Beaverton Oddfellows Install New Officers

Thirty Year Jewel Is Presented At Meeting To J. A. Schultz

GIVE SECOND DEGREE

Visitors Present Include Some From Hillsboro, Tigard, California

Monday evening was a busy one at the Beaverton Oddfellows Lodge hall. The Second degree was conferred on two candidates, ballots were cast on one candidate, and installation of the officers for the ensuing term comprised some of the more important matters handled.

The degree team did a splendid job considering the meager opportunity for practice they had been allowed. Visitors from Tigard, Hillsboro and one from out of the state pronounced the work of the degree staff very good.

The presentation of a thirty-year jewel by the Deputy Grand Master was one of the events which has been looked forward to with considerable pleasure, and which was carried out very nicely by Hugh Lewis. The jewel was presented to Mr. J. A. Schultz who lives on the Farmington road just south of St. Mary's of the Valley school.

The officers installed are J. H. Hulett, Noble Grand; Raymond Heard, Past Grand; Ferdie Tursted, Vice Grand; C. J. Stevens, Warden; Dewey Drobbaugh, Conductor; L. F. Humberg, Chaplain; R. Chamberlain, R.S.N.G.; L. L. Myers, L.S.N.G.; S. G. Rogers, E. S. V. G.; Ira Lee, L.S.V.G.; E. R. Sheets, Inside Guardian, A. Denholm, Outside Guardian.

Visitors included A. J. Schultz from California, R. Beamish of Hillsboro, Chas. and Curtis Tigard, L. M. Erickson and H. Gaarde from Tigard.

Mr. Erickson stated that he came in the interests of the Oddfellows county picnic, which will be held in the near future, the date not having yet been set.

Committees to help with the work of the Three Link Association which is to meet here in Beaverton on the evening of July 27 were named, one committee to assist with the program and another to assist with the preparation and serving of refreshments.

F. G. BANK PLANS TO SPONSOR SHEEP SHOW

First annual Forest Grove National Bank 4-H Sheep Show will be held Saturday, July 21, in the Pendall hardware warehouse across from the City Hall in Forest Grove. John Thornburgh, president of the bank, in sponsoring this sheep contest says that a few sheep have an economic place on most of our Washington County farms. This is the first year of the contest, and 18 4-H club members are enrolled.

Classes of breeding ewes, yearling ewes, and ewe lambs will be shown with five premiums awarded in each class. An exhibitor's ribbon will be given to each club member exhibiting, as well as place ribbons for the premium winners.

Frank Brown of Carlton, one of the best known Hampshire sheep breeders in Oregon, from whom many of the boys bought their foundation stock, will give the boys a blocking and fitting demonstration. Nearly a month and a half will elapse between the Bank Sheep Show and the County Fair and during that time the boys will be able to do much to their sheep so that any boy not placing up at the Bank Show may still hope to win with his sheep at the later fair.

The bride wore a gown of white silk crepe and carried a shower of pink roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Evelyn Hawley, who wore green silk crepe and also carried pink roses.

Ralph Grant was best man for his brother. The rooms were beautifully decorated in a color scheme of pink.

After the ceremony the guests were served with a wedding dinner.

The young couple will make their home in Portland.

DATE IS SET FOR TUBERCULIN TESTING

Tuberculin testing of the children of Sherwood will be done on July 27th, at the school gymnasium. Plans laid at the Regional Child Welfare Conference of the American Legion and the annual meeting of the Washington County Public Health Association resulted in the formation of this Clinic, which will be carried out with the cooperation and sponsorship of both organizations.

Transportation of a few children from out-lying sections will be under taken by the Legion and Auxiliary. Assistance will be given Dr. W. F. Rucker, Legion representative and local physician, Miss Margaret Dixon, Washington County health nurse, and members of the Auxiliary. Funds from the 1933 sale of Christmas Seals will be used to provide X-rays for special cases whose parents are unable to do this necessary part in the program of preventing tuberculosis.

KELLEY'S VISIT HISTORIC CHRIST CHURCH

Congratulations have been received by Joy Hulett from Mrs. Frank Kelley, who said that while visiting the Congressional Library in Washington, D. C., from where she was writing, she had read of the Hillsboro Fourth of July celebration in the Portland Oregonian.

She also sent a picture of the interior of Christ Church, which she visited last Saturday in Alexandria, Virginia. The picture showed the pew occupied by George Washington when he attended church there. The building was built in 1773. After services one Sunday morning in 1774, in the shadow of this church General Washington advocated withdrawing allegiance from King George and stated that he would fight to uphold the independence of the colonies.

Premium Lists For State Fair Issued

The Purses and Premiums As Listed Will Total About $50,000

ADD NEW DIVISIONS

Max Gehlbauer Will Be The Director of the Annual Event

Premium lists announcing the 73rd annual Oregon State fair were received here this week with the rates listed as September 3 to 8. Opening day is again Labor Day, and thousands are expected to jam the gates as they did last year.

