BEAVERTON LOOSES TO FOREST GROVE

In a rather closely contested game Beaverton high was defeated by Forest Grove, Friday night on the latter's floor. It was a rough and tumble affair with Beaverton holding an advantage in the first quarter, but it was soon lost to their taller opponents. It seemed that the referee favored Forest Grove in giving decisions. Wertz, Bronaey, and Shively were removed from the contest because of personal fouls, and in the closing minutes of the game Beaverton was forced to play with only four men on the court. The margin of two teams throughout the contest was four points; but when Beaverton was forced to use only four men Forest Grove gradually widened the margin. The score at the half was 21 to 17 in Grove's favor, and the final score was 43-34. Brandl played a stellar game for Beaverton and Schultz for the Grove. Beaverton's reserves were defeated by Forest Grove's reserves 17-11 in a rough and tumble affair, this contest was decided because of Grove's added height. Varlick played a stellar game both defensively and offensively for Beaverton. A crowd of about 300 people attended the game.

a temporary measure and would run for twenty-six (26) months only. It would, during this time, keep this state sound financially by keeping a steady flow of cash into the treasury. The securities of the state would keep their value unimpaired, the real estate would be relieved of a substantial part of its tax, and warrants could be cashed at face value, with the result being, I believe, a general feeling of relief that a troublesome problem had been temporarily solved. In the intervening twenty-six months we can proceed to permanently correct the abuses of the present tax system.

Very truly yours, Senator Edwin Allen.

Dear Aunt Sophie:

Please tell me how I can become slim and graceful as a willow tree.

P. D.

Dear P. D.

You must do as R. F. does. Touch your hands to the floor each night 100 times at first. Each week add 50 more times. You will lose.

Aunt Sophie

Dear Aunt Sophrony:

I want to be a radio artist. How can I train myself?

G. J.

Dear Little Genevieve:

Just keep on jumping 6 or 8 steps at a time as you come down from the 3rd floor, and you will soon be

Aunt S.

Dear Aunt Sophrony:

How can I make my teachers like me? I try to amuse them and feel that I am not appreciated.

R. D.

Dear Reyburn:

You are wasting your talents it would seem. Well, turn the tables a while, maybe what they do might prove interesting.

Auntie

Dear Aunt Sophrony:

Porter seems to have lost his interest in me. What shall I do?

B. S.

Dear Betty:

Such questions are beyond my solution. I will suggest that you consult J. G. on the subject; maybe she can suggest something.

Aunt Sophrony

Dear Aunt Sophrony:

I have a desire to do big things. No one takes me seriously and I am writing to you, knowing you will advise me. How can I fulfill my desires?

Dear Betty:

I would say that you might first carry that dead tree away from the front of the building; then, too, you might tell Mrs. Snyder that you would gladly carry the piano

The students of B. H. S. were glad to see Mr. Bushnell here again, this week. Our band master has entertained the heart felt sympathy of the students and faculty in the recent death of Mrs. Bushnell.

Everyone is talking about the Student Body Play. We have seen Miss Sanford contemplating the various assembly halls and we know that she is looking for prospects. The name of the play selected is still a mystery.

Mrs. Marie Stalder, mother of two of our high school students passed away, Wednesday afternoon.

Serious competition has arisen in the biology lab., as a result of efforts to see who can do the most successful work for essays to be written in the near future.

To receive a practical lesson in the art of printing a newspaper the three classes in Journalism have visited the office of the Beaverton Review, and enjoyed and profited by an entertaining lecture and demonstration by Mr. Hulett.

We sincerely hope that there is no truth in the idea that association develops tendencies. If there is we can expect criminalistic actions on the part of some of our faculty soon. Who wants a short wave set, anyhow?

The girls' Glee Club is doing concentrated work daily while the boys, a number of whom are out for basketball, are giving us a rest.

From the large number of failing slips sent out this time many students are realizing that examinations are near and that much precious time has been lost.

The national political campaign was a mere dust storm compared to the typhoon which is raging within

Auntie

Dear Aunt Sophrony:

There isn't enough time to suit me. I am wondering if we can't somehow arrange for more days in each week.

F. E.

Dear Young Lady:

It seems to me that there are quite enough days for you. More would be too many. Try to be content with what most girls would give a lot for.
