IMPRESSIONS FROM TRIP TO MICHIGAN

One of the conditions which made a deep impression on all the members of our party visiting Michigan was that there was a lack of the progressiveness characteristic of the Golden West. This lack was made evident in a great number of ways, but mostly by the conditions that seemed to prevail in the agricultural communities.

Traverse City, long a mecca for those suffering from hay fever, was one place that seemed to have gone ahead with the times. True, many of the old establishments were conspicuous by their absence, but their names had survived to a considerable extent, and the places were filled with new faces, oftentimes strangely resembling those of a former generation.

Sherman & Hunter, where we bought our first five-dollar suit of clothes, had been taken over by representatives of the Hebrew faith. That place alone was held by members of that race. Formerly, Steinberg's Grand opera house, Steinberg's clothing store, Oldstein, Wilhelm, and many others of the same faith held forth years ago. But J. W. Milliken's dry goods establishment is being conducted by a son. Hamilton's Clothing store is still owned by Frank Hamilton,

HITEON.

Zell G. Struthers.

A number in the neighborhood were on the sick list the past week with severe colds.

Rebekah club ladies of Hiteon met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Allen and Mr. Lester Robinson were dinner guests Friday of Miss Dorothea Struthers.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Robinson and son Lester of Portland were Sunday dinner guests at the C. W. Struthers home.

Miss Vivian Nelson and Miss Lydia Hanberg of Portland were calling on Miss Elizabeth Struthers Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Vernon Meats, who has been visiting his parents since the holidays, left Sunday for his home in California. His brother Joseph accompanied him.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fisher of Detroit, Mich., who recently purchased the Workman property are staying in Hillsboro until their new home is ready for occupancy.

who, one is often reminded, was the father of the good roads movement in Northwestern Michigan.

MacIntosh, who used to work for Hamilton, has a son in Mac's Service station down the street a couple of blocks, a business in which Clyde Canute, one of my old school kids, owns an interest. Chas. Rennie who was with the Farmers' Supply co. when I thought I could sell farm implements now has the Rennie Oil Co., and distributes Sinclair gas and oils similar to the manner in which General Petroleum used to be handled, and something like Richfield is handled now.

The Basket factory still runs and employs a considerable number of men, but the Oval Wood Dish company have folded their wings and flown. Beitner now has a fuel supply business. They used to run a butter dish factory.

Out in the agricultural districts the buildings are showing a woeful lack of paint and still have the same roofs they had twenty years ago. Some of the porches are parting company with the main part of the house, some barns lean considerably, but the most of them contained a fair amount of fodder for the cattle for the coming winter.

The Gray settlement showed up to be the most prosperous of the farming communities. Here the houses were painted, the barns well kept, the fields looked fertile.

When I was a lad we used to farm in the summer time and haul and sell logs to get a little change to pay taxes with in the winter. Most of the good land had considerable stand of fairly merchantable timber which we sold for from $2.50 to $6.00 or $7.00 a 1000 feet but now there is no timber. Hardly enough is left to supply firewood.

Sanford Plucker and his partner—sometimes it was Ab. Smith, once it was Curtis Ormsby—the two of them used to cut logs for the farmers. They often cut six to eight thousand feet of board scale. Not much for a cut in this country, but a lot back there in that sort of timber. Hard maple, most of it was, some beech, some elm, once in a while a basswood and now and then a little hemlock, but mostly maple. That much was not by any means a record cut, but just an average day. The same two would cut ten cords (ricks) of sixteen-inch wood in ten hours, saw, split and pile it up. Sanford is now in Grand Rapids where he has a rooming house, a European hotel.

The Missus just now told me that "Eva'll jump all over you for saying she weighs so much." Well, I don't know what she weighs, and if I have stretched her weight in one of my previous articles, she has my most humble apology, and I'll promise that I'll never do it again, at least not for a week or two.

But to get back to some of the things we found in Michigan. Having sent word to my sister, Lucy, that we'd be down there some time we made our first stay at Traverse City short. Mina, however, had told us that "Lucy and Alma are at Chicago," as she or some one else had just received a card from there. But we got ready and started late that week, Friday or Saturday. It had taken us all day to make the trip from Traverse City to Hastings with the Ford on our previous trip. This time we got started at four o'clock in the afternoon and expected to get in some time that night. We hardly knew how far it was, but it turned out to be just a little less than 200 miles. We got there about eleven that night, and driven rather slow, as it was dark after reaching Grand Rapids, a city of about 170,000 people.

Had forgotten where Alma lived, but no big rush.

METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. George F. Gordon.

Sunday services commence at ten o'clock with Sunday school session and worship service at eleven o'clock. A short special program will be presented by members of the school between the Sunday school session and the preaching.

The sermon subject will be "Spiritual Awakening". All are cordially invited.

