IN OREGON HOMES

DURKEE—Time and labor savers for the kitchen are suggested by a Durkee homemaker who says: "I find a rubber plate scraper very useful for removing all batter from mixing pans, cream from containers, and hot fat from frying pans. I keep a knife sharpener fastened in place with screws on the end of my work table. Also I have hammered into shape over the end of my table a small metal plate about five inches long and three inches wide. It is fastened with screws and makes a good firm place on which to clamp the food chopper."

MEDFORD—Ten Jackson county communities have enrolled in a one act play contest sponsored by the recreation leaders of the home economics extension service. More than 100 plays have been obtained from the state college and distributed to the various communities.

OREGON CITY—Various short steps in doing housework were exchanged by members of the Echo Dell P. T. A. Radio club at its meeting recently. One member suggested that if all garments to be mended are assembled and sorted so that those requiring the same kind of patches and thread are mended at one time, much effort and many minutes will be saved for more enjoyable activities in the home.

ELSIE—At a cost of $2.00 a Clatsop county homemaker has built an extra cupboard and so increased her work space 20 inches by 48. The top of the new cupboard, which is even with other surfaces, is covered with linoleum. Another expenditure of 75c put a fresh coat of paint on the pantry.

ON OREGON FARMS

ONTARIO—Another petition for a gopher control district has been presented to the Malheur county court, this time by the people of the Owyhee district. As still other districts are being considered it begins to look as though practically all the irrigated lands of the county would soon be included in such areas. This fall some 50,000 acres were covered for the first time and about 20,000 acres the second time. Supervision of the work is taking much of the time of the county agent in the spring and fall.

CARLTON—Assistance has been given a farmer in this district by the county agent in reorganizing his place into a stock farm rather than continuing crop enterprises wholly. Expense will be cut down by having much of the land, which is not exceptionally rich, classified as grazing land for tax purposes. Irrigation is being installed on 20 acres to provide pasture throughout the dry summer months.

BEND—Lower grade beef cattle are replacing old fat ewes in this county now as the chief source of low priced meat for those able to pay something for such supplies. Recently the management of the Shevlin Hixon Lumber company asked the county agent to get 56 ewes for slaughter and delivery to the mill to be distributed at cost. The agent was able to obtain offers to get such animals at two-cents a pound.

CANYON CITY—The practice of feeding grain to breeding ewes is becoming a standard practice among range men of eastern Oregon despite the depression, reports the Grant county agent. Better methods of feeding the grain have convinced the growers that the practice is profitable. Experience has shown that the ewes must be built up at least three months before lambing, if at all, and by starting them on very small amounts of 1/6 pound per head a day over a 90 day period is much better than feeding more over a shorter period.

OREGON CITY—Results of banding trees with medicated codling moth tree bands in an orchard where worms were kept under good control this year were obtained this last fall on the Luther Felker place at Eagle Creek. Five bands there produced only a total of 24 larvae when examined, ranging from two to eight each. In badly infested orchards hundreds of larvae have been captured under each band.

ROSEBURG—Seventy seven prime grade turkeys out of 78 delivered for the November shipment is the record made by J. H. Barnes this year, reports J. C. Leedy, county agent and secretary of the Oregon Turkey Growers marketing association. Leedy says marked improvement in the quality of turkeys delivered to the receiving stations was noted this year. Sixty four new members were added this season.

NEWBERG—The best yield of corn he has ever grown was obtained by H. Nelson this year on his farm near here on one of the trial plantings conducted in cooperation with the McMinnville grange and the county agents office. The yield from selected Minnesota 13 seed was nearly 70 bushels green weight or about 50 bushels dry weight. Some of this corn took second place at the Pacific International Livestock show.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(Cont'd from Correspondence page) class through the second semester. As a result the Girls' club will meet every day during the 6th period.

The Latin IV class has been enjoying its interesting sessions lately even to the extent of remaining seated and unaware of the noon dismissal bell. Different members have been giving oral reports on various subjects and Miss Schaeffer assures the reporter that she has never heard more interesting reports.

On Friday a majority of the students in both English VI and VIII handed in their last book report. One hundred points of outside reading are required for the year's work and these students are to be congratulated upon their completion of the year's reading at so early a date.

Ivan Biely, new student body president, successfully conducted his first meeting Thursday, February 2. During the meeting Mr. Metzler announced several items of importance. Two students from our school are going to the purchase tickets for Father Hubbard's illustrated lecture, Ed McElroy and his new helper Dick Goyt led the assemblage in several yells given for the basket ball and debate teams. Mr. Webb introduced the debaters who were to go to the tournament at McMinnville Friday.

WHY THE CHURCH?

Call for Mr. Jap-man!
Call for Mrs. Hottentot!
Call for Willie Eskimo!
What's doing?
God is calling to the ends of the earth, to all nations; God is calling out a people for Christ's name. See that great hour! The last soul of the church-age saved; the roll-call filled, of God's redeemed! Then what?
"After that I will return," says the Lord, to end graft, vice, wars; "to dash the nations in pieces; to rule them with a rod of iron; to set up his reign of a thousand years of peace on earth—God's say-so."

With Christ and Christ only, able to end war, murder, graft, misery world-wide, why does he wait? Because God will not send Christ in until the roll-call of the redeemed is full. It waits on your making known, "Christ died for our sins." By that God calls them out.

Speed the message; pray, give, go. God's program waits on you. Old Time Religion—Box 95 R. 2. Beaverton, Ore.
