WHEAT GROWERS MUST SIGN BY SEPTEMBER 25

Deadline Is Set by National Administration

MEETING DATES ANNOUNCED

Every Wheat Grower in County Is Urged To Be Present and Sign Application

Telegraphic word from the national wheat administration office sets the date of Monday, September 25, as the deadline for signing wheat applications. Growers will not have an opportunity of applying for the benefits of the plan after that date.

By William F. Cyrus, County Agent

For the purpose of assisting those farmers desiring help in completing applications for wheat allotments, arrangements have been made for giving such aid in local communities throughout the county. These will not be meetings. Someone from the county agent's office will be at each of the scheduled points from 1:30 in the afternoon until evening and if those who are interested will bring in their papers they can be completed at that time.

The complete schedule for these appointments is as follows: Kinton grange, Monday, September 18; Barnes school, Monday, September 18; Imlay's, Reedville, Tuesday, September 19; North Plains, Tuesday, September 19; Bethany store, Wednesday, September 20; Banks, Wednesday, September 20; Kansas City, Thursday, September 21; Verboort, Thursday, September 21; Blooming, Friday, September 22; and Laurel, Friday, September 22. In every case the hour of the appointment is for 1:30 P. M. If growers will have their production figures ready much time will be saved. Assistance is available at the county agent's office any day.

Directors of the wheat control association meeting Monday night expressed confidence in the plan and stated that they are giving their time to it because they believe the wheat plan is a step in the right direction. J. M. Vanderzanden, Banks, in commenting on the act said: "This plan of reducing crop surplus by reducing crop acreage is the first constructive aid for farmers in years. What more can be done and what more can be expected if the farmer fails to avail himself of this opportunity?"

Several farm relief measures have been given much publicity in recent years but none of them has attacked the farm problem at its source as does this latest agricultural adjustment act, according to W. J. Enschede, Hillsboro, who sees in the wheat plan a "constructive, fundamental idea designed to give one crop the farmer grows a fair purchasing power and places the primary administration of the plan in the hands of the farmer himself."

Benefit payments on allotments are made from funds accumulating from the processing tax levied on wheat. It should be understood that the amount of the tax is determined by the difference between the actual average market price of wheat and what parity price would be at the time the amount of the payment is determined. "Those people who believe the act unfair are losing sight of the real purpose of the wheat plan," says Mr. Vanderzanden. "The purpose of the act is not to maintain a tax upon wheat and its products but to decrease production to the point where the average price of wheat will be raised to parity. If the plan is largely taken advantage of parity price will be obtained, benefit payments will cease, and consequently, the milling tax will be eliminated." Farmers would then receive parity price for all their crop rather than on just their domestic allotments.

Use of the land taken out of wheat production need not cause any worry, in the opinion of Arthur Connell, Hillsboro. "Such land may be used for red clover, alfalfa or pasture, and even if it could not the payments on the allotments are generally large enough to offset the loss of the use of the contracted acreage." John W. Kamna states that the success of the plan depends upon the growers themselves. "Here is a plan which provides for the elimination of much of the cause of low grain prices and the farmers taking advantage of it get paid directly for their participation," says Kamna.

Every farmer who is farming a piece of land that grew wheat during the years of 1930, 1931 and 1932 can afford to investigate the possibilities for him in this wheat plan, according to Ferd Langer, Sherwood, and Gler Ritchey, Forest Grove. Meetings have been held at many points in the county and those who have for any reason not heard the plan explained can get an explanation from any of the directors, community committeemen, or at the county agent's office at Hillsboro.

Town Board Meeting Is Called to Consider Sewage Plant

A special meeting of the town trustees has been called for Monday evening at 8 o'clock for the consideration of the proposed installation of a modern, up-to-date sewerage system and sewage disposal plant. The meeting was called by Mayor Fisher following a communication addressed to him by Burton E. Palmer, executive secretary of the reconstruction advisory board of the state of Oregon, who will be present at the meeting and will lay the plans of the board before the town trustees with the object of having the matter considered by the voters of Beaverton.

The plans of the reconstruction advisory board have nothing to do with a bond issue for the completion of a sewage disposal plant, but are for the sole purpose of permitting Beaverton to take advantage of the government's offer to finance the construction of the system, including an outright gift of more than $22,000 to the town of Beaverton.

