HULETT'S TELL OF TRIP.

got two cabins?" came next. "Yes, a couple," he said.

"We stayed on the reservation that night. Got milk, cooked spuds, corn and coffee and had a regular meal. Then in the morning we found that we were close to the Idaho line, that is, so close that we probably would cross it that day. And we thought how some relatives had been relieved of some of their corn and vegetables so we cooked up all our corn and covered up the spuds so they could not be seen. But not a soul troubled us all the way across only at the Yellowstone park where we had to fib about having a shotgun along or else we would have to come back there and leave the park at that entrance or leave the gun. We did not leave the gun but of course we had it under the cushion of the back seat and would never have known of its being there had the park attendants searched and found it.

"Next week we'll tell something of the view from the 'Boiling Point', as the first cabin camp is called, of La Grande, Baker, Huntington, Idaho, the Snake River plains and other places.

If you suffer from "Nerves," if you lie awake nights, start at sudden noises, tire easily, are cranky, blue and fidgety, your nerves are probably out of order. Quiet and relax them with the same medicine that "did the work" for this Colorado girl.

Whether your "Nerves" have troubled you for hours or for years, you'll find this time-tested remedy effective.

TAXPAYERS TAKE NOTICE.

$89,000 was the cost to taxpayers of four counties in the state of Washington last year for the upkeep of 236 of their youth committed to the reform school and state penitentiary—these 236 were all from the country districts and the number of 235 had never attended Sunday school. The one exception had a passing touch only.

Greater than the cost to taxpayers is the life wreckage tied up in a group early led into crime. And beyond this the shame to a so-called Christian nation that the penal population is mounting by leaps and bounds and recruited from the teen age.

Three things to remember—First, you cannot do anything to save yourself; second, God does not expect you to; third, Jesus Christ has done it all. He died for our sins to clear us of all guilt. He came from the grave and now saves hour by hour those who trust and obey Him. This is the saving truth taught out of the Bible in the Sunday School. Praise God for the great army of upstanding, forward looking men and women who in youth came under godly Sunday School teachers.
