

THE BEAVERTON REVIEW

The Only Newspaper Devoted Exclusively to the Interests of Eastern Washington County.

Volume No. XI, No. 43

Beaverton, Washington County, Oregon, Friday, September 22, 1923

$1.50 Per Year

KIWANANS ENTERTAIN AND LOSE THEIR DOGS

Hon. James W. Mott Talks on NRA Program

RECOVERY ACT IS ONLY HOPE

"Brain Trust," or Economic Socialists, Evolve Answer to President's Call for Solution of Nation's Ills

One of the most successful and one of the most thoroughly enjoyable meetings of the Beaverton Kiwanis club was that of Wednesday evening, an interclub meeting, with Camas-Washougal and Gresham clubs attending. Fifty-one from Camas-Washougal, seven from Gresham and 28 of the local club and their guests brought the total attendance to 86, which just about taxed the seating capacity of the Kiwanis building.

Guests of the Beaverton club included the Hon. James W. Mott, congressman from the first district, and Mrs. Mott of Salem; Merwin Dant, Miss Dorothea Schoop, C. E. Berggren, Otto Erickson and Fred C. Sefton of Beaverton. Mr. Berggren presented two piano numbers in the popular style, which were very enjoyable. Merwin Dant presented a group of three numbers, La Gorge's "Trees," Curran's "I Love Life" and a southern number. These were exceptionally well done. Mr. Dant is the possessor of a rich baritone voice with an appealing quality, and does his numbers in a very pleasing, unaffected style. The audience last night showed their appreciation in no small way, and he responded with a request number, the ever popular "On the Road to Mandalay." Miss Dorothea Schoop was Mr. Dant's able accompanist.

Congressman James W. Mott gave the principal address of the evening on "The National Recovery Act." Mr. Mott gave an intensely interesting resume of this most vital piece of legislation from its inception down to the present time. He pointed out that much of the publicity that is being used in connection with the act is rather misleading, and certainly not very informative. The president, at the outset, called into his counsel three outstanding economic socialists, who have since familiarly been referred to as the "Brain Trust." These three, instructors in political economy at Columbia university, are what might be called real economic socialists. The act, now known as the national recovery act, is their answer to the president's call for a solution to our present industrial and economic ills. Mr. Mott pointed out that our nation could not long continue without some serious upheaval, with 12,000,000 people out of work. The greatest minds in the country are agreed that the national recovery act is our only hope.

Mr. Mott's discussion of the act included a great deal more than the brief summary given here, but space will not permit the inclusion of his remarks in their entirety. Mr. Mott is a very forceful and interesting speaker and his address was one of the finest we have had the pleasure of hearing.

Another interesting feature of the meeting was the awarding of the "Mutt" and her family to Gresham club. She has acquired five additional dogs, making six in all. These are awarded to the club having the smallest attendance at an interclub meeting.

Don't fail to see the "mechanical man" today at 12 o'clock in front of the Review office. Is he human or an automaton?

Mystery Mechanical Man Will Perform Stunts Today

The Golden West "Mechanical Man" will visit stores in Beaverton Friday and will perform remarkable feats of ability for the benefit of the public.

It is hard to determine what makes the "mechanical man" run. He or it is so near man in action and appearance that many witnesses call it human. The large majority are positive it is a mechanical device or machine operated

PORTLAND EXTENSION CENTER ANNOUNCES NIGHT CLASSES

One Hundred and Seventeen Courses Available to Prospective Students.

Night classes in the Portland extension center will begin during the week of September 25, it is announced by the Portland office of the state system of higher education at 814 Oregon building. One hundred and seventeen courses are available during the school year 1923-1924 in the academic and professional departments of anthropology, architecture, landscape architecture, art, bacteriology, botany, business administration, drama, economics, education, written English, literature, French, geography, German, history, journalism, library methods, mathematics, music, nature study, philosophy, physical education, political sciences, psychology, public speaking, sociology and zoology.

The Portland classes, which are held from 7:15 to 9:15 o'clock at night in Lincoln high school, are open to adults who wish to enroll for the cultural and practical benefits to be received from the classes or for college credit.

MASONS TO BE GUESTS.

Members of Beaverton lodge No. 100, A. F. and A. M., and all Masons in the vicinity and their wives will be the special guests of Beaver chapter No. 106, Order of Eastern Star, Wednesday evening, September 28. There will be a program of interest provided for the guests. A good attendance is desired.

