We Ate More Than 63,000,000

Bunches of Bananas Last Year

About seven billion bananas were eaten in these United States last year, which, as those fond of figures will tell you, means that you and you (and maybe you) ate sixty bananas apiece! Imports of the luscious fruit continue to be so plentiful, so you can get ready for your full share again this year.

Why "such popularity must be deserved" is a question that will bring you more answers than a sieve has holes. Your Junior and Jane will tell you "because they taste good," retailers will point out their economy value and the scientists will say that the real reason is the new public appreciation of the banana as a "protective food" and because it contains five of the six known vitamins.

Silhouette watchers will praise their value in the slimming diet and the underweight will point to their food value. But the fact remains—as a nation we like bananas!

How will you eat your bananas? There are, according to homemakers, some twenty ways of serving them. They may be served with milk or cereals; in fruit cocktails; with fruit juices; in salads; sandwiches, puddings; in cakes, pies and pastries; in waffles, doughnuts, muffins and fritters; in ice cream and frozen desserts and drinks; as a vegetable, and as a meat accompaniment! Which way you choose depends on your mood at the moment, but let these tested recipes guide your selection.

Banana