

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Harry J. Wright Jr. has returned from a business trip to Washington and points north.

Mrs. Dan Shaw has been confined to her home for some time, but is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. James Whitworth and children are temporarily domiciled at St. Johns.

Mr. W. M. Williams of Woodburn has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. L. S. Rice, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ross spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives at Centralia, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Rice and family were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook, in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ora Anderson of Portland were dinner guests Tuesday evening at the W. R. Vankleek home.

The Red Cross membership drive is progressing well under the leadership of Mrs. W. H. Engleke assisted by Mrs. M. C. McKercher.

The Beaver Social club is sponsoring a card party Saturday evening, November 21, in the Masonic hall. Everyone invited. Refreshments. Good time assured. Advel

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Desinger and daughter, Nila Louise, spent the week end at the W. F. Desinger home. Nila Louise remained for a longer visit with her grandparents.

Mr. R. R. Stone, who purchased the former Otto Brieten home on Allen Ave., died in a hospital at Edmonton, Alberta, after undergoing three operations. He was buried at Beaver Lodge.

Eva and Elsie Whitworth with several other Trails Club members hiked to Angel's Rest near Larch Mountain, last Sunday. They were caught in a snow storm and had to wade through six feet of snow.

Mrs. M. C. McKercher entertained with a dinner party on Wednesday evening in honor of her son George. The guests were Lorraine Perkins, Donella Perkins, Shirley Jorgensen, Glen Shellenberger, Reynold Wilson.

Another 4-H cooking club was organized last week, with Dora Mae Howard elected president, Marian Metzler vice-president, and LaVerne Domogalla secretary. Mrs. D. C. Howard is their leader, assisted by Mrs. Walter Van Kleek.

Mrs. J. C. Huntley and daughter, Mrs. Collis Moore of Moro, Oregon, entertained a number of their Beaverton friends with a bridge party on Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Huntley's home in Portland. Mrs. E. E. Stipe won the high honors and Mrs. F. J. Donaldson low.

The Whitford Women's Club met on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance of members. Mrs. Thomas Chelland gave a review of the book, "A White Bird Flying," by Bess Aldrich. The other ladies were busy with their sewing. Mrs. E. G. Perkins was hostess for the afternoon.

Jean and Edward Posson, who have spent the past several months in California, returned to school here Monday. Their parents are still in California, so they are living in Portland. It surely speaks well of the Beaverton schools to have students come such a distance, and travel on the buses each day to be back in our schools.

NOTICE

A special Chamber of Commerce meeting will be held Friday (today) at 7:30 p.m., at which time the annual election of officers will take place and other important matters will be considered.

Members are especially urged to be present.

L. W. Short, secretary.

WOMEN TO LEARN KITCHEN SHORT-CUTS

Farm management experts have long been telling farmers how they can cut down on their work by cutting the waste motion out of their chore routes. Now the home management specialists come along with the observation that homemakers can profit equally or more from a check-up on their "kitchen-chore" where, surveys show, the average woman spends half of her working time.

More than 450 Oregon homemakers in 39 different towns are now enrolled in just such an organized effort to save time and have signed up for a series of eight letters giving specific examples of "Short Cuts in Kitchen Work." Some of these hints are probably new to all the women, and all of them may be new to some of them, but at least some of them are new to some of the women, says Mrs. Zelta Rodenwald, extension economist in home management at Oregon State college, in paraphrasing Abraham Lincoln's famous dissertation.

The "short cut" letters deal with such simple but effective time savers as keeping a broken or bent handled spoon in the coffee can, keeping the bread knife right in the bread box, or keeping the salt, pepper and flour shakers near the stove. The letters cover the three general divisions of cooking, serving and cleaning.

Enrollment this year for these letters, which are sent free, is coming mostly from Baker, Hood River, Klamath, Lake, Morrow, Umatilla, Gilliam, Union, Wasco, and Wallowa counties, where county agents have told of the opportunity. Last year 1700 enrolled, largely from counties where home demonstration agents are employed.

November 16 is the date the series will start this year, and enrollment may be made either direct to Mrs. Rodenwald at Oregon State college, Corvallis, or through any county extension agent.

ASHLAND GIRL WINS TRIP TO CHICAGO

Beth Joy of Ashland has been chosen the outstanding 4-H club girl of Oregon and winner of the free trip to the Tenth National Club Congress at Chicago November 27 to December 4, awarded each year by Montgomery Ward and company, according to word just received from the state club office at Oregon State college.

