FOREST FACTS

Price fixing under the NRA lumber code had a precedent during the World War when the government established maximum prices for lumber.

When No. 1 Douglas fir logs sold for $24 per thousand feet in 1925, they were worth slightly less in exchange for other commodities than when they sold for $16 in 1932.

Between 1925 and 1929 nearly ten billion board feet of timber were removed annually from the forests of western Oregon and Washington, according to figures compiled by the Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment station. These logs, cut to meet the demands of the wood-using industries, would furnish enough lumber to construct 600,000 average-sized residences.

The consumption of forest fuelwood in Oregon and Washington annually amounts to about 1,700,000 cords, according to the Pacific Northwest Forest Experiment Station. Douglas fir makes up over three-fourths of this fuelwood.

HUMOR

"An arch enemy is one who fights with his feet," says Boboons, the office cat.

Sam (decorating scandal sheet): "Now if I subtract 29 from 87, what's the difference?" Porter: "Yeah! That's what I say! Who cares?"

"Do you plead guilty or not guilty?" "Er—what else have you?"

Stout Woman: "Could you see me across the street, Officer?" Policeman: "Lidy, Oi could see you a mile away."

"It's mostly you I care for. I care for your money only up to a certain point."

"The decimal point?"

A farmer who wished to investigate the "huge profits" of the middleman, sold a consignment of eggs to a New York firm. On one of the eggs he wrote: "I received 1 1/2¢ for this egg; how much did you pay?"

Some months later the farmer received a reply written upon the note paper of a theater: "I received your egg absolutely gratis."

"Say, Marie, may I borrow your velvet jacket?"

"Sure, but why all the formalities about asking?"

"I couldn't find it."

He met her at Friendship, Missouri, followed her to Love, Virginia, and asked her to name the day at Ring, Arkansas. They were married at Church, Iowa, and settled down at Home, Oregon—but the twins were born at Boise, Idaho.

"We'd better make a front-page story of this wedding," said the editor.

"Why?" asked the society editor in surprise. "They are not very prominent people."

"That may be," replied the editor; "but this is the first account of a wedding you have turned in for ages that hasn't had as a last line, 'They will reside with the bride's parents.'"

It was Timothy's first day at school. He walked up to the teacher's desk and announced, "I ain't got no pencil."

Shocked at his expression, the teacher exclaimed, "Oh, Timothy, I have no pencil!"

A sympathetic look crossed the small boy's face, and he replied, "You ain't, either? Well, we're both in the same fix, ain't we?"

Bright Ideas Lighten April Days

"When April showers come your way" as a certain tenor is fond of singing—what are you going to do about it? Of course here "May flowers" have already come, but what are you doing inside the house to lighten these days?

One kind of April shower offers its own merry suggestion—the shower for the bride-to-be. Miscellaneous showers are most popular this season, and interesting, too. For the decorations, what is prettier than spring flowers? For the inevitable refreshments, choose a "feminine dessert" to delight your guests, and let a hint of the future be revealed in a wedding-like cake topped with fluffy frosting.

April Orange Torte

3 eggs
3/4 cup sugar
Orange rind
2 tbsps. orange juice
1/4 cup cracker crumbs
1/2 pkg. dates
1/2 cup nutmeats
1 teas. baking powder
Ice Cream

Beat egg yolks until light, beat in sugar gradually. Add orange juice and grated rind of 1 small orange. Fold in cracker crumbs, chopped dates, nuts and baking powder. When well mixed fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Spread mixture evenly over a shallow pan which has been lined with paper or well greased and dusted with flour. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) for 45 minutes. Let cool before removing from the pan. Cut in inch cubes and serve in tall stemmed glasses with ice cream in desired flavor.

Sure-Fire Frosting

2 egg whites, unbeaten
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/3 cup cold water
1 tbs. white corn syrup
1 teas. vanilla
Place all of the ingredients except the vanilla in the top part of a double boiler. Beat with a rotary egg-beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over boiling water; beat steadily with rotary egg-beater until the frosting will form peaks when the beater is lifted. The time will be about 7 minutes. Remove the top of the double boiler from the stove; add the vanilla; beat until thick enough to spread.

April is also a candy-making month, because Lenten denials are over and sweets may be enjoyed once more. Besides it's an indoor occupation perfectly suited to rainy days and keeps mischief out of the way of children's idle hands. Get some dates, and let the youngsters stuff them with nutmeats or marshmallows and roll them in sugar. If it's yourself that's to be amused, try this delicious candy:

Divinity

2 1/3 cups sugar
2/3 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup water
1/4 tsp. salt
2 egg whites
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup chopped nuts

Put the sugar, syrup, water and salt in a saucepan. Stir over low heat until the sugar has dissolved. Increase the heat and boil steadily without stirring until the thermometer registers 265° F. (very firm ball). Remove from stove; have the egg whites in readiness in a large mixing bowl; beat them quickly until stiff; pour the hot syrup in a thin stream over the whites, beating constantly. Continue beating with wire whisk or wooden spoon until candy will just hold its shape when dropped from spoon. Stir in vanilla and nutmeats. Turn mixture into a slightly buttered pan to cool or drop it by teaspoonfuls on a board covered with heavy waxed paper.

Butterscotch

2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup white corn syrup
1 cup water
1/4 tsp. salt
1/3 cup butter
1/4 tsp. vanilla

Put sugar, syrup, water and salt in saucepan. Stir over low heat until sugar is dissolved. Increase heat and cook to 250° F. (firm ball stage). Add butter and vanilla.