X. P. U. CLUB MEETS.

Mrs. Ruby Boyd and Mrs. George Blasser entertained members of the X. P. U. at a luncheon at the Boyd home Tuesday, September 19. This club is composed mainly of former students of Pacific university and meets twice a month except during the summer. This was the opening meeting of the season and Mrs. Ziona Wilnot, a former Pacific university student, was unanimously elected to membership. The 13 club members present were: President, Mrs. Daisy S. Bullock; secretary, Mrs. Cora Soden; Mrs. May Jacobs, Mrs. Allie Brown, Mrs. Nellie Adams, Miss Tillie Cornelius, Mrs. Kate Fanno, Mrs. Fannie Russell, Mrs. Gelsy, Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Francis Densmore, Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Etia Robins. Guests of the club were Mrs. S. E. Lawrence and Mrs. Louise Carter.

"How I Spent My Vacation" was the topic.

INJURED IN RUNAWAY.

About 6 o'clock Saturday evening at the Hillsdale dairy a new team of horses owned by the dairy ran away with the wagon in which the 9-year-old son, Freddie, and 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vwahien were riding with Horace Neilson. While Mr. Neilson was opening a gate the children started the team and he was dragged by the lines he was holding until he was knocked unconscious. The team ran until the wagon tongue was driven into the ground on the property owned by the Watkins brothers. Mr. Neilson received a fractured skull and Freddie, who jumped from the wagon, lacerated his right leg. Both were removed in an ambulance to the Good Samaritan hospital. Rose received minor face injuries. Dr. Mason is the attending physician and reports that Mr. Neilson is making satisfactory progress. Freddie and Rose Vwahien are the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Meyers.

SPEAKER AT CHILDREN'S HOME.

Rev. and Mrs. George N. Taylor spent Sunday at Children's Farm Home, near Corvallis. Mr. Taylor was guest speaker at the institution. There are about 170 inmates at present.

PROCLAMATION

A CALL TO ENLIST THE MANPOWER OF BEAVERTON

Whereas the federal government is providing by the national industrial recovery act large sums of money to be granted and/or loaned to the various states and municipalities for public projects, which sums should be taken advantage of in the building of a municipal sewer plant for Beaverton and the relief of local unemployment; and

Whereas the council of the town of Beaverton has under consideration the plan of building a municipal sewer plant without cost to taxpayers by accepting the federal plan of charging a nominal service charge per residence similar to the water service plan now in force; and

Whereas that said act provides that all local labor shall be employed first and fixes the wages at fifty (50) cents per hour and thirty (30) hours per week; now, therefore,

I, Earl E. Fisher, mayor of the town of Beaverton, do hereby issue a call for all able-bodied men living within the corporate limits of the town of Beaverton desiring to work on said proposed sewer plant, to be present at the town office, near stage depot, Friday night or Saturday night, September 22 and September 23, and register.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the town of Beaverton to be affixed.

Done at the town of Beaverton this twentieth day of September, in the year of our Lord 1923, and of the town of Beaverton the forty-first.

EARL E. FISHER.

By the Mayor,
LEWIS SMITH, Town Recorder.

SEWAGE SYSTEM GETS O. K. BY CITY DADS

By Vote of 4 to 2 Ordinance Is Ordered Drawn Placing Matter Before Voters for Their Approval or Rejection—Proclamation Issued

The voters of the town of Beaverton will have an opportunity of deciding whether or not they desire a modern, up-to-date sewerage system, together with a sewage disposal plant, according to preliminary steps taken at a special meeting of the board of town trustees held Monday night.

Burton E. Palmer, executive secretary of the state reconstruction advisory board, was present and in a clear and impressive manner told the board why they should take advantage of the government's offer to furnish the funds necessary for the construction of the system.

A number of the councilmen were frankly skeptical as to the advisability of installing a new system at this time, but after hearing Mr. Palmer they were a unit in favor of the acceptance of the government's offer, although two of them, H. M. Barnes and F. W. Livermore, did not cast their votes favorably on final passage of a resolution providing for a special election.

Mr. Palmer presented the reasons why the federal government was making the offer of financing needed public works in communities and also the position of the state reconstruction advisory board in the premises.

He stated that the reconstruction advisory board was formed by the last session of the legislature for the purpose of aiding the communities in Oregon to obtain funds from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, or any similar organization created by congress, and provided that its members should consist of leading technicians, attorneys and financial experts. As the result of the appeal made by the governor for the listing of applicants, nearly all of the communities in the state appeared with requests for projects totaling nearly $140,000,000.

The first task which the board undertook was to prepare a list of those projects based upon unemployment needs, and desirability, which list was submitted to the governor and approved as the state of Oregon program. Practically all of this list was taken from the various projects requested by the communities. However, in one branch of this program certain projects were included which had not been requested up to that time, but which the board felt showed a greater need than other projects which had been submitted. There were all located in the Willamette valley and dealt with the sanitation of that region. It was for this reason that Beaverton was included in a project which involves the construction of sewers for the city and the proper disposal of the refuse from such a system so as not to contaminate, to any marked degree, the waters of Beaverton creek, the Tualatin river or the Willamette.

