

Real Indians Are Present At Round-Up

Their Life After the Annual Celebration is Almost Like the white man's

MANY FARM LAND

Indians Refuse to Live in a House where Death Has Occurred

What becomes of the Indians when the Pendleton Round-Up is over?

This is a frequent inquiry of strangers visiting the famous classic, and will be asked again this year when the Round-Up takes place September 8, 9 and 10.

The uninitiated, seeing the 2000 and more Indian men and women in full war regalia and costly beaded dresses, believe this to be their yearly habitation and that they live in teepees the year 'round.

This is a pleasant illusion which would be quickly dispelled were the stranger to remain in Pendleton after the close of the exhibition.

For when the crowds have departed and the dust settled in the arena the Indian men and women appear in the same garb as their white neighbors. The one exception is the shawl worn by the women. The older generation would not think of appearing in public with their shoulders uncovered, even though an American dress shields them to the neck. It is a tribal tradition.

These rich garments seen at the Round-Up are legacies of generations. They are hoarded carefully and used only for the Round-Up or some mysterious ceremonial whose portent is known only to the Indians.

And, to dispell another illusion, when their teepees of elk hide and other skins which house them on the Round-Up grounds are dismantled, the Indians return to quite modern homes on the Umatilla reservation just a few miles from Pendleton.

Here their life progresses much as a white man's. The head of each Indian family is allotted 160 acres of land by the government, each son and daughter 80 acres, and the new arrivals in the family smaller tracts. They are entitled to develop this land in any way they choose, many raising wheat and corn or engaging in some other agricultural pursuit.

However, should the Indian prefer the more idyllic life of his ancestor, he can lease his land to the white man who plants it to grain. These leases are supervised by the government's Indian representative who lives on the reservation, Major Omar Babcock. The price varies with the quality of the soil and other agricultural considerations. The money is paid yearly and the Indian is free to use it as he deems fit.

There is a provision in the leases, however, that stipulates the Indian shall retain a small parcel of land on which to live and that the white lessee shall provide the Indian with as many houses as he desires.

This last phrase is in consideration of an ancient Indian tradition. For should some one die in the house, the Indian and all his family forsake its shelter and move into teepees. It is the Indian belief that a house in which death has occurred is beset by evil spirits and that to abide with them means disaster.

Hence, should any member of the family of Indians die during the lessee's tenancy, he is obliged, by terms of the lease to build him a new house. It doesn't matter if the house is a day old, when death enters the Indian flees its portals.

DAHL VISITS AT THE REVIEW OFFICE

Henry Dahl, Superintendent of the West Slope Water district called at the Review office early this week to urge us to support a measure looking towards getting Bull Run Water for Beaverton. The West Slope district is planning on running a pipe line over the Sylvan route to connect direct with the Portland mains instead of getting their water over Portland Heights as they now do. A slightly larger pipe line would probably take care of both Beaverton and West Slope is his suggestion.

MRS. LAURA MACK ENTERTAINS WRITER

Mrs. Laura Mack has been entertaining at her home Miss McKnight, a well known writer.

Thursday evening a number of friends listened to Miss McKnight, who told of her travels abroad and conditions in the East.

She is a personal friend of Gov. and Mrs. Roosevelt, and told them of their home life and interests.

LETTERS

From Our Readers

To the Editor, Beaverton Review, Beaverton, Oregon.
Dear Mr. Hulet:

In reference to the letter from Ear & Cunningham, to the Mayor and City Council, of the city of Beaverton commenting on the advisability of the city of Beaverton drilling a well for its water supply, this letter appeared under date of August 6th.

I would like to state in reply that their report is misleading and unfair: First, that they are reporting on two districts, the Rockwood district near Gresham, and the Canby district. In regard to the Rockwood well, they certainly have been misinformed for I have taken the matter up with the superintendent of the Rockwood district, a Mr. Blockson, and he informed me that they have fine water which tests A No. 1. I personally know quite a number of people, who live in the Gresham district, and have never heard a single complaint in regard to the water.

As for the Canby district, that city has two wells; one where the water has to be treated, but the other one is O.K. While Ear & Cunningham refer only to these two districts, I would be pleased to refer you to a hundred or more city and domestic wells that have a supply of good water. Secondly they state that the chances are three to one against the city securing a supply of good water. I am sure that the Rockwood and Canby wells must have passed the test of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, and the laws of the State of Oregon pertaining to water used for domestic purposes and human consumption, since they are being used at the present time.

I have just completed a 182 ft. well for the Ray-Mailing Company at Hillsboro, Oregon, with a capacity of 150 GPM which is chemically pure and free from any objectionable mineral content. I have drilled a great number of wells, in and around Beaverton district which are proving very satisfactory. Why then, is Beaverton taking such a big chance?