It has been estimated by the state board of engineers that the proposed plant in Beaverton would cost in the neighborhood of $75,000. Thirty per cent of this sum would be advanced by the government from reconstruction funds as an outright grant. The balance would be loaned from the same fund at 4 per cent interest. There is no red tape connected with the offer, according to Mr. Palmer, the only requirement being the approval of the legal voters of the city. Sixty per cent of the entire amount must be spent in the employment of local labor, and an additional 20 per cent must be expended with local firms for labor and supplies. And as the work must be started before the winter months set in, this means that over $50,000 will be distributed here this winter among local unemployed and business firms of Beaverton, providing the plan as outlined by the state reconstruction board is adopted.

As this is a vital matter of the utmost importance to the city of Beaverton, it is to be hoped that a representative body of citizens will be present at the meeting of the town board, in order that they may familiarize themselves with all the details of the proposed system. System furnished them from an authoritative source.

NEWS FROM COUNTY SEAT

INCLUDES 9 INDICTMENTS

Courts Provide Usual Grist of News and Petty Thefts Are Reported

The Washington county grand jury, which was in session during the past week, reported out nine true bills, as follows: Connie Miller, two counts, threatening the commission of a felony and being drunk in a private place; Arthur W. Bond, larceny; Henry Burdick, larceny; B. R. Smith, larceny of public money; Alva Hudson and Pearl Thomas, adultery; Morris Albert, larceny. In addition two secret indictments were returned.

Among the reports of thefts made to the sheriff's office and being investigated were Fred Leuthe of Tigard, who stated that 175 pounds of red clover seed was taken from his barn; H. Zuzow of Huber had a black cow stolen from his pasture; Fred Smith, deputy sheriff, says 10 feet of 1-inch hose was stolen from the Clements service station; William Wengel, route 3, Beaverton, was relieved of a carburetor from his Vaughn dragsaw, as well as all of the gasoline from his car and tractor.

In the probate court H. P. Downing was appointed guardian of Elizabeth D. McGowan; an order was made waiving appraisal in guardianship of Bert and Robert J. Hagem; the guardian of Mary Stitt was authorized to accept a quit claim deed for a mortgage; an order of dismissal of exceptions to executor's report was made in re Mary A. Bisbee estate; an order modifying a former order in relation to the sale of real estate in the matter of the C. E. Hedge estate was issued; appraisers were appointed for the estate of R. Leis, deceased; an order authorizing the reinvestment of trust funds and closing the estate of L. M. Hesse, deceased, was issued.

The following orders were issued in the circuit court: J. H. Waterman vs. Peter Vergeer et al, order confirming sale; Genevieve W. Mays vs. Charles J. Van Duyen et al, default and decree; Charles G. Hepper, trustee, vs. William Ariss et ux, dismissed; Bettie Vogel vs. Gus Brodof, 10 days additional to answer; World War Veterans State Aid Commission vs. L. L. Bellinger et al, partial release of judgment; Mabel Evans vs. John F. Hood et al, overruling demurrer; Virginia Wagener, minor, by guardian, vs. Lawrence F. Schmitt, judgment order.

Four unhappy couples were released from their marital woes, as follows: Ethel Losli from Rudolph Losli, Caroline Day from Frederick Day, Louise Bleuer from Fred Bleuer and Walter P. C. Bailey from Claudine J. Bailey. And to offset the above infelicities, three happy couples were authorized to embark on the sea of matrimony. They were Paul Alvin Ritchie, route 1, Forest Grove, and Bertha Herr, route 1, Gaston, the license being applied for September 8 and delivered by the county clerk September 10; Sanford Henry Loy, Guler, Wash., and Flores Eula Ledford, 1522 Lincoln street, Hillsboro, the license being applied for September 6 and being delivered the same day by order of the county court; Clifford J. Briggs, Carlton, Or., and Hazel Rae Howell, Gales Creek, Or., the license being applied for September 9.

Another license was granted to James Cameron and Miss Brita Skaale, both of Beaverton, at Everett, Wash., on September 6.

ATTEND CHURCH PICNIC.
Rev. Charles Clarke, Jean Klein, Alene Boswell, Katherine Denney, Ortha Pulifer, Henry Kamberger and Glenn Shellenberger, members of the Congregational Young People's society, attended the annual Congregational young people's picnic at Roamers Rest Friday. Delegations of young people from Forest Grove, Oregon City and Portland churches were there to participate in the fun.

