

Beaverton Review

Issued Every Friday at Beaverton Oregon

Entered as second class matter December 9, 1922, at the postoffice at Beaverton, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

J. H. Hulet, Business Manager

FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1932

Tips From A Stroller

The motto "In God We Trust" which is stamped on the American Dollar, has been in use for 68 years. Sulf a maxim has never been more sorely needed than at the present writing.

What we need is more assurance and less insurance.

Walter comes "Wincheloping" to Portland for his next Lucky Strike broadcast when he contracted for Al Gillette's Portlanders to go musical for next Tuesday night. This is a 100% radio band which will utilize much of the time now allotted to political "mud slingers", we hope.

"Italy favors cancellation of war debts"—Is that news? Many of us would appreciate a moratorium on living expenses anytime.

"Students in Bulgaria live on $5 per month"—the writer, while at school, lived on promises for a much longer period.

A small village in Macedonia pays 39% of its total income for taxes which leaves each inhabitant 3 dinars or something over 5 cents on which to live for the whole year. Maybe we aren't in such dire circumstances after all.

Hoover offers to work for $1 a year. Why not use the remaining $74.99 to put a "mountie" on the trail of the Lindbergh kidnapers and Virginia Brook's murderer?

The House recently passed a bill to repeat more than 1000 sections of revised statutes which are not obsolete. The average citizen might deem that too conservative an estimate of ineffective statutes.

Though lighter-than-air craft has been practically used since the World War, only 4 ships have crossed the American continent.

Ben Eastman, youthful Stanford athlete, continues his ruthless march upon middle-distance records. This lad's talent was not discovered until his last year in high school. If fewer of our young athletes were exploited, more might attain greatness.

The Belgrade National Museum reports the acquisition of 11,000 pieces of Roman money—somebody must have learned thrifty habits in his youth.

"There is no sentiment in business"—the veteran steamer Ventura will shortly be replaced by the partial ship Mariposa; nevertheless, the survivors of the ill fated Tahiti may shed a silent tear at the passing of the ancient vessel which rescued them from a watery grave.

Portland will open the 1932 baseball season at Vaughn St. this week. Despite unrest in political, financial, and military circles the public still allies to the national pastime.

Colonel Abernathy, who formerly thrilled the great hunter, Roosevelt, by catching wolves with his bare hands is going back to his old trade. He might gain employment from many families who are struggling to keep the wolf from the door.

According to Dr. Pitkin, noted psychologist of Columbia University no man beyond fifty should take part in public affairs. Germany is stepping out of line then, by reason of the re-election of Van Hinderberg as her leader.

Thus far spring has brought but little joy to my heart—I went to a ball game and received a rain check, tried to stage a track meet but the ducks stole the show; wore my spring suit, but much to my discomfort, found it wasn't pre-

BETTY BARCLAY'S HELPFUL HINTS

TURKISH COFFEE NEVER try coffee as they make it in Turkey? You've missed a treat if you haven't. Use pulverized coffee—freshly ground. While the water is boiling—a demi-tasse full for each person—measure a heaping teaspoon of coffee per cup and mix it with an equal measure of granulated sugar. When the water boils hard, add the coffee, and when it looks frothy remove it from the heat. After a moment or two, let it boil up again and repeat this still a third time. Then pour it thick and foamy into the cups and serve it at once. Any grounds which may be unduly large will be precipitated. Turkish coffee should not be served in cups larger than the demi-tasse. It is always served without cream.

Money to Burn

By Peter B. Kyne

STORY FROM THE START

Hiram Butterworth, miser, decides to leave his fortune to Elmer Clarke, a poor nephew. Butterworth tells Absalom McPeck, his lawyer, of a deal forty years ago in which he swindled a man out of $40,000 and arranges for payment with interest. Butterworth dies suddenly. Through a gossiping telegram operator the town of Pilarotos, including Nellie Calhoun, Elmer's sweetheart, learns of his inheritance before he does. Nellie tells Elmer it amounts to more than $1,000,000. They confess their love for each other. "Colorado Charley," and his partner, Mae, decide to elope with Nellie. Elmer sees more of the world before their marriage. Unknown to Elmer, she is heiress of the man Butterworth swindled. She figures that about $1,000,000 will be due her from the estate. Elmer becomes a candidate for school trustee. Acting as a newspaper reporter, named Doris Gatewood, Colorado Charley's confederate calls on Elmer. Nellie sees Doris and spots her as an adventuress. Elmer goes to Los Angeles and is welcomed by Doris and her "brother." Nellie takes steps to frustrate the crooks.