Third, they also state that it now develops, the drillers are not willing to assume the risk or guarantee a satisfactory supply of water. This is absolutely untrue, because my company has at all times been willing to go through with our original proposition, and under our present contract with the city we are practically guaranteeing them 150 GPM.

Fourth, they refer to the hourly basis as being very unsatisfactory. In our hourly basis work, we deem it the same as going out and hiring a man and truck by the hour, to do any work you wish to have done. I claim, if such a man has good equipment, comes well recommended, and guarantees absolute satisfaction as to the time put in, and allows me to be sole judge of what was fair in regard to the time put in, I would not be afraid of an hourly basis contract. And no one else should be afraid of any trouble if they intend to treat the other party fair. Furthermore my company has drilled many wells and made numerous test borings for the Government, the State and Multnomah County on this basis. I would be pleased to refer anyone to the men in charge of these projects as to the satisfaction given. Lastly, I have been in the drilling business for about twenty-five years, a large part of which has been spent in the Tualatin valley, and am operating at the present time ten drilling machines, both large and small. It would seem that I should possess qualifications to pass upon the feasibility of an adequate water supply in this district.

Thanking you in advance for the space and courtesy afforded me, I am,

Yours very truly,
A. M. Jannsen

Beaverton Review, Beaverton, Ore. Gentlemen:
Durham (Tigard) Liberty Club, held its sixth meeting, August tenth, in the Durham school house. The room was crowded. Many new faces were observed. Jack Burles, one of the young members, was the orator of the evening.

All members were urged to attend the preliminary State Convention of the Liberty Party to be held in Harmony Hall, Portland, Oregon the evening of August 11. The first convention of the Liberty Party in Oregon will be held in Portland Thursday evening, August 25, 1932.

There is only one issue in this coming election and that is Money. The first two articles in the platform of the Liberty Party are as follows:

1. We are opposed to usury, as that takes money out of circulation as a medium of exchange and hoards it in the possession of money lenders who do not permit it to go into circulation until interest is paid for it, which, if permitted to continue ultimately despoils the people.

Double Marriage Ceremony Performed

W. Wilson Marries Mrs. Hansen; His Son Marries Miss Hanson

MARRIED, VANCOUVER

Friends Give Newly-Wedded Couples A Surprise Party

The many friends and neighbors of Warren Wilson and son Edwood Wilson, were given quite a surprise when they learned that they participated in a double wedding ceremony which was performed last Wednesday afternoon in Vancouver, Wash., by Rev. F. J. Cope of the Friends' church of Lenta.

On that occasion Mrs. Eva R. Hansen of Beaverton became the wife of Warren Wilson and Mrs. Hansen's daughter, Miss Eva Roberta Hansen, the wife of Edwood Wilson.

Following the ceremony they immediately drove to Mr. Wilson's home on Pleasant Valley road where Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wilson will make their home. Mr. and Mrs. Edwood Wilson will make their home in a cottage in the Mountain Home district.

Their friends in his community extend most hearty congratulations to both families and wish them much happiness along life's pathway. Many nice and useful gifts were received by both families.

Thursday evening about 120 walked in on the newly married couples and a most pleasant evening was spent, there being an abundance of ice cream and cake. The serenaders left for their homes at a late hour.

ALOHA H. E. C. HEARS
VARIOUS REPORTS

The Home Economics Club of Aloha Grange met at the home of Mrs. A. J. Vance, Wednesday, August 17. The business meeting was held in the beautiful outdoor living room, and all the members were inspired by this example of lovely landscaping.

Reports of the various committees show most gratifying results in the efforts to raise money for the furnishing of the new community kitchen and dining room. The bridge committee, Mrs. Vance and Mrs. King, made a splendid report. Mrs. Frost reported $13.10 made on the friendship quilt, which goes to Mrs. Welsh.

The basket food sale is still in progress and plans were made for future projects. Mrs. Vance's refreshments and hospitality were greatly enjoyed.

AN APPRECIATION

The committee on the Aloha Grange benefit entertainment wish to thank the Beaverton Review for the publicity and advertisement which they so kindly donated.

A new Cooperative Creamery is to be established in Sheridan in the building vacated by McIntyre's Tire Shop.

COURT HOUSE ITEMS

ARRESTS

Verne Snyder: Using an automobile without owner's permission.

Ralph Simpson and James Lane: game violation. They were given $100 and 90 days in jail.

Henry Wendt: assault and battery. He plead guilty and was fined $10.

John Capri: non support.

Paul R. Jamison: threatening to commit a felony.

