Grade School Active After The Holidays

All The Classes Are Now Working On A Number Of Different Projects

TEAM WINS CONTEST

The Upper Grades Try Their Hands At Sculpturing With Soap

Among the various activities of grade school classes that were resumed after the Holiday vacation are the following.

First grade children are studying the Eskimo and his land. They have an Eskimo village in their sand table, made of igloos, polar bears, walrus, seal, dog sleds and Eskimos of all sizes. The book of "The Eskimo Twins" is being read and discussed. The children are much interested in the adventures of Merie and Monnie, who seem to enjoy life as much in their land as we do in ours.

Every boy and girl in the first grade reported for work after the holidays, and had three days of perfect attendance the first week.

Both sixth and seventh grades are beginning a spelling contest. The captains are Lillian Jacobs and Loris Bixby in the sixth, and Shigenari Nagae and Barbara Wildman in the seventh grade. The sixth grade is now reviewing Oregon History in preparation of the final test.

Calendars have been an interest-project for the second grade children to make. This is the first time the numbering has been done by the children themselves.

Everyone in the room is trying to get 100% papers on the arithmetic bulletin board.

Naoma Smith brought a set of circus parade stamps to use in the classroom.

Charts showing the sources and development of clothing have been made by the third grade geography class. This class has also made an Eskimo freeze as a January art problem.

PORTLAND SYMPHONY TO PLAY DVORAK

The concert announced by the Portland Symphony Orchestra for Monday evening, January 16, holds special interest for two reasons. The first is that Edouard Burdumana, violinist, will be the soloist playing Dvorak's Violin Concerto, and second, the latter half of the program will be devoted entirely to Wagner.

Bethoven has been chosen to open the concert. Promptly at 8:30 p. m. the audience will hear the strains of his Overture to "Coriolanus." Those who have never heard this Beethoven work have new musical thrills in store, while others will have an opportunity to enjoy beauty. It is based upon the legendary Roman hero who was the subject of Shakespeare's play.

Hurlimann's appearance as soloist is one of the main attractions of the season. He is concert master with the orchestra and has made several concert tours throughout the northwest. His performance of the Dvorak concerto is greatly anticipated and will be the first Dvorak work on any program this season.

The second part of the concert will be a fine treat for all lovers of Wagner. Willem van Hoogstraen conductor has arranged the following numbers: Prelude and Love-death ("Tristan and Isolde"); "Forest Murmurs" ("Siegfried"); "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" ("The Twilight of the Gods"); and Wotan's Farewell and Magic Fire ("The Valkyries").

Another month will bring the close of the Symphony Orchestra season which opened in November. Two more Monday night concerts will remain after the January 16 program. They are Sunday afternoons; January 22 and February 5; Monday evenings, January 30 and February 13. Reservations for any concert may be made through the Symphony office, J. K. Gill company, Portland.

LADIES' AID HOLD A MISSIONARY MEET

The Bethel Ladies Aid met Thursday morning for its regular Missionary Study class which was led by Mrs. M. C. McKercher who gave a chapter from the book, "The Living Issues in China." Mrs. L. D. Shellenberger had charge of the devotional services. There were 21 ladies present. After the pot-luck lunch at 1 o'clock the annual election of officers was held.

Mrs. L. D. Shellenberger was re-elected president; Mrs. George Taylor, Vice president and chairman of the Missionary committee; Mrs. A. E. Olson, Secretary; Mrs. F. J. Feldner, Treasurer; and Mrs. R. B. Denney was appointed chairman of the flower committee.

The ladies are planning to hold a cooked food sale on Jan. 28.

C. W. Craig of Raleigh and formerly manager at Lipman, Wolfe and Co. of Portland has accepted a position in Los Angeles as a department store manager. He left for his new position, Wednesday evening. Mrs. Craig will follow later. The many friends of Mr. Craig wish him success in his new location.

The fifth grade is visiting the Central states in their journey geography. They have also begun the multiplication of fractions this week. Row one is winning the airplane race in spelling.

A race is going on between the milk bottle and the coffee pot in Room 4. Those pupils who drink milk every day and who drink neither tea nor coffee will place their names in a milk bottle. The names of those who drink coffee or tea will be placed in the coffee pot. The contest will end when all names are in the milk bottle.

Wanda Lee Rands returned to school here after attending school in Fruitland, Idaho.

Mrs. McMinn visited school Friday afternoon.

The grade school basketball team won its first game of the season Monday, from Helvetia whom they defeated 12 to 6.