Thirteenth Installment

"Nothing like a little judicial prodding—nothing like a hint of opposition—nothing like an objective to be captured, to keep that boy busy," the girl said. "Well, anyhow, he didn't do to me about Doris Gatewood. He didn't apologize or explain or try to excuse himself—and that's a comfort."

True to his promise, Elmer saw little of Nellie during the period intervening before the school trustee election. He had a fight on his hands and he fought. The Sunday before the election he invited the entire high school district to a barbecue. During the barbecue he made the only public speech of his campaign. It was a rattling good speech and well delivered. As usually occurs when an untrained speaker warms to his subject, Elmer's oratory suddenly captivated Elmer. Almost before he realized it he had announced his intention of seeking the office of mayor of Pilarotos, as an independent candidate, at the November election.

When Elmer Clarke stepped down from the table upon which he had made his speech, he knew he had won. In fact, he was elected by a majority of nineteen votes, and took office at the next regular meeting of the board. Meanwhile the Pilarotos Clarion had increased its circulation by one. Colorado Charley had subscribed for three months, on the condition that the paper might be kept in touch with the activities of his intended victim. As a result of his foresight, Elmer received a telegram from Doris Gatewood on the morning of election day, wishing him a tremendous victory and making the prophecy that any other is sure would be impracticable.

Elmer thought it was both kind and considerate of her to do this; consequently an hour after the votes were counted he sent her a telegram thanking her and announcing his victory. Immediately she replied with slight delay suggesting that he owed himself a present and it ought to take the form of another visit to Los Angeles. With that suggestion Elmer was in entire accord. He told Nellie about it before he left and she agreed that he ought to go. When he told her he would probably see Doris Gatewood and her brother while there, she told him she hoped he would see the charming Miss Gatewood and that he might enjoy her society immensely. As a result of this conversation, Elmer departed not a little irritated. He would have preferred to have Nellie display opposition to his plan.

To say that Elmer enjoyed his vacation would, in these days of superlative slang, scarcely express the content of his enjoyment. Perhaps it would be better to state that he it up. He lunched and dined and fox-trotted in every worthwhile hotel, restaurant and road house in Los Angeles county, and then departed, accompanied by Colorado Charley and Doris Gatewood, for points farther south. They swam and played golf at Coronado, they lunched at delightfully wicked Tia Juana, and, at a bare suggestion from his guests, he ruined the paint on his new automobile in a wild dash across the Colorado desert to spend a week at the Grand canyon.

Quite early in the history of the junket Doris commenced calling him Elmer and insisted that if they were to be good pals he must call her Doris. He did—gratefully.

Presently she took to calling him dear and darling and old thing and old dear and silly boy and sundry other verbal evidences of insincerity. Elmer liked it. He "ate it up." In the gentle art of coquetry Doris Gatewood was a past master, and it is not to be marvelled at that he became hopelessly infatuated with her.

She flattered him, she dazzled him, she brought on a delicious pain in his heart, she filled him with the wonder of her. When he thought of Nellie Calhoun it was with a pang of shame and trepidation, but this trepidation gradually disappeared, absorbed by Elmer himself. Finding he could not think of Nellie without having his indescribable happiness clouded, he ceased to think of her at all, although he did send her a few picture postcards. She was not a memory of another life.

He Had a Fight on His Hands and He Fought.

Nevertheless old habits, particularly of loyalty, are hard to break. Elmer was more than the devoted friend and host, but not quite the lover. He wanted to be but lacked the courage. Doris realized this and created opportunity after opportunity for him to declare himself. She even went so far, on their way back to Los Angeles, when they traveled by night to avoid the heat of the day, as to pretend to sleep with her lovely head on his shoulder.

Elmer trembled a little, but that was all, so the lady took advantage of Colorado Charley's presence in the front seat with the driver to commence weeping softly; when Elmer asked her tenderly why she wept she told him it was because they had to part so soon. Thereupon she got her first real rise out of Elmer. He said: "Well, I don't know about that!" "There is something connected with driving a fast and powerful car through the night which promotes straight thinking, and so Elmer came to the conclusion that he was violently in love with two women at the same time; he had to choose one, he knew which one he wanted and he lacked the courage to choose her and jilt the other. He reflected bitterly that in the days of his poverty no such un-

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

CHURCH ANNOUNCEMENTS

St. Cecilia Church

Sunday Masses, 7:40 a. m., and 10:00 a. m. Sunday Christian Doctrine, 8:30 a. m., and 9:20 a. m.