CIRCUIT COURT

Oregon Poultry Farms, Inc. vs. W. C. Holland and H. S. Huntly: action for injunction.

Beulah M. Stockton vs. V. Claire Stockton: divorce married in Salem in 1929. She charges cruel and inhuman treatment.

Anna Seiges vs. John F. Knapp: mortgage foreclosure.

S. M. Reagan vs. W. H. Campbell et al. mortgage foreclosure.

Mark F. Cox vs. A. B. Thomas: mortgage foreclosure.

PROBATE COURT

Thomas Tell Huntly, aged 26 years, died intestate, leaving a war veteran's insurance policy with a value of about $1800. Petition to the court to appoint Mrs. Helen Huntly Williamson as administratrix.

Petition to appoint F. H. Sholes guardian of Adam and Augusta Roemhold, aged 90 and 84 years and who have an estate worth about $5000.00 and on account of their advanced years are not capable of looking after themselves.

Petition to probate the last will and testament of Mary Dunwald, deceased who died while on a visit with relatives in Canada.

Orders Signed by Judge Bagley

The sale of property confirmed and approved in the suit of Tillamook Co. Creamery Association vs. O. H. Peterson.

Ingrald Olsen vs. O. D. and Harold Glover: dismissed without costs to either party.

Sale of property confirmed and approved in the suit between May and Margaret Cook vs. O. H. Peterson et al.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

Alton Gabriel of Milwaukie, Ore and Lola Lee Jacobs of Cornelius Oregon. Married by Rev. Herbert A. Deck on the 12th of August.

Adrian Powers of Forest Grove, Oregon and Mrs. Elda Amanda Holland, also of Forest Grove.

Lester V. Lacky of Hillsboro and Marie A. Hansen of Hillsboro. Ore. Ret. 2.

Fred H. Haniel of Orenco, Oregon and Ruth F. Goodman also of Orenco. Married by Rev. Thomas C. Duncan on the 12th of Aug.

"LOYAL SCOUTS" GO ON ANNUAL HIKE

The "Loyal Scouts," organized class of boys, Kinton Sunday school went on their annual hike Friday evening, their destination being Elmer's park. They slept out in the open Friday and Saturday nights, returning to their respective homes Sunday evening. The class is made up as follows: E. L. Cox, teacher; members, William and Eugene Van Kleeck, Amos and Ivan Bierly, Virgil McCormick, James Richards, Glenn Pringle, Orville Peterson and Everett Metzentine.

The "Loyal Scouts," organized class of boys, Kinton Sunday school went on their annual hike Friday evening, their destination being Elmer's park. They slept out in the open Friday and Saturday nights, returning to their respective homes Sunday evening. The class is made up as follows: E. L. Cox, teacher; members, William and Eugene Van Kleeck, Amos and Ivan Bierly, Virgil McCormick, James Richards, Glenn Pringle, Orville Peterson and Everett Metzentine.

The "Loyal Scouts," organized class of boys, Kinton Sunday school went on their annual hike Friday evening, their destination being Elmer's park. They slept out in the open Friday and Saturday nights, returning to their respective homes Sunday evening. The class is made up as follows: E. L. Cox, teacher; members, William and Eugene Van Kleeck, Amos and Ivan Bierly, Virgil McCormick, James Richards, Glenn Pringle, Orville Peterson and Everett Metzentine.

A CORRECTION

The dropping of a zero in a comment on the letter received by Mrs. Richey from R. R. Easter gave quite a wrong impression. The sentence should have read, "For May and June, under the old contract, per month $110.60 and under the new, $90.50." These figures should show the annual savings as stated.

Two Barns Burn
On The Same Day

Fire at the George Miller Place, in the Morning, Starts in Barn

LIVESTOCK IS SAVED

Henry Metzentine's Barn and Granary Are Both Destroyed

Two fires started near Beaverton Tuesday. One was on the old Geo. Miller place and one was the Henry Metzentine place.

While the Gassner-Kemmer threshing outfit was thrashing for Tom Young on the old Geo. Miller place Tuesday near Hazeldale fire broke out suddenly in the barn and soon consumed the hay and its entire content of hay and grain. The separator of the threshing was also burned. The tractor however was saved, but the man who was saving it was quite severely burned while helping to get the tractor out of the barn. There was no live stock in the barn, as they had just been turned out to pasture.

Tuesday afternoon while the Roy Bacon threshing outfit was thrashing for Henry Metzentine on the Scholls road, fire broke out in the loose straw and spread with lightning-like rapidity to the barn and granary which were soon reduced to a total loss. There was no insurance on the buildings. Some of the newly threshed grain was saved, about 1500 bushels oats.

