I would like to discuss that question with you next Sunday at the morning service, this is very vital to all who wish to pray aright. Do not forget the Bible School hour which precedes the morning worship and sermon period: The evening service will be held at 8:00 o'clock with the sermon theme "Speaking for Ourselves".

Methodist Church

George F. Gordon, Pastor

The sermon subject for the worship service at eleven o'clock will be "The True Vine". A message of inspiration and spiritual uplift Sunday school at 10 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to you.

Church of Christ

Rev. G. W. Springer

Last Sunday the Churches of Christ from Hillsboro, Farmington and Beaverton enjoyed a picnic lunch and union service under the trees at Farmington. Details of an attendance contest between Hillsboro and Beaverton were arranged having begun with the first Sunday in June. The basis for the percentage increase is the average attendance for the month of May, which was 93 for the Beaverton Bible School. If we are to retain the banner won from Hillsboro last year, it will require the faithful efforts of every member to not only hold the line of 93, but to increase this average during the summer months.

The Christian Endeavor society paid a visit to the society of Aloha last Sunday evening. They are to be commended on their 100% return to the Church services. At the recent election of officers of the society, the president, Roy Shipman, and the vice-president, Donell Smith, were re-elected.

Friday evening the members of the Church are planning a house warming for their pastor at his home on Watson street. This is to be a pound social. Ladies are requested to bring either sandwiches or cake.

A continuation of the Book of Hebrews will be the topic of discussion in the morning service. "Our God" is the title of the evening sermon.