Soap sculptures is the present problem of the fifth, sixth and seventh art classes. Soap is carved into original designs by the students and may then be colored, if desired.

Eight grade students are making large water color panels of medieval castles. A variety of very pleasing color arrangements has been developed. The completed panels will be displayed in room 8 next week.

Beaver Chapter No. 106 held its first meeting of the new year Wednesday evening with a good attendance. The program which had been planned had to be unavoidably postponed. The next meeting will be on Jan. 25, with the 1932 officers as honor guests. The Chapter voted to give $50 to the Beaverton relief.

Linnton 4-H Club Girl Wins Many Prizes

Girl Wins Prizes Totalling More Than $50 During The Year Just Past

FINISHES PROJECTS

Miss Dieterich Competes In All Of Oregon's 4-H Club Contests

Miss Francis Dietrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Dietrich of Linnton, Oregon and a member of the Rock Creek club has been named champion club girl in Holstein club work of Oregon. She is now entered in national competition.

During the last year she won prizes totaling over $50. At the county fair she won first on her junior yearling heifer and third in the showmanship contest. She was also a member of the winning judging team and also on the demonstration team with Carl Jossy of Portland, Route 2 which placed second.

At the State fair she won first on her calf, giving her a scholarship to the 4-H club summer school at Corvallis next June.

She also won fourth place in the showmanship contest. In judging she was the highest scoring girl in Oregon and also the second highest judge in the state and on the third place judging team of which Donald Jossy and Albert Grossen were the other two members of the team.

Going to the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition she won fourth on her calf and third in the showmanship contest. This contest included all of the Pacific northwest.

This last year besides being secretary of the Rock Creek club she has carried two other club projects, namely canning and room improvement. She finished all her projects 100%.

BASEBALL LEAGUE WILL CALL MEETING

E. Clinton President of the Sunset Baseball League announces that a meeting will be called soon to formulate plans for the coming season. Teams that finished in the second division last year are urged to strengthen their teams which can be done with more practice and coaching.

Beaverton, Tigard, Cornelius and Orenco had very good teams and toward the latter part of the season fans were getting hot ball games.

Star outfielders of the League were Barron of Beaverton, Aden and Capon of Tigard and Hoakum of Orenco. Barron also starred at first base. Several infielders showed up well; outstanding were Drake and Strauss of Tigard, J. Barry Beaverton, Bagley of Cornelius, Hamel of Orenco and Allen of Beaverton. Litton of Tigard was the League's best catcher, with Kolek of Orenco and Allen of Beaverton right at his heels. Hughes of Oswego also deserves praise. Stang of Tigard, Grant, Beaverton; and Groff, Orenco pitched good ball. The honor of being the League's best player was a toss up between Aden of Tigard and Barron of Beaverton. Barron finally coming out due to heavy hitting.

Teams from Aloha, Hillsboro and Tualatin have applied for entry in the League. Any other teams wishing to join the League are invited to send in their applications to Frances Cummings, secretary, Glen Cullen Oregon, or to E. Clinton President, Route 3 Beaverton Ore.

The First Bank of Juntura moved to Vale, Oregon and opened for business in the Lytle Building.

CORVALLIS—Farmers here will soon have an opportunity to see in action a set of the new balloon tractor tires that are said to be a revolutionary advance in tractor making. A set of the tires on special rims has been shipped to the agricultural engineering department at the state college where a tractor equipped with these tires will be tried out in comparison with one of the same make but with the regulation steel wheels.

BELOW ZERO

A Romance of the North Woods

-By-
Harold Titus

OLD TOM BELKNAP, powerful timber baron, needed a manager for the Kampfest operation, but refused to give his son the job, even though the boy was thoroughly qualified to handle it. "Too young," he said. The boy thought differently. They clashed, and Young John went out to prove his father wrong... Back in the woods he heard strange tales. His father was reported to be using violence, treachery and the power of his wealth to break a smaller rival concern. Young John could not believe his father capable of such methods, but he proposed to find out for himself how matters stood. As John Steele, he offered his services in the fight of right against might, and discovered to his amazement that a courageous girl was playing a lone but losing hand against his father's company!

HERE INDEED, is a situation to grip and hold your interest, and here is a writer who has done more than ample justice to his plot. BELOW ZERO is a robust story, crammed with action and thrills, and in the person of its heroine, Ellen Richards, the author has presented one of the most appealing heroines in recent fiction.

It will appear serially in these columns, and we assure you it is well worth reading.