CHURCH OF CHRIST.

Rev. G. W. Springer.

The young men's and women's classes of the Sunday school have been combined for one month and are being taught by Mrs. Springer. A great deal of interest is being manifested in this large class. All young people of high school age, and over are invited to attend.

Next Sunday morning Mr. Springer will speak on the topic, "Drawing Near to God."

The topic of the evening sermon will be, "Ye Ye Also Ready."

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE.

Rev. Willard P. Anderson.

The local Nazarene Young People's Society is sponsoring a special week end meeting this week. They have secured the services of Rev. A. Jeffries, from the Portland Bible Institute, as the special worker. The school is also providing special singing and a song leader. This is a real treat. Don't miss the remaining services: Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, at 7:30 p.m. As Rev. Jeffries has another appointment for Sunday morning, the local young people will have charge of singing and the pastor will give the message at that hour.

Sunday school, 9:45 a.m. Mid-week prayer service, Wednesday 7:30 p.m.

CONGREGATIONAL.

Rev. Charles F. Clarke, Pastor.

The pastor will preach at the morning service on "When Our Plans are Blocked". At 7:30, the service will be in charge of the young people, the president of the C.E., Glen Shellenberger, leading. There will be special music by the Junior Choir, and Miss Elizabeth Huff will give us "A Dream of the Coming Century", suggested by her visit to the Century of Progress at Chicago. The other parts will be taken by various young people. This will interest every one. The Bible school will meet at 9:45 a.m. and the Christian Endeavor at 6:30, the topic will be, "How Can I Get Anything out of the Book of Revelation?" Led by the pastor.

though we had visited her there at Hastings in 1918, and couldn't raise anyone at Lucy's house after we found it. It took some time to find it for they told us that way was east, and when we started out some one else told us that some other way was east. But we finally found it, and then a neighbor told us where a Pender lived whom we supposed was Frank Pender, but it was Al Pender's house. Al told us where Frank lived and they were at home. It was some late by that time, and when we got to bed it was considerably later.

Hastings is a pleasant little city on the banks of the Thornapple river. Some of the machines that probably stamped out the bodies of that automobile of yours were probably made in Hastings at the Consolidated Press Works. Here, too, are made dining tables, and wool boots, and a number of other articles.

Elmer Broadway, Eva's oldest boy is an expert auto body finisher. He takes the little dents out of the car body that your fingers never would feel but that will show up when the high gloss finish is applied. For three years he had no work. Soon after our arrival he went to work at his old trade. His two brothers were in Pontiac where many of the automobiles are made, just a few miles out from Detroit. It was their first job since the big smash in 1929. These are just an instance of what was taking place: some going to work, but no big rush.

Wages were nothing to brag about. Harold Gibbs, Belle's boy, got a little work at the Basket factory. Chas. Drake got a few days in on the road. Dan Ensign offered me a job selling automobile insurance. Michigan's new compulsory automobile insurance law went into effect the middle of October and he thought it a good time to get on.

We made our trip to Hastings this time rather short as Russell had been left behind with his cousin, Robert Drake. Ebb, as he is called, is about Russell's age, and is quite a 4-H club worker. He had his calf to the fair, and took first prize, I think it was. His mother had several entries in the sewing and baking divisions and she brought home a whole flock of ribbons. At the fair the relatives started planning a picnic at the State park at Interlochen in honor of the Huletts.

I never will be able to recall the new names for the lakes at Interlochen—big, high-sounding Indian names in keeping with the surroundings. For it is there that the International high school band (Continued on back page)

SUMMONS.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for Washington County, H. A. Kureth and J. J. Wismer, Plaintiffs, vs. Gust Richardson, Sylvia Richardson, and Laura B. Morgan, Defendants.

To Gust Richardson, Defendant: IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint filed against you in the above entitled court and cause on or before Wed. the 28th day of Feb. A.D. 1934, said date being after the expiration of a week from the date of the first publication of this summons upon you in The Beaverton Review, the date of the last publication being Friday January 19, 1934, and the date of the last publication being Friday Feb. 16, 1934; and you will please take notice that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint for want thereof, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief requested in their complaint, to-wit: for a judgment and decree in favor of plaintiffs and against said defendants and each of them as follows:

FIRST: For a judgment against said defendant Gust Richardson, for the sum of $100.00 with interest thereon at the rate of 6% per annum since July 22, 1931, and the further sum of $50.00 attorneys' fees and for plaintiffs costs and disbursements of this suit on the first cause of suit set forth in plaintiffs' complaint.

