Summer Breakfasts

By MOLLIE MARTIN

THE summer breakfast is a very important meal — particularly for children. Too much heavy food must not be eaten in hot weather, but on the other hand rumping children need considerable nourishment to carry them through a strenuous vacation morning of play.

Light nourishing foods and drinks are in order. Fruit, breakfast food, toast, and a cereal beverage made with whole milk is a suggested menu. If the children will eat a small portion of bacon or eggs, let them have it—for appetite is a good gauge of need.

With such foods, little bodies are well fortified. The children—even those who refuse to drink plain milk—secure milk from their cereal beverage. This beverage may be obtained at any store—in package form for boiling or percolating, or the instant variety that may be made quickly by using one teaspoon to a cup of hot milk. Try these recipes:

Boiled Method

Place 6 level tablespoons of the packaged cereal beverage product in a tall pot and add 4 cups cold water. Heat to boiling point and boil steadily for 20 minutes. Add dash of cold water and let stand a moment to settle. Serve with cream and sugar if desired. Serves 4. A large package will make approximately 25 cups.

Children's Breakfast Beverage

Make it extra strength, using 6 level tablespoons packaged product to 3 cups cold water. Boil or percolate steadily 20 minutes. If boiled, add dash of cold water and let stand a moment to settle. Have ready pot of hot milk. To serve, pour cereal beverage and milk together into cup in equal amounts. Sweeten if desired. Serves 4.

Iced Coffee Now In Vogue

As a nation of coffee drinkers, we welcome the present vogue which calls for iced coffee with afternoon luncheons and before-bed bites, when the mercury is far too high for a hot beverage.

Not only is such a drink delicious, cooling, and satisfying, but it is an economical drink to prepare, and because of its sugar and cream content it has a food value higher than many a tasty bite we have been accustomed to for years. A cup of plain iced coffee, properly made, will furnish from 80 to 100 calories. When the de luxe variety is served, the caloric value is far greater. Try this recipe for Iced Coffee de Luxe when next you entertain on a hot day or evening and see how pleased your guests will be.

Iced Coffee de Luxe

Arrange on a tray a pitcher containing ice cold coffee, grade double strength, a bowl of vanilla ice cream, tall glasses, and a shaker. Place one cup of the coffee and two tablespoons of the ice cream in the shaker and shake vigorously until well blended. Pour quickly into a glass. Repeat for each guest to be served.

ON OREGON FARMS

Eugene—The Lane County Agricultural council which represents organized farming here has definitely accepted the request of the county court and Red Cross to assist in the local relief garden and food preservation plan. A comprehensive program has been worked out which brings into close cooperation the extension service forces the county court Red Cross and other agencies to effect the preservation of sufficient food to maintain at least the minimum standard during the six months non-producing period.

Pendleton—A movement to establish actual pasture grass demonstration plantings in dairy regions of this county has grown out of recent meetings held by County Agent W. A. Holt and Roger W. Morse extension dairyman. Plantings of sweet clover, ladino clover, meadow fescue and orchard grass are planned. One planting of sudan grass has already been arranged. Importance of pastures in lower production costs was emphasized by the dairymen.

First Boarder—Would you pass the chicken?

Second Boarder (absently eyeing the waitress)—Not if she gave me a little encouragement.

Camp at Hillockburn, in the Mt. Hood National forest, returned Monday afternoon and report a very pleasant and profitable time spent there.

IN OREGON HOMES

Corvallis—An eight-page leaflet giving directions and time tables for home canning has just been released from the home economics division of the college extension service. It contains detailed instructions for canning various vegetables meats (including poultry and fish) and fruits together with explicit time tables for use with the pressure cooker and hot water bath. This leaflet is a reprint of a portion of Ext. Bul 450 "Home Food Preservation" soon to be issued. The leaflet may be obtained upon request from any county extension office or by writing Clari-bel Nye state leader of home economics extension at Corvallis.

Scappoose—Women of the home extension unit in Scappoose recently sponsored a ways and means meeting for opening a school cafeteria in the grade school next fall. Representatives of various women's organizations of the town were present. Mrs. Ada Mayne nutrition director of the Oregon Council outlined possible plans for this project.

Stanfield—"I use newspapers on my table when cleaning vegetables or bowls of any kind thus saving the time of having to clean the table top," writes a Umatilla county homemaker who believes in planning "short cuts" in her housework.