Both the Beaverton and Hillsboro fire departments were called, and with the assistance of the neighbors succeeded in getting the machinery out of the barn but all the hay, straw and about 400 bushels of oats were burned. The granary also burned but the house was saved. For a time the fire threatened to burn the Chas. VanKleeck buildings across the road, but it was finally subdued.

MODERN WOODMEN
TO HOLD BIG PICNIC

All Modern Woodmen, their families and friends are invited to attend a big zone picnic on Sunday, August 21st at Laurelhurst Park, Portland about 12 o'clock.

Laurelhurst Park is located at East 39th and Ankeny streets. There are beautiful shady spots, play grounds for the children, and ample space for field meet sports.

Coffee, cream and sugar will be furnished. Just tuck a lunch in the old family basket, then come out and have a happy day.

Albert T. Kemmer is chairman of the picnic committee.

REPORT ON COST OF HIGH SCHOOLS MADE

A report from the office of the County Superintendent of Schools over O. B. Kraus' name has just been received and as they teach us in business colleges, contents noted. And in those contents are some interesting figures.

This is a report of high school transportation and tuition costs for the school years, ending in 1931 and 1932.

Taking the tuition cost per student for 1931, when Beaverton received some quite unfavorable publicity from some of Washington County's leading publications which claimed unfairly that Beaverton had not cut her school costs. Let us see, the tuition cost per student in four high schools in Washington county exceeded Beaverton's costs, $112.06. The average throughout the county was $119.48, and Hillsboro's cost for 1931 per student was $120.70 and Tualatin holding high place at $161.73.

During the same year, Beaverton's transportation cost per student was $44.92 with an average throughout the county of $66.97, Hillsboro, $69.20 and high cost at Banks of $111.40. Only in one instance during that year was transportation costs held so low, Forest Grove, serving a very restricted territory, one bus, $28.00 while Beaverton went ten or more miles to bring students in to school.

Now let us glance at 1932 figures. Tuition cost per student at Beaverton, $85.93, less than all our two high schools in the county the average in the county is $111.60 and the highest is Verboort with $165.54 costs per pupil.

Transportation costs show Beaverton paying $43.23, lower than any other but one, and that one bringing students from only very limited distances. Of course you can transport two miles for less than you can ten miles.

POMONA MASTER VISITS
ITS LOCAL GRANGE

Beaverton Grange No. 324 met Saturday August 13 and was glad to welcome as visitors during the morning session, Washington Co. Pomona Master W. R. Root, Mrs. Josephine Root and Miss Neva Root from Tigard Grange, Mary R. Gebhardt and Mary E. Paquet from Evening Star Grange; Mr. Harvey G. Starkweather from Milwaukie Grange.

Report from Pomona Grange was made and remarks from the visitors were much enjoyed. Our able Pomona Master Root gave a few timely instructions and words of advice. Washington County will be sorry to lose Mr. Root as master at the close of the year. He has recently become a resident of Yamhill County.

After a bountiful luncheon at noon the Grange reconvened again at two o'clock in open session. Following the penny march the lecturer opened the program with a song by the Grange, "Help It On". Delores and Mary Alice Tuttle sang two numbers by Carrie Jacobs Bond. A health play was rendered by Mrs. John Felcher and Mrs. Carl Hansen as housewives and Mrs. Ruby Boyd as the grocer. Mrs. S. E. Lawrence and Miss Genevieve Carter sang a duet, "The Mellow Horn" by Jones. Mr. Harvey Starkweather gave a very interesting talk on "The Depression: Its Cause and Its Cure." He advocated the income tax, of which the Grange is the author. Mr. H. R. Richards of Russellville Grange representing the Allied Truck Co. spoke briefly on the "Freight, Truck and Bus Bill." The program closed with a song, "No Time Like the Present." A number of visitors were present for the program and are cordially invited to come again.

On September 10 Beaverton Grange will observe Home Coming. The members will respond to Roll Call with "When I joined the Grange and who the officers were." All members are urged to attend this meeting. The afternoon session is open to the public and all former members are urged to attend whether or not they have retained their membership with the order. Silver Star certificates will be awarded to those of Beaverton Grange whose membership extends over a period of twenty-five years or more.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was put on by the committee. It consisted of the making of a moving picture, the title of which was "Uncle Tom's Cabin". Andrew Denholm was cameraman and director of the play. Mr. Foster acted the part of Uncle Tom; Mrs. Foster, Eliza; Florence Drorbaugh, little Eva and Robert Chamberlain, Simon Legree. Even the bloodhound was in evidence. The play was well directed and the characters acted their parts well. After the program, an retired to the dining room where ice cold watermelon was served.

A large crowd attended the Rebekah meeting Tuesday night. After lodge a program was