RETURN FROM SUMMER SCHOOL.
Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hughes returned from Los Angeles last week, where Mr. Hughes attended the summer school at the University of Southern California. Mr. Hughes has charge of the school of science in the local high school.

BEAVER O. E. S. OPENS FALL SEASON WITH FESTIVITIES

Officers and Members of Portland Chapter Are Honored Guests

Beaver chapter No. 106, Order of Eastern Star, held its first regular meeting of the fall Wednesday evening, with a large number of members and visitors present.

The officers and members of Portland chapter No. 97 were the honored guests of the evening, and also those members of Beaverton chapter having birthdays in July, August and September.

A floral degree was conferred upon Mrs. Guy Jacobs, worthy matron of Portland chapter, by the star points of Beaver chapter and was presented with a beautiful bouquet of white asters and pink snapdragons, following which Mrs. J. E. Davis of Omaha, Neb., sang "We Love You Truly." Mrs. Jacobs was formerly a member of Beaver chapter and served as organist for several years.

The birthday guests, about 30 in number, were each presented with a gift of flowers. Mrs. S. B. Lawrence, worthy matron of Beaver chapter, whose birthday also occurred during the summer, was especially honored with a surprise birthday degree, put on by the Daughters of Job, Bethel No. 5, of Portland, and presented with a gift from their own officers. She also received other gifts from old-time friends from Corinthian chapter.

Refreshments were served in the beautifully decorated dining room. Yellow was the color scheme and the birthday table was especially festive with three lighted birthday cakes and favors.

The chapter was honored to have present a guest, Mr. Brown, who is a member of the O. E. S. in Scotland, and who is here on a few weeks' trip through the United States.

The next meeting of Beaver chapter will be held September 27, when the members of Beaverton lodge No. 100, A. F. and A. M., will be the special guests, as well as all Masons and their wives living in this vicinity.

ROSS HART KNOCKED OUT WHILE WORKING IN HAY FIELD

"Just Incident in Life of Football Player," Says Local Athlete

Ross Hart, well-known Beaverton athlete, while working on a hay baler last Tuesday morning, fell from the top of the rick and landed on his back on the hard surface of a bale of hay at the side of the pile. Ross is used to falls, especially while being tackled on a football field, but this one was a little different than what he had been accustomed to.

Fellow workers rushed to his assistance, and finding that he was unconscious, placed him in an automobile and drove eight miles to the office of Dr. C. E. Mason in Beaverton, where he was placed on an operating table, where he remained for 45 minutes before he knew what it was all about.

When he did wake up, however, Ross refused to take the matter seriously. He got off the table, shook his head a few times to take the kinks out of his neck and remarked: "This is nothing; just an incident in the life of a football player." Then he walked down stairs and the next day was bucking bales of hay, apparently no worse for his experience.

BEAVERTON GRANGE HOLDS USUAL INTERESTING SESSION

Modern Advertising and Their Methods Featured on Program

The Beaverton Grange meeting of September 9 was honored by four visitors from outside granges, Mr. and Mrs. Reed and Edward A. Brown from Evening Star Grange, and Albert Streif of Kinton Grange. The Beaverton Grange was very much elated over the fact that they received the second prize of $15 in the sales slips contest of the Oregon Grange Bulletin.

Modern advertisements and their methods were discussed during the afternoon program. The roll call, "What I consider an effective advertisement," received a hearty response. Ursher Narver, advertising agent of the Oregon Grange Bulletin, spoke on advertising in that paper. The assembly sang "It Pays to Advertise."

The October meeting will be homecoming and all members were urged to attend and all former members and friends invited.

The program for that meeting will feature "Apples." The roll call will be prose or poetry relating to apples.

The home economics committee announced that a grange dinner and program would be given in the Grange hall Saturday evening, October 28, and asked all to keep that date in mind. The price of the tickets was not announced.

Albert Streif brought an invitation from Kinton Grange urging Beaverton Grange to attend their booster meeting Saturday evening, September 30, at 8 o'clock, which will celebrate the fiscal grange year. Many from Beaverton plan to attend.

