED OF HELP

Word came into this office today that one of Beaverton's citizens is sick and in need of provisions. He is a cripple and has a wife and children. He has always been able to provide for them until now. He is sick and unable to work. His wife went to one of our prominent citizens and asked for assistance.

If anyone wishes to help this family, they can leave provisions at the Review office and we will see that they are delivered.

MRS. SPRINGER IS GUEST AT PICNIC

A birthday picnic and surprise was given by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hall at Laurelhurst Park in Portland August 16th. The honor guest was Mrs. Geo. Springer. The picnic table was laid for ten guests. A large birthday cake and all goods to go along was enjoyed by all.

Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Schuler of Multnomah, Ore.; Mr. George Springer and two sons, Billie and George of Capital, Ore. Miss Ethel Springer of Eugene, Ore. and Miss Eleanor Hall, Beaverton.

Learn what a difference six cylinders make

Step out of any other low-priced car into a Chevrolet, and learn the difference six cylinders make.

"Idle" the engine—and the whole car remains steady. Open the throttle—the power flows evenly. Accelerate—throttle down—go fifteen or fifty—and this smoothness stays with you whatever you do. It's actually built into the motor—and objectionable vibration never even starts!

Yet smoothness is only one of many six-cylinder advantages. There's greater quietness, because noisy vibration is gone. There's greater comfort, because built-in smoothness doesn't tire you out. There's greater flexibility, because the power-impulses of a six overlap. And a six is much easier to handle!

If you raise the hood of a Chevrolet and watch the engine running so smoothly, you'll realize that six cylinders also mean greater dependability.

And remember when you do—that no other car is so economical to operate as the Chevrolet Six.

Twenty beautiful models, at prices ranging from $475 to $675. All prices f. o. b. Flint, Mich., special equipment extra. Low delivered prices and easy G. M. A. C. terms.