On June 16 the federal government provided by the national industrial recovery act the basis by which President Roosevelt based his plan for national recovery. This act is popularly known as NIRA. It consists of two parts, both of which, according to the president, are equal in importance. The first title is now known as the NRA and provides for industrial reorganization in a revolutionary way, by which it is the president's hope to increase employment throughout the country by many millions of men, through shorter working hours and increased wage scales. This first title will require artificial stimulation because of the fact that industry as a whole cannot at this time care for the increased wages without some means provided for increased buying power. It was to provide immediately this increased buying power that the second title, now popularly known as the PWA, was provided and the sum of $3,300,000,000 appropriated for its accomplishment. Of this sum $400,000,000 has been used for public highways, of which Oregon has received better than $6,000,000, and also well over a billion dollars has been used or will be used by the federal government on strictly federal work, such as the construction of the Bonneville dam, the Tennessee project and the large naval construction which is being undertaken by the government.

In order to properly use this money various state, county and municipal groups were urged to cooperate and the terms of the financing made so attractive as to insure the ability of these smaller government units in the advisability of undertaking this work at this time. Mr. Palmer stressed the fact that the primal purpose of this work was the relief of unemployment and mentioned in connection with this that the federal government now has required that the state or counties put up $2 in hard cash for every dollar that the federal government will advance for direct relief. This is very similar to the terms upon which the public works money is available for the construction of projects. The government is granting, in certain cases, as much as 30 per cent for the construction of these projects and is loaning the balance at 4 per cent interest. This he noted as being roughly a dollar gift for each $2 which the government loans. In this way, by the construction of public works, the communities would not be obligating themselves to raise any more for the construction of needed work by which unemployment would be aided than they would in raising relief. This public work undertaking would also have the advantage of providing the means by which the community could borrow the $2, roughly speaking, that they must match with the $1 gift. For this reason, any work undertaken by the communities is a direct means by which that community may aid its unemployed and also provide an increased buying power in the community.

Mr. Palmer stressed in his talk the point that under the law all the communities would be directly aided in their own unemployment situation in that all of the labor for the project must come from the

Continued on Page 2, Column 2.

NEW TELEPHONES ARE NOW BEING INSTALLED GRATIS

West Coast Telephone Company Announces New Policy.

Local telephone employees are rolling up their sleeves in preparation for a special effort to gain new telephone subscribers. "The replacement of a number of telephones in the past few weeks," reports Wire Chief L. W. Short of the West Coast Telephone company, "indicates that as prices and business get better, people are realizing the need for their telephones to help speed things along."

"During the past three years many families, in an attempt to reduce expenses, removed their telephones, but found that such action robbed the home of a service that is priceless. Now that conditions and prospects are rapidly improving, people everywhere are having their telephones reconnected and again are getting in touch with their neighbors and entering the business life of the community."

"We are doing our part in bringing back better times and furthering General Johnson's 'Buy Now Campaign' by installing telephones during the period from September 25 to October 8 without making a charge for the installation," stated Mr. Short. "Everybody who wants new or additional telephone service should take advantage of the offer and place their orders during this period."

BLAZE AT CITY MARKET

A stubborn fire starting at 6:30 P. M. Thursday evening in the basement of the City Meat Market necessitated the calling of the Portland fire department before it could be extinguished. Origin of the fire was not determined at the time of going to press.

The local fire department was on the scene quickly, but it was felt that it was best to call on Portland for help in order to prevent any chance of a disastrous blaze.

Ammonia fumes from the refrigeration plant made it extremely difficult to overcome.

The plant and building were partially insured, it was stated by Elmer Benson, proprietor.

REBEKAHS ENTERTAINED.

Local Rebekahs were entertained Tuesday evening, following the regular meeting by the committee in charge, headed by Mrs. Sanford Rogers and assisted by Mrs. Hugh Lewis, Mrs. H. Taylor and Mrs. J. Frost. Under good of the order Mrs. Rogers read a paper on the foundation and anniversary of Odd Fellowship, also a reading by J. Frost. Two visitors were present.

At the close of lodge all retired to the dining room, where cards were enjoyed. Mrs. Thompson received the lady's prize for high score and Mr. Taylor the gentleman's prize. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge. It was voted to entertain the warden of Rebekah assembly, Cora Heaton of Hillsboro and her lodge, at her next meeting.

NEW POPPY GROWN.

Mrs. R. B. McMinn, whose gardens, at her home at Westslope, are always a delightful attraction, is growing an unusual type of poppy. It is called the "Scarlet Horn." The leaves and stems are smooth instead of fuzzy. The odd-shaped, three-petaled blossoms are of a beautiful salmon orange color and bloom all summer, the plant growing to a height of almost four feet. Mrs. McMinn has a hobby for growing odd flowers. She purchased the seed for this poppy in England.