Saturday Confession, 3:30 p. m., 4:30 p. m., 7:30 p. m., and 9:00 p. m. Weekday Mass, 8:20 a. m.

Nazarene Church

Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. Morning worship at 11:00 a. m. N. Y. P. S. at 6:30 p. m. Evening service at 7:30 p. m. Mid-week prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Kinton Church

W. E. Simpson, minister. Sunday services at the church will be as follows: Bible school at 10 o'clock in the morning with preaching service by the pastor. Rev. W. E. Simpson at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Everybody is cordially invited to be present at these services.

Methodist Church

Rev. L. C. Poor, Minister. Sunday school at 10:00 a. m. Preaching at 11:00 a. m. Worship service at 7:30 P. M. the minister in charge. Subject, "Adventures In Faith." Pictures of Hawaii. Ladies Aid Wednesday afternoon. Midweek services Wednesday at 8 p. m.

Bethel Church

Rev. Charles F. Clarke, Pastor. Sunday morning Mr. Clarke will take for his subject "Jesus goes into a house" Please note that the evening services will commence at 8 O'clock next Sunday and will continue at that hour during the summer. The topic will be "Elin Flame". Prayer meetings are held Wednesday nights at 8. The Bible School has classes in all departments and will welcome you and your children. Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday nights at 7 o'clock.

Church of Christ

G. W. Springer, Minister. The Sunday school Council met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers on Monday evening. Plans were made for a Mother's Day program. We are also planning a contest which should be very interesting. We will make further announcement as soon as the plan is completed. Next Sunday Brother Hiltman, the minister of the Pullsboro Church of Christ, will speak at both the morning and evening services.

Where To Go

BASEBALL BENEFIT DANCE A Benefit dance for the Beaverton Baseball club will be given at the Huber hall May 14, 1932. Good music will be furnished. Everyone is invited. Tickets, 25c. CANDIDATES MEETING There will be a candidates meeting in the Leedy Grange hall at Cedar Mill Tuesday, May 3rd, sponsored by the Tax League. WHITFORD CARD PARTY You and your friends are cordially invited to a card party Saturday evening, April 30th, at the Whitford school house. BASKET SOCIAL Leedy grange is sponsoring an old

LOCAL NEWS

If you expect to earn your living in a town, help the town earn its living, by buying your supplies at home.

Ronald Beattie will entertain several of his friends with a party Friday afternoon in honor of his 8th birthday. Ice cream and cake will be served for refreshments.

It was through the influence of Senator Steiwer, of Oregon, that the American Federation of Labor came out with a strong endorsement of a tariff on lumber.

Milton Erickson of Portland received cuts and bruises and Lillian Ludwig of Beaverton back injuries and body bruises Sunday night, when the car driven by Erickson collided with the car of Raymond Shearer, parked on Lombard street.

shrunken; made a garden, which some neighborly chickens are now using for a hunting ground. My dog accuses me of allowing my emotions to be influenced by the season comparable to youth—he is inclined to discredit that old adage "You can't teach an old dog new tricks." I retaliate with "There is nothing new under the sun." —Contributed

OREGON VOTER COMMENDS JOHNSON

The April 23 issue of the Oregon Voter gave considerable space to the qualifications of J. O. Johnson who is seeking the republican nomination for State Representative from Washington County. The Oregon Voter made the following statement in reference to his qualifications: J. O. Johnson, Tigard, who seeks republican nomination for representative from Washington County, if elected, would be the best technically informed man in the 1932 legislature on enforcement of the national prohibition laws.

But strange to say, notwithstanding his experience in this troublesome law-enforcement problem, Johnson makes no reference to prohibition in his platform. Many candidates for political nomination would not hesitate to emphasize any phase of their connection with prohibition enforcement. Johnson explains his position in this manner: I have avoided any reference to prohibition in my platform because I feel that problem should be handled by men who are not radical in either direction. I was in service long enough to learn that the problem is one which will always be before us for consideration regardless of changes that should and will be made. I am not a radical on the subject."

MICKIE, THE PRINTER'S DEVIL

Classified Advertising

Advertisements in this column 1 cent a word. Minimum charge 25c.

FOR SALE

For Sale—Old Newspapers, Generous bundle, 5c. Call Review office.

