Chicago Political Conventions Inspire these "Dishes of the Hour"

"Now is the time for all good cooks to come to the aid of one party!" No matter whether your political party displays the emblem of elephant or donkey, your social kind of party will be amusing if you observe the conventions—meaning by conventions, not traditions but the kind they are holding in Chicago during June!

Dinner committees of clubs and organizations in search of novel ideas will find they win popularity votes when they serve menus so timely and new, and present "stump speeches" and straw ballots for entertainment.

Private hostesses are sure of gaiety when they have "conventional" parties. And, even though your interest in things political is only lukewarm, you will still find each of these dishes-of-the-hour satisfactory for its own good sake.

The major candidates and issues are honored in the menu and recipes given here, and you need only use your perception to discover the food dedicated to your own favorite.

- Conventional Menu
- New York Clam Broth
- Texas Pimiento Canopes
- Plank Steak
- Straw Voties (Julienne Potatoes)
- Chicken a la Maryland with White House Potatoes
- Farm Relief Vegetables
- Prosperity Muffins
- Split-Ticket Rolls
- California Orange Salad
- Texas Fig Salad
- Election Cake and Favorite Son-doe
- Cabinet Pudding
- Candi-dates
- Legal Beverage
- New York Clam Broth

cream to which has been added finely chopped pimiento and salt. 1 pint clam broth, 1/4 cup cream, 1 2-oz. jar pimientos and 1/4 teaspoon salt serves 4.

White House Potatoes

To well-seasoned mashed potatoes add egg yolks or whole eggs, slightly beaten, and canned pimientos, finely chopped. Pile lightly in a casserole and place in hot oven to reheat (about 10 minutes).

Split-Ticket Rolls

2 cups flour
4 tps. baking powder
1/2 tsp. salt
4 tbsps. fat
1/2 cup milk or water
1/2 pkg. orange peel
3 tbsps. butter
5 tbsps. brown sugar

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in the 4 tablespoons fat and add liquid slowly to make a soft dough. Pat out on a floured board and roll to about 1/4 inch thickness. Cream butter and brown sugar together. Spread lightly over the dough. Sprinkle with the ready-sliced, candied orange peel. Roll like a jelly roll. Cut in 1 inch pieces. Stand these on a well buttered pan and bake in a hot oven (450° F.) for 10 minutes. 24 rolls.

California Orange Salad

1 pkg. orange gelatine
1 cup boiling water
3 tbsps. lemon juice
1/2 cup cold water
1 seedless orange
1/2 cup diced celery
1/2 pkg. pasteurized dates
Dissolve gelatine in boiling water; add lemon juice and cold water; chill until mixture shows signs of jelling. Stir in orange sections cut in halves, the half cup of sliced dates and the celery. Pour into individual molds; chill until firm. Unmold; serve with mayonnaise. 5t o 6 servings.

Favorite Son-doe

Roll balls of firm ice cream in shredded coconut. Use two for each serving. Place in glass dish, pour on crushed fruit and sprinkle top with additional coconut.

Candi-dates

Stuff pitted pasteurized dates with a preferred stuffing, or with salted nutmeats, and sugar lightly by shaking in a paper bag with granulated sugar.

A Tribute to Oregon

Bruce Barton, author of "The Man Nobody Knows," has written this tribute to Oregon for the "Parade of the States" Monday night program of the General Motors Corporation, part of an educational plan to make the country as a whole better acquainted with the individual states—their history, scenic beauty, industries and people.

OREGON, what brave memories you bring us! Memories of Captain Gray who rounded the Cape in the 1790's, to claim the "River of the West" and its borderlands for the Stars and Stripes, of Dr. John McLoughlin, empire builder of the Hudson's Bay Company; of the dauntless missionaries who first opened America's eyes to their little known Paradise at her western doorway. Here Astoria recalls John Jacob Astor's traders and trappers, and a monument at Seaside marks the spot where Lewis and Clark saw the sea.

You are a worthy workman, Oregon—busy packing salmon, weaving textiles, making paper, building ships, delving for the earth's stores of gold and silver, copper and lead.

You are a mighty farmer—raising fat cattle and thick-wooled sheep and record-breaking hens, shipping wheat and potatoes, picking apples and pears and prunes, garnering walnuts and filberts for the tables of the nation.

You are a sportsman. Winter long or summer long, one may ski and one may swim, one may golf or scale mountains. Bear and deer and cougar match wits with the hunter, and there's always a thrill for the fisherman.

Clean, vigorous, prosperous are your cities. Portland is a world port a hundred miles inland, our largest lumber center. Here roses bloom at Christmas time as roses bloom in June. The capitol stands in Salem, the State College in Corvallis, the State University in Eugene. On a lofty shaft at the top of Astoria's Coxcomb Hill, pioneer days live forever in immortal stone.

Here engineers have carved, from hundreds of miles of living rock, the matchless Columbia River Highway, that you may drive along the base of sculptured cliffs, glimpse Multnomah Falls and hundreds of other cascades, and follow the river through the rugged Columbia Gorge. Here snowcapped Mount Hood looks down serene on a sea of ice-capped peaks. And here, its perfect blue a mile nearer the sky than the waters of the sea, is the loveliest of all enchanted mirrors, Crater Lake.

Go to Oregon now, for Rose Festival Week in Portland. Go in September for the Pendleton Round-Up, when the old West lives anew. Linger long in Oregon's tonic air, drink deep of the magic of the Skyline Trail—vistas of lakes and glaciers and forests and streams. Portland is a world port a hundred miles inland, our largest lumber center. Here roses bloom at Christmas time as roses bloom in June.