With a blue ribbon as cover design, the 1934 state premium list is an attractive little book. And more attractive are the thousands of dollars of premiums listed on the 92 pages within its covers. According to Max Gehlbauer, director, purses and premiums will total about $50,000.

This year's premium list, of which 5,000 were mailed out, contains the largest number of classifications, and individual premiums ever. All premiums are practically doubled over last year and many are nearly at the 1931 level—the last year that the state appropriated money for the fair. The cattle division is especially high.

Highlight in the dairy products division this year is a new class—milk and cream. For a dairy-minded state like Oregon this is expected to prove outstanding.

For the soap carver, miniature boat builder and follower of a hobby, the "hobby fair", under the Art department should be most welcome. A junior and senior division is listed. Also there are classes for curio, antique and natural history gatherers.

As usual a liberal allowance has been made for the Future Farmers of America. A butterfat cost contest for F.F.A.'s will yield $457.50 in premiums as well as $110 premiums for egg feed cost contest. All in all, the 1934 state fair premium list has kept abreast of the better times. It offers greater purses and premiums to exhibitors.

LAURA STALDER GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS AT MRS. BOGE'S

The Ladies Missionary society of the Church of Christ held their meeting at the home of Mrs. V. C. Boge on Lake road, Friday. Thirteen ladies were present. A luncheon was served at 1:00 o'clock after which Mrs. Boge was surprised with a shower of beautiful gifts.

"THE OREGON TRAIL" —EUGENE PAGEANT

The Oregon Trail, three-day epic to be staged in Eugene July 26, 27, and 28 will again have three main attractions—the huge pageant with a cast of 2000 each night, the pioneer parade and the parade of progress, but each will be presented on a greater scale than in 1929 when these events won national attention, it was declared, when a final check-up of plans was made by officials.

For the pageant all of the outstanding episodes of 1929 have been retained, and a number have been added to make this turning spectacle complete. Mrs. Doris Smith, director states, plans will open this year with a miniature covered wagon train, in which 500 children 6 to 9 years of age will take part. Each wagon will have a driver, a "lady" in old time dress, and two boys as "oxen."

Cowboys on Shetland ponies will ride alongside. The "trail" will be harassed by little brown-skinned Indians, in full regalia.

Other episodes to be added include the Campdog event, a range scene of cowboys herding cattle and yodelling under the stars, an impressive world war scene and war memorial, and a hectic climax of modern days.

Lurt Brown Barker, vice-president of the University of Oregon, has been selected for the leading role of "spirit of the Pioneer". Mr. Barker, donor of the famed pioneer mother statue on the university campus, and an authority on pioneer lore, is the son of pioneers who came to Oregon by covered wagon. He is the unanimous choice of the entire state for the part.

The huge stage for the pageant is designed by Fred Harris, nationally known for his work in this field. It will be skillfully constructed on wheels, so that complete changes of scene can be made in an instant while the lights are "blacked out." The event will again be staged on Hayward field, which will have a seating capacity of more than 6,000 persons each night.

The pioneer parade on July 27 will be representative of the entire state, and relies on scores of cities, communities, and homes have been sent in to Cal Young, chairman, as entries. A herd of wild cattle will be driven through the streets, pioneer scenes will be reenacted on floats, and many genuine covered wagons will be in the line.

All communities of importance in the state, as well as more than 150 firms and organizations, will have entries in the "Parade of Progress" to be held July 28. This will deal with modern, up-to-date Oregon. Jack Maglady, former state senator and one of the best known men of the state, is again a chairman of the parade.

So that all residents of Oregon unable to attend may have a first hand account of the event, an entire section of seats have been set aside at the pageant for Oregon newspapermen. They will be furnished complete data to aid them in writing material for their publications.

The seat sale for the pageant is now open, and reservations may be made by writing to Oregon Trail headquarters, Eugene. Charges for this event have been materially lowered this year, and the parades will again be free to the public.

OLD TIME DANCE DRAWS MANY COUPLES

The old time dance, given in the Huber Hall, Wednesday evening, was a successful affair. A nice crowd attended, and all say that they had a good time. The dance was sponsored by the Civic Emergency Federation.

Lisle Walker, Asst. Scoutmaster Gene Brown, James Miller, Lisle Reeves, Bill Siddens and Jack Walker are now at Meriwether, paradise of all local scouting activities. They left Portland early Wednesday for the camp which is near Sand Lake, Oregon.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reeves last Friday, six scouts met, played lawn games and tennis, and ate most delicious refreshments. Words alone cannot and did not do justice to the ice cream, cake, cookies and candy the scouts had. Well come again sometime, Mrs. Reeves!

Sunday morning Russel Hulett, Robert Jackson, Lisle Walker and Orin Zimmerman returned from the regular July hike. Besides work, the scouts went on a paper chase and a darkness hike. Camp attendance substitutes for this hike.

JUDGES DECIDE WINNERS IN CONTEST

After weeks of careful consideration and checking, the judges in the Chevrolet "Five-Mile Ride" essay contest, sponsored by Chevrolet dealers throughout the Northwest have arrived at their decisions and announce this week the winners of a brand new 1934 knee-action Chevrolet and $500 in cash.