Milk contains all the food values so essential to a child's growth and development. If you will but phone 4525 our wagon will deliver daily at your home the very best of milk. Beaverton Sunrise Dairy, A. Camen-sind, proprietor. adv. c-39-1f

PIGS

Seven Weeks Old—O. I. C. pigs. No reasonable offer refused. Also brood sows. M. Balocco, one mile northwest of Jacktown school. adv. c191f

For Sale—Large, upright Whitney piano in fine condition with beautiful finish and good tone, $75.00. Also "Clark Jewel" four burner gas range with large oven and smaller broiler. Good condition, $25. Come and see these buys at

FOR COUNTY JUDGE

Donald T. Templeton

When the County Court, in keeping with its economy program, became the purchasing agent for all County departments, the savings thus made far exceeded the original estimates. This is but an example of the economies that have been introduced in the management of County affairs in the past year. A careful conservation of county funds is the surest, safest way in which to reduce taxes. Your vote for Donald T. TEMPLETON for County Judge will insure a continuance of this program.

fashioned basket social at their hall at Cedar Mill Saturday, April 30. Besides the cats, there will be a program. H. A. Kurall of Hillsboro will conduct the auction sale of the baskets. Adv c-21-22

Weed's Nursery on Canyon Road. adv. p21-22

For Sale—7-weeks old C. White, weaning pigs. C. Topich, Rt. 3, B. 453, Beaverton, on Frank Livermore place. p-22

For Sale—Cedar posts and telephone poles C. Topich, Rt. 3, B. 453, Beaverton on Frank Livermore place. p22

FOR RENT

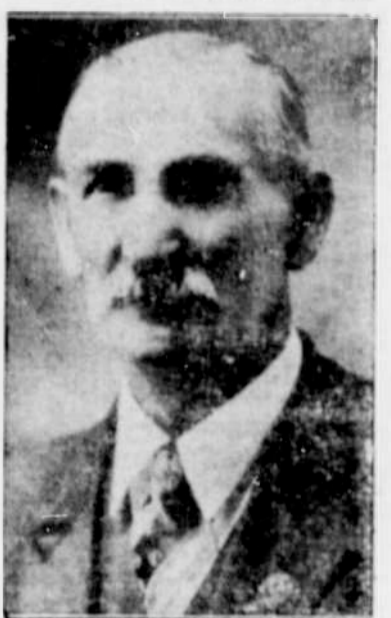

For Rent—21 acres garden, onion, celery, or horseradish land. Just north of Beaverton. Can be irrigated. Rosa Merlo, Rt. 2 Beaverton, one mile north of Huber. p22

WANTED

Wanted—Stock to pasture. Mrs. Donaldson. Two miles south of Beaverton Bank. p 21

Wanted—Cattle to pasture. Plenty water, salt and grass. Inquire at John Huber ranch. Rt. 3, Beaverton. J. W. Bryan. p-22

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

J. M. Hiatt

To the voters of Washington county: I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election to the office of county commissioner of Washington county at the Primary election to be held May 20, 1932. If I am elected, I will endeavor to continue the same careful, conservative, and faithful administration of the affairs of Washington county that has been my policy in the past. (Signed) J. M. Hiatt adv c19-24

MICHIGAN CLUB The Michigan club will hold their regular monthly party at Sunnyside hall, Portland, East Thirty-fourth street at Yamhill, Friday evening, May 13th.

Business Places To Patronize IN BEAVERTON!

F. W. BISHOP PLUMBING and HEATING Hardware, Paints Phone, 2003 Beaverton

W. E. PEGG UNDERTAKER and EMBALMER Grange Building — Beaverton.

HORSESHOEING GENERAL BLACKSMITHING at the old stand Corner Main and Front Streets Satisfaction guaranteed—Prices right J. A. STITT, PROP. BEAVERTON — OREGON

LAMPS EATS KAMBERGER'S CONFECTIONERY EATS CANDY

CRAZY CRYSTALS A Mineral Water Treatment Now Available in Beaverton GET A SAMPLE GLASS, FREE Office Upstairs In Telephone Bldg. Phone 6792

STUDIO BARBER SHOP FIRST CLASS WORK AT REASONABLE PRICES E. D. VanMeeter, Prop.

Beaverton Barber Shop C. J. STEVENS, PROPRIETOR SATISFACTION GUARANTEED

Meats and Groceries Holboke Bros.

MAPES & SON RESTAURANT SHORT ORDER MEALS Cigars, Tobaccos Confections, Soft Drinks Cady Bldg. — Watson St.

Phone 0411 JOE KEMMER For any Kind of Wood Limb Wood Cut to Order

An Unsuccessful Term