BEAVERTON YOUNG FOLKS ARE UNITED IN MARRIAGE

Laurence H. Davis and Alice E. Blomquist Joined in Ring Service

At a simple ceremony in the parsonage of the Emanuel Lutheran church, Portland, on the evening of September 1, Alice E. Blomquist was married to Laurence H. Davis. The Rev. C. S. O'Dell read the ring service before members of the two families at 7:30 o'clock.

The bride wore a frock of robin's egg blue and carried an arm bouquet of Tailsman roses and sweet peas. She was attended by Elizabeth Davis, sister of the groom. Jenifer Blomquist, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

A dinner at the Heatman hotel followed the ceremony.

After a short wedding trip to Mount Rainier Mr. and Mrs. Davis will reside in Portland.

The bride and groom were both members of the class of '28, Beaverton high school.

ACCIDENT VICTIM KNOWN HERE

John Thomas, one of the three boys who lost his life Labor day in a crevasse on Mount Jefferson, was a resident on Hoffman road, near Garden Home, and was well known in this vicinity. He attended grade school at Garden Home and Sunday school at the Garden Home Community church. He leaves a mother, three brothers and one sister. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. C. Poor of the Garden Home Community church Monday at 1 P. M. in Finlay's chapel, and interment was at Riverview.

BACK WITH THE DOGS.

Otto Wohlauf, who had a string of racing dogs here during the races in Portland, has returned with his canines and has them at the Charles Shively place south of town.

Dr. Arthur Durbin of Portland, who has his dogs entered in the races at Vancouver, is housing them at the Bill King place, east of Beaverton.

SMALL BOY LOSES FINGER.

Gordon Hewett, aged 5, failed to take into consideration Kipling's admonition that the "female of the species is more deadly than the male" when he attempted to help his sister, aged 10, cut some wood last Wednesday, with the result that he lost the middle finger of his right hand as she wielded the ax. He was attended by Dr. C. E. Mason and, barring the disfigurement, will be all right in a short time.

BEAVERTON SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY WITH LARGE NUMBER IN ATTENDANCE

With an enrollment of 326 in the high and 231 in the grade school, the Beaverton schools opened for a nine-months term Monday morning and Principal I. R. Metzler was busier than a one-armed man with the itch.

Hundreds of pupils were milling about the corridors waiting for assignments and teachers were scurrying about among them trying to do all in their power to bring order out of chaos. And that they succeeded is best attested by the fact that everything was moving smoothly by Tuesday morning with everybody satisfied and no apparent grouches, either among the pupils or the faculty, in evidence.

Already the high school is humming with activity, and one walking in the halls might hear anything from the peppy Glee club songs in Mrs. Georgia Snyder's room to the applause for the budding after-dinner speakers in E. G. Webb's domicile, where he teaches the young idea how to make an impassioned address without having a case of heebie jeebies.

And in the meantime Professor Metzler patiently goes about his tasks of arranging the schedules, registering new students as well as old, many of whom are arriving each day, some from as far off as Portland, and answering innumerable questions, some of which would tax the powers of a modern Solomon. And at that he seems to find time to give courteous hearings to inquisitive newspaper men, anxious parents and others who seem to be there merely out of curiosity.

Coach Ed Warren states that so far the prospects for football are none too good, as only three lettermen are in school, but he has hopes that he will be able to develop some new material among the unknown quantity which will enable him to form a squad that will give as good an account of itself as has been done in the past.

Miss Davies, the principal, in addition to her supervisory work, is teaching arithmetic in the sixth, seventh and eighth grades, and is, consequently, quite a busy woman.

WASHINGTON 4-H CLUBS MAKE WORTHY RECORD

Youngsters Take Long List of Awards at Fair.

FIRSTS IN CROP AND LIVESTOCK

Showing Made Exceeds That of Last Year, and More Than $160 in Prizes Are Awarded

Winning first in both crops and livestock demonstration contests at the state fair, Washington county won the right to represent Oregon in the 4-H club demonstration contest at the Pacific International Livestock exposition at Portland. Ivan and Amos Bierly of the Kinton Corn club, with their crop demonstration, were high scoring, with Le Roy Mills and Charles Kay of the Shadybrook Calf club, with their cream testing demonstration, a close second. This is the second year that these two clubs have won first at the state fair in their respective divisions, although last year neither team won the honor of representing the state in the interstate competition at Portland.