Miss Joy, who is 16 years old and has been a club member for the past seven years, was selected by a state committee from among six applicants whose records were submitted by county club leaders. She will be accompanied on the trip east by Alice Welbes of Portland, who was awarded a similar trip by the Chicago Mail Order house as winner of the style revue at the state fair.

She will compete in the national style revue, the winner of which will receive a trip to Paris.

Miss Joy's record shows more than 30 first prizes in important county, state and special contests during her club career, as well as many other placings. She has carried club projects in calf, cooking, canning, sewing, homemaking, and room improvement, and in addition has led clubs in several divisions of cooking, handwork, canning, and homemaking.

Oregon State News

The 10th Annual Umatilla County Potato Show was held recently at Weston.

The Scio Masonic Lodge has held its first meeting in the newly renovated hall.

The State Board of Control has called for bids on the installation of a 200-horsepower boiler in the heating plant at the Capitol building and the erection of a dwelling house at the State tuberculosis hospital.

WEEDS HELP SPREAD POTATO DISEASES

The fact that common weeds in Oregon potato fields are an important factor in spreading mosaic and other virus diseases of potatoes has been definitely established in experiments carried on at Oregon State college this year by T. B. Dykstra, plant pathologist with the United States department of agriculture.

Last year Mr. Dykstra began to suspect weeds as being responsible for some of the unexplained outbreaks of mosaic disease in potatoes, and succeeded in transmitting the disease by inoculations through some of the common weeds.

This year he set out to test his theory under conditions where insects common to potato fields would have opportunity to carry the virus. Two enclosed cages with 100 hills of disease-free potatoes in each were established and into these cages were put insects collected in the same potato field at the same time, half being put into one cage and half in the other.

In one cage weeds known to be infected with leaf roll were set out, and in the other one weeds infected with rugose mosaic were put with the potatoes. When the check-up was made at the end of the season it was found that a high percentage of the disease had developed in each, corresponding to the disease known to be carried by the weeds in that particular cage, demonstrating conclusively that the insects are perfectly capable of carrying these diseases from the weeds to the potatoes and vice-versa.

Weeds found so far to be ready carriers of these many mosaic diseases are two species of nightshades, two species of jimson weed, horse nettle and wild ground cherries. Pig weed will carry leaf roll and garden tomatoes are equal carriers with the nightshades, Mr. Dykstra's observations show.

This is considered one of the most important new developments in the fight against virus diseases in potatoes and will soon be published in detail in agricultural research journals. Mr. Dykstra has made public announcement of his findings in advance to enable growers to take note of what may prove a determining factor in their control of these diseases.

There will be a program and shadow pie social at 8:00 p.m. Friday, November 20, at the Cooper Mt. school. Come and bring a pie.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Bob Engelke, Scribe

Eleven boys were at the last meeting of November 6. The Scout Court of Honor was held Thursday November 5. Beaverton sent two scouts. They were Carl Beach and Lisle Walker. Carl Beach received his second-class pin and Lisle Walker received three first class merit badges. They were for good work in handicraft, pathfinding, and signaling. Carl Beach took James Miller and Robert Engelke with him.

The Scouts gave Mr. Phelps a present for his young son. It is a blue blanket. The Kiwanis are helping us with our cabin.

November 13 there were 12 scouts at meeting.

Carl Beach and Robert Engelke are tied for first in the contest. They both have 7 points.

CAR CRASHES INTO MASTER METER

Some one unable to keep the road passed along Front street last Wednesday evening. At the curve at the end of Welsh street his machine left the pavement and climbed up on the sidewalk along the open lots in front of the school house here.

On up the street near where Otto Erickson lives, it left the pavement again and crashed into the new box around the master meter, breaking the box up badly and breaking the wheel off the big valve right beside the meter. No report has come in indicating who the driver might be.

REV. O'NEIL REPORTS THEFT OF CAR

Rev. J. M. O'Neil had his auto stolen late Wednesday evening from the place where he had parked it in Portland. Portland police located the machine Thursday parked near the Sylvan schoolhouse.