Mrs. Bridges of near Middleton, who has been at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Aten during the past few weeks, returned to her home this week.

Delinquent Tax Suits Will Be Prosecuted En Bloc

At the close of the special council meeting last Monday night, under the report of a committee appointed at the preceding session to inquire into the matter of bringing foreclosure suits on delinquent property en bloc instead of by individual action, Councilmen Barnes and Bishop reported that they had made a trip to Hillsboro to consult an attorney and had been informed that the process of combining all of the parties to the action into one group was legal and was being followed by other municipalities, including Portland.

This was in conflict with an opinion rendered by V. P. Reimer, town attorney, who had stated that each suit must be tried individually and who had contracted with the council to prosecute them for a fee of $57.50 each. Following the report of the committee, Mr. Reimer admitted that he was mistaken, but took offense at certain remarks reflecting on his ability as an attorney.

For a time it appeared that there would be some fireworks, but the matter was finally quieted by taking an adjournment on the call of the mayor. Before adjournment, however, Councilman Fred Koshland stated that he had been treated discourteously by Recorder Smith, which statement Smith denied. Koshland insisted, however, that he was refused official information by Smith concerning town records, who stated that he did not intend to

BEAVERTON SCHOOLS CONTINUE TO GROW

Registration Shows Remarkable Increase

STUDENT BODY ELECT OFFICERS

Boys' Band Gives Peppy Program and Fems Are Talking of Having One of Their Own

With a total to date of 603 students, Beaverton schools have one of the largest enrollments in their history. Three hundred and sixty-three are attending the high school, and 240 in the elementary grades.

Mrs. Georgia Snyder, teacher of music in the high, has begun the formation of an orchestra. The first student meeting of the year has been held and plans for the freshman-sophomore party are under way.

Margaret Dickman, who is the first girl president of the student body, announces the following officers as having been chosen: Vice president, Donald Jossy; secretary, Isabelle Wallace; manager, Paul Wilson; reporter, Catherine Markovitch; song leader, Esther McKeown; yell leaders, Vera McElroy and Doris Yarton.

During the meeting of the student body yells were given and songs sung to create pep for the coming football games. Coach Warren, who is already forming his squad, spoke briefly on the prospects for football.

Marvin Stalder, who was selected by the student body as treasurer, will take the place of Hays Boyce, who did not return to school this year. Miss Anne Schaefer, teacher of foreign languages, and Margaret West spoke in regard to the Torch Honor society.

The Parent-Teachers' association has selected Monday, September 25, as the date for the teachers' reception.

During the student body meeting the boys' band played several peppy selections. The band is rather small in number, due to the fact that several of its members graduated last year. Frank Bushnell, the director, invited all boys who play some musical instrument to join. There was a good deal of discussion about having a girls' band, since many of the girls are interested in it. A meeting of the newly organized girls orchestra will be held Friday noon to decide whether there will be a sufficient number of girls who play some musical instrument to join. Mrs. Georgia Snyder is in charge of the orchestra.

The Beaverton football team will play a scrimmage game with Commerce high Friday. The first football game of the year is the following Friday with Scappoose on the home field. Mrs. Snyder is now choosing the staff on the Hummer. This will appear each week exclusively in the Review.

STUDENTS ENTER COLLEGE.

Among the young people returning to and entering for the first time various colleges of the state were Miss Dorothy Lewis of Aloha and Miss Doris Lingman of Tobias, who returned to Monmouth; Miss Thelma Tefft enrolled at Pacific university on her scholarship with which she was presented at graduation last June; Ronald Webb returned to Pacific university for his second year's work; Herbert Mason and Van Brown registered at Reed college the first of the week, and Paul Shellenberger is leaving Friday for Oregon State college at Corvallis.

If you like the Review show it to your friends. They will like it, too.

ASSEMBLY TO BE MONDAY.

Enrollment at Beaverton high school Monday reached 238, an increase over last year. I. R. Metzler opened his eighth term as superintendent of this school. Among the improvements a new 50-passenger Federal bus will be in use after Monday. At a student council meeting held Thursday plans for an assembly to be held Monday were made.

LOCAL STARS VISIT SHERWOOD.

Officers and members of Beaver chapter No. 106, Order of Eastern Star, were delightfully entertained as the honor guests of Holly chapter at Sherwood Saturday evening, September 16. A program of music and readings was enjoyed by those present. Each lady guest was presented with a beautiful bouquet of flowers, and refreshments were served.

MECHANICAL MAN IS MARVEL

The "mechanical man" who or which will make his or its appearance before the Review office this noon, has everybody guessing. Be sure and be there at 12 o'clock and see him perform.