SECOND: That the mortgage of plaintiffs mentioned and described in their first cause of suit in plaintiffs' complaint be adjudged a first lien upon the following described real property in Washington County, Oregon, to-wit: The South half of the following described tract: Being part of the Isalah Kelsey D.L.C. No. 41, T. 1 N. R. 2 W. Beginning at an iron pipe on the E. line of First Street of the City of Hillsboro, Oregon, extended northward; the said beginning point being also the N. The tract above described being 1.2 acre.

prior in time and superior in right to the right, title, interest, claims, and demands of the above named defendants and each and all of them and all persons claiming by, through or under them in and to the real property hereinabove described.

THIRD: For a judgment and decree against the above named defendants, Gust Richardson and Sylvia Richardson, for the sum of $100.00 with interest thereon at the rate of 6% per annum since Sept. 4, 1931, and the further sums of $50.00 attorneys' fees and for plaintiffs costs and disbursements on the second cause of suit set forth in plaintiffs' complaint.

FOURTH: That the mortgage of said plaintiffs mentioned and described in the second cause of suit set forth in plaintiffs' complaint be adjudged to be a second lien upon the real property hereinabove first mentioned and described, prior in time and superior in right to the right, title, interest, claims and demands of the above named defendants and each and all of them, and all persons claiming by, through or under them in and to the real property hereinabove described and described in plaintiffs' complaint.

FIFTH: That the mortgages mentioned and described in the first and second causes of suit set forth in plaintiffs' complaint be foreclosed and said defendants and each and all of them be foreclosed of and from all right, title and interest at law or equity in or to the real property hereinabove described, and that they and all of them and all persons claiming by, through or under them be adjudged and decreed to have no right, title or interest in or lien or claim to or upon said described real property hereinabove just described and south to be foreclosed herein, or any part thereof, and that each and all of them be forever barred and foreclosed, enjoined and prohibited from setting out any right, title, claim, lien or interest in or to said real property or any part thereof, excepting only the statutory right of redemption on the part of said defendants, Gust Richardson and Sylvia Richardson; and that said real property above described be sold in the manner prescribed by law and the practices of this court, and that the proceeds from such sale be applied as follows: (a) To the costs and expenses of said sale; (b) To the costs and disbursements of this suit; (c) To the payment to plaintiffs of the sum hereinbefore mentioned and for which judgment is prayed for in the first cause of suit set forth in plaintiffs' complaint; (d) To the payment to plaintiffs of the sums hereinbefore mentioned and for which judgment is prayed for in the second cause of suit set forth in plaintiffs' complaint; (e) That the balance, if any, be paid over to the Clerk of the above entitled court to be disposed of as the court might hereafter direct.

SIXTH: That the plaintiffs be allowed to become purchasers at said sale.

SEVENTH: That the plaintiffs or the purchasers of said sale be granted a writ of assistance to recover possession of the property so purchased.

EIGHTH: That the plaintiffs have such other and further relief as to the court may appear just and equitable in the premises.

This summons is served upon you by publication thereof in The Beaverton Review, a weekly newspaper printed and published in Beaverton, Washington County, Ore., and of general circulation, pursuant to an order made and entered in the said court and cause on January 17, 1934 by Hon. Geo. R. Bagley, Judge of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Washington County, which order requires this summons to be published in The Beaverton Review for a period of 4 consecutive and successive weeks beginning with the issue thereof dated Fri. Jan. 19, 1934, and ending with the issue dated Fri. Feb. 16, 1934, and requires you to appear and answer the complaint filed in the above entitled court and cause on or before Wed. Feb. 28, 1934.

Dated at Hillsboro, Ore., Jan. 18, 1934.

Thos. H. Tongue, Jr., Attorney for Plaintiffs, Resident Attorney of the State of Ore. Postoffice address: Hillsboro, Oregon. adv c8.12

THERE'S MONEY in your Ash-can!

The way to find it is to stop burning fuels that produce ashes, for ashes are a waste of money.

When you burn Gasco Briquets, you have no ashes or clinkers to carry out. Neither do you have to put up with the waste caused by unburnt fuel being smothered by ashes and then being shaken down into the ashpit. These briquets burn a-l-o-w-l-y and thoroughly, every bit of them producing heat—not just a portion. Because they are 100% petroleum—containing no coal, coke, sawdust or waste materials—they have the highest heat content of any solid fuel.

Gasco Briquets require no special equipment, yet they produce a steady, even heat all day or night from 2 minutes' care morning and evening. This uniform heat will mean fewer colds, less illness, greater comfort.

So when you next need fuel, consider these advantages and order Gasco Briquets:

1. A 100% petroleum fuel—ideal for furnace, fireplace or stove. (No special equipment needed.)
2. Highest heat content of any solid fuel.
3. No banking or shaking! Hold fire day or night!
4. No ashes or clinkers to carry out.
5. One ton of Briquets gives as much heat as two cords of first-growth fir; costs less per season than best Utah and Wyoming coal.

Ask the dealer in your city for a 100-lb. trial sack at the introductory price of $1.00.