Premiums won in the crop and livestock divisions totaled more than $160. All premiums were cut in half this year, so the showing made by the county was actually better than last year. This year 40 club members in the livestock and crops divisions attended and exhibited at the state fair, the largest delegation ever to attend the fair from this county.

Following is a list of awards made to members of the Washington county delegation:

Jerseys—George Barkley, first on cow, fifth on senior yearling and ninth on showmanship.

Guernseys—Merle Pennington, fourth on calf; Clayton Nyberg, fourth on heifer; Jim Davidson, third on cow and fourth on showmanship.

Holsteins—Don Jossy, first on senior calf, second on senior yearling, sixth on junior calf and second on showmanship; Frances Detrick, third on cow and seventh in showmanship; Alan Detrick, sixth in showmanship; Marvin Heynderick, seventh on junior calf and eighth in showmanship; Albert Cousins, third on junior calf; Henry Tewa, first on junior yearling, fourth on junior calf and ninth in showmanship. Brown Swiss—John Hansen, second on cow and fifth in showmanship.

Swine—Henry Tewa, first on gilt and second on barrow.

Sheep—Jim Davidson, second on Hampshire lamb.

Poultry—Alvin Warren, second on ducks; Clinton Warren, fourth on ducks, and Eugene Howell, second on turkeys.

Rabbits—Walter Eames, first on senior buck.

Vegetables—Billy Cyrus, third on garden exhibit.

Potatoes—Peronice Ego, fifth on potatoes.

Forestry—Jean Ann Connell, fourth on exhibit; Margaret Batchelder, eleventh on exhibit; Glen Sandford, twelfth on exhibit.

Crops judging team—second.

Crop demonstration—First.

Livestock demonstration—First.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson is spending this week on her farm at Dilley.

Kiwanis Club Delegates Report on Convention Held at Seaside

At the Wednesday luncheon of the Kiwanis club four delegates who attended the three-day convention of the northwest district of Kiwanis International held at Seaside this week, made their report. The local delegates were Andy Anderson, president; Lee Richey, vice president; Al Janssen and Elmer Benson.

They reported that 618 delegates were registered and that the convention was one of the most successful in the history of the organization. The outstanding speech of the session was, in the opinion of the local boys, made by Norman F. Coleman, president of Reed college of Portland, who spoke on the subject of dictatorship, especially in Russia under the soviet regime. Mr. Coleman has just recently returned from Russia, where he made many observations on conditions there.

O. Hal Holmes Jr. of Ellensburg, Wash., was unanimously elected governor of the northwest district, and Dr. W. L. Hyde of Astoria lieutenant governor. Mr. Holmes represents this district.

There will be a get-together meeting next Wednesday evening, at which the Camas-Washougal club and the Gresham club will be the honored guests. Hon. James W. Mott, congressman from the first district and a noted orator, will be present and will make the address of the evening. It is expected that about 65 guests will be present.

MYSTERY SNAPSHOT SHOWN AT KIWANIS CAUSES COMMENT

Who the Guilty Participant in Dance Is, Is Moot Question

Following the report of the delegates to the Seaside convention at the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis club Wednesday, President Andy Anderson passed out a snapshot taken at the beach showing one of the local delegates doing a bunny hug with a scantily clad bathing beauty, but, unfortunately, the picture was taken while the local participant in the dance had his back turned.

Each and every one of the delegates had prepared himself with an alibi, but some of them were rather weak in form. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion, however, that President Andy was trying to pull a fast one by presenting the picture himself and thus throw a smoke screen, but he insisted that such conformation as could be seen from a rear viewpoint strongly resembled Lee Richey. In any event both of these delegates appeared to be extremely anxious about the picture falling into the hands of their respective wives.

SURPRISED ON ANNIVERSARY.

Members of the Daphne club and their husbands surprised Mr. and Mrs. George Rudberg at their home in Portland Monday evening in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. A potluck dinner, which was much enjoyed, was followed with cards. Mr. and Mrs. Rudberg were presented with a gift from the club. Those present from Beaverton were Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Wood and Dr. and Mrs. Forest L. Howard.

LADES AID TO MEET.

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church will hold its first meeting of the fall at the church Thursday, September 21, at 11 A. M. This will be a business meeting to formulate plans for the winter. Pot luck luncheon at noon.