May Lisk of Seattle is adjudged the winner of the new Chevrolet. Second award of $150 in cash goes to S. S. Dinsmore of Tacoma. Ivan W. Elder of Portland won third prize of $100 and Al Sherman of Seattle was fourth, earning $75 in cash. Fifth prize of $50 in cash goes to Louis W. Beck of Walla Walla. Winners of the next five prizes of $25 each were Eleanor Francis Brown, Wasco, Oregon; Thomas L. Flynn, Ellensburg; F. H. Sylvester, Olympia; Edna Hendrick, Monmouth, Oregon, and E. E. Bairdon, Morton, Washington.

Thousands of excellent essays were received. The writers were required to tell in their own words why Chevrolet says of its 1934 product, "Drive it only five miles, and you'll never be satisfied with any other low-priced car." So outstanding were the essays that the judges were unable to arrive at a decision until a short time ago, although the contest closed May 31st.

The judges included Walter R. May, general manager of the Portland, Oregon, Chamber of Commerce; Judge Hall S. Lusk of the Circuit court of Multnomah County, Oregon, and J. P. Segners, Secretary of the Oregon Chapter of the Society of Automotive Engineers. They rated the essays by number, and were entirely unaware of the identity or address of the winners until after they had arrived at their final decisions.

The winners will receive their prizes within a few days.

POULTRY CONVENTION WILL BE HELD AGAIN

Poultrymen of Washington county will be interested in the announcement just made from the Poultry Department of Oregon State College that the annual State Poultry Convention will be held again this year. One important change should be borne in mind, namely, that instead of the three-day convention and discussion it has been cut to one day. The time announced is Friday, July 20. This will be held at the State College as usual. Word from the poultry department indicates that poultrymen over the state request that this be held as usual but that the time be cut to one day.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS HAVE PICNIC

The Beaverton tent of Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War, held their annual picnic last Monday at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Ellerson.

At this meeting the Queen of the "Happy Days" celebration, Miss Joy Hulett, was present, dressed in her royal robes, and received many honors. Queen Joy was sponsored by the Daughters of Union Veterans.

Several members of Mary Logan tent of Portland, were present, and a pot luck dinner was served to quite a large crowd in the beautiful yard at Mrs. Ellerson's home.

Ted McCann and Donald Richardson visited Ted's uncle, Mr. Ed McCann in Oregon City on Monday. They also visited with Ted's aunt, Mrs. Mary Baker.

The Masonic and Eastern Star picnic at Avalon park Sunday was well attended by members of both organizations, their families and friends. Swimming and games were enjoyed by many.

Physical Checkup For Every Child Urged

School Clinics Have Been Organized By P.-T. A.'s In Some Localities

DEFECTS NEED FIXING

Dependable Medical Officer Should Be Chosen For Examination

A complete physical check up for each child who is to start school next fall should be taken as the responsibility of his father and mother. Early attention to this is strongly advised because any defects which might be detected may be corrected and the child returned to normal some time before he is to launch upon his new career as a school boy or a school girl.

In a few instances school clinics have been organized for this purpose by parent teacher associations. These are to be commended because many children are included who would not otherwise have the advantage of any physical inspection and the doctors and P.-T. A. workers who have assisted with these are to be heartily congratulated.

Such an inspection must be considered as second choice and cannot be advised as a substitute for an individual physical examination at the physician's office when both father and mother can be present, and laboratory tests which the doctor advises can be made. This examination surely deserves as much attention as mother gives to her spring house cleaning, and as much as father gives to overhauling his car.

Few house wives would check as to the number of cobwebs to be removed, the amount of dirt to be secured from the floors and walls, and the number of tin cans accumulated in the basement, and then content herself with having made such a survey; yet many mothers and fathers will permit cavities to go unfilled, diseased tonsils to remain, crossed eyes to remain crossed and poor vision to go uncorrected.

Spring house cleaning and health examinations might well go hand in hand for as one is to the house so is the other to the individual. The most diligent of house wives will strongly resent any suggestion that the need of the former has arisen because of duties neglected throughout the year, and it is the most fastidious homemaker who is most thorough in the performance of this annual duty. The father ought to be thought of in much the same way, and the services of a well qualified medical person in whom great confidence is placed, should be secured.

It may be found that as with curtains, rugs and screen doors a few minor repairs are necessary, and as with the rugs a change may be necessary so too much wear is not placed upon one spot, but altogether and in the long run it will probably be found that a saving has resulted because of "early discovery" with the increased chances for "early recovery". Most certainly with the examination well done and recommendations carried out a greater sense of security will result and an increased feeling of well being and the joy of living will be increased.

COUNTY HOLSTEIN PICNIC IS PLANNED

Mathiesen, western field representative of the American Holstein-Friesian Association will be one of the speakers. S. B. Hall, county agent of Multnomah county, who was the delegate to the National Holstein-Friesian convention this year will report on the national meeting. Lindow and Sons ranch is on the North Plains; Portland road about three miles west of Cedar Mills.