PROHIBITION SHOW TO RUN AT BETHANY

"The Transgressor," a gripping prohibition motion picture which has been drawing large audiences in Oregon, as well as in all parts of the nation, will be shown in the German Baptist church of Bethany, on Sunday evening, November 22 at 7:30 o'clock.

"The Transgressor" is the life story of two men whose experiences are strangely interwoven from their chummy childhood days. The deadly effects of the legalized liquor traffic are clearly depicted in this story. The saloon, poverty, riches, comedy, tragedy, prohibition, bootleggers, crooked officials, good officials, traitors, and true American citizens all combine to hold the attention as one follows the life story of these two men.

The Rev. R. E. Close, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of Oregon, states that this is one of the latest and most interesting films of its kind ever produced. Mr. Close will deliver an address on "Prohibition and the Rising Generation."

There will be no admission charge and everyone is invited to attend. An offering will be taken to promote prohibition work in Oregon. Children are welcome but must be accompanied by and sit with their parents.

P-T WILL HAVE SPECIAL MEETING

The Parent-Teachers association are calling a special meeting for next Monday evening. Plans will be made to hold a benefit dance on New Years eve. The proceeds will go for the balance on the safety lanes and the band boys' uniforms. All members are urged to be present at this meeting.

Mrs. Eunice Murray and family moved to Portland last week.

Miss Mabel Richter and Mr. Gayford Wilson made a trip to Corvallis Saturday evening to visit with Alden and Homer Wilson.

MARKETING ASS'N. TO GRADE POTATOES

Potatoes are now being delivered to the Northern Highland Growers association warehouse in Portland. This organization has rented warehouse space and some of the growers, desiring to take advantage of the low storage charge are sending their crop in direct from the field. Other growers are putting their crop into their own storage as they dig and intend to run the potatoes over the grading table at home and deliver only the marketable tubers to the warehouse at Portland when the management of the association needs them to fill orders.

Nearly 400 acres of the 1931 crop have been contracted by the growers to be marketed through the organization. That the movement to put the crop handled by the association through one warehouse to insure a uniform peck of good quality is meeting with some favor is evidenced in the inquiry already being received for the hill grown Burbanks. Both seed and commercial table stock will be handled.

A turkey loading station is being established at McMinnville.

Thanksgiving Dinner

By BETTY BARCLAY

AGAIN we have cause for thanksgiving. True, times are not what they might be, but they are so much better in our country than elsewhere that we should be truly thankful.

Housewives will soon begin to plan this big Autumn meal. They know how to roast their turkey, goose or chicken and how to bake a pumpkin pie so that it will taste just right. Here are some recipes, however, that will turn an ordinary Thanksgiving Day dinner into a real banquet. Best of all they are the kind of balancing dishes most housewives are constantly looking for.

Thanksgiving Salad
(Serves 8)
Cranberry Jelly
Lettuce
4 to 5 oranges
Mayonnaise

Make cranberry jelly in individual molds. Chill. Turn out on salad plates, which have been covered with crisp lettuce leaves. Have oranges pared, with all membrane removed. Slice and cut slices in halves. Arrange a circle of orange around cranberry mold. Serve with mayonnaise.

Lemon Sherbet
(Makes about 1 1/2 quarts)
3 cups sugar
1 quart water
% cup lemon juice
2 egg whites

Boil sugar and water together for 5 minutes to make syrup. Add lemon juice, cool and freeze to a mush. Add stiffly beaten egg whites and flash freezing. This is an excellent accompaniment for the meat course of the Thanksgiving dinner.

Cranberry Dessert
1 junket tablet
1 tablespoon cold water
1 cup cranberry jelly or marmalade
1 pint milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Prepare the junket according to directions on package. Pour all once into individual dessert glasses and let stand undisturbed in a warm room until firm—about 19 minutes. Then chill. When ready to serve add cranberry jelly or marmalade to each dish. A topping of sweetened whipped cream may be put over the cranberries if desired.

And Then Coffee

A steaming cup of coffee with your dessert will help you to remember the things you have to be thankful for. Make your coffee a little stronger than usual today. You may be surprised to find you have made it a little better than usual also. Those who prefer it weak may easily dilute it, while the real coffee lovers will enjoy it full strength. Percolate your coffee, boil it, or use the drip method—as you prefer. If you boil it, and want a perfect brew, put the ground coffee into the water and bring to a boil. Immediately reduce the heat and let steep from three to five minutes—then serve.
