SPECIAL FOOD VALUES IN ORE. PEARS

High vitamin content of Oregon pears and the presence in this fruit of the rare levulose sugar has been revealed in research carried on at the Oregon Medical school and Oregon State college on a co-operative basis with the Oregon-Washington Pear bureau.

In a recent report of this work, Henry Hartman, horticulturist with the bureau and stationed at Corvallis, reported that preliminary findings are promising, but that much work remains to be done before the extent of their importance can be determined.

The investigation of the vitamin content of winter pears was made by Dr. Ira A. Manville, associate professor of physiology at the Oregon Medical school at Portland. He found that the Winter Nelis variety was particularly high in vitamin C content, and that winter pears in general compare favorably with oranges in this regard.

Intensive work on the chemical content of pears has been carried on by J. C. Moore at Oregon State college. He has established definitely the presence of levulose sugar in the pear, the only form of sugar tolerated by the systems of those persons afflicted by diabetes. He has not yet worked out any practical method of extracting it in quantities, however.

Levulose now commands an exceptionally high market price, running up to $25 a pound because of the difficulty in extracting it. Recent reports are, however, that an Iowa scientist has found a way of refining it from Jerusalem artichokes at a cost of only a few cents a pound. Mr. Moore is now in the middle west investigating this report and related matters pertaining to possible recovery of levulose from pears.

Whether pears as such, or whether a fruit syrup made from them will be of special value to diabetics remains to be determined, says Professor Hartman.

It is hoped that by continuing this work much valuable information for both producers and consumers of pears will be developed, as past investigation of the food value of pears has been unusually meager.

LAW SUIT IS HELD IN LOCAL JUSTICE COURT

Quite a little stir about town was caused Wednesday by a lawsuit held in Justice of the Peace Thyn's court. It was not so much the suit itself as it was that things have been quiet about town and anything out of the ordinary would cause a little excitement.

Harry F. and Madge K. Eliander were suing A. G. Mason and wife for possession of a house and garage which, they alleged, were being unlawfully occupied. A. G. Mason had been given free rent, the answer to the complaint stated, if he would do some work on cars owned by Eliander. The bargain was somewhat complicated, and oral. In this last is perhaps the real reason for having to appeal to the court for justice.

A jury consisting of Mesdames C. J. Stevens, R. B. Medill, N. A. Byfield, J. H. Dobbins, and L. J. (Louie) Hughson, and H. C. Watts rendered a verdict for Mr. and Mrs. Eliander, who were represented by Harold W. Peterson, while G. A. Cobb was attorney of record for the case, but City Attorney Reimer handled the pleading.

ESSEX MARSH GIV-EN AGENCY FOR CARS

Essex Marsh was awarded the agency this week for local distribution for the Plymouth and Dodge automobiles. Mr. Marsh is one of our local garage men whose work is well and favorably known in this section.

A demonstration car of each of these makes will be kept at the garage, and anyone wishing to try out the famous floating power, has only to make a request at Marsh's Garage.

3.2 Is Booze

Every nickle you married men spend for 3.2 is a nickle the wife needed for the kiddies' clothes and eats—

3.2 is booze. Every nickle you young fellows spend on 3.2 is a nickle that might have been put away toward a home of your own—

3.2 is booze. Every glass brings you on toward the day when the doctor's certificate will tell the story of death by stomach ulcer and hob-nailed liver.

3.2 is booze. Every debauch tells the state to build larger it's insane wards and prison cells until you will be received into their gloomy walls.

3.2 is booze. It carries the same alcohol that cooks the white of the egg and likewise the delicate gray matter of nerve and brain cell. Burned out, the boss lets you out, and at last, a gutter bum, the bar-keep kicks you out.

Almighty God has the final word, even this—"Woe unto him that liveth his neighbor drunk." George N. Taylor, Beaverton, Oregon. adv.

THE ROOSEVELT SALAD

WASHINGTON.—The Roosevelt salad which made its appearance in the United States Senate Restaurant in the Capitol at Washington on Inauguration day as Chef George Baumgartner's salute to President Roosevelt, threatens to sweep into popularity throughout the country. The new salad is composed of common vegetables available everywhere.

Photograph shows, left to right, C. H. Baumgartner presenting a bowl of his new salad to Miss Laura Barkley, daughter of Senator A. W. Barkley of Kentucky, and Miss Julia Harris, daughter of the late Senator W. J. Harris of Georgia, in the Senate restaurant.

Chief Baumgartner's recipe for the Roosevelt Salad is (for ordinary family use): 1 cup chopped celery; 1 cup shredded white and red cabbage; 1/2 cup green peppers; 1 cup diced carrots; 1 cup mayonnaise and 1 cup French peas thoroughly mixed and served on crisp lettuce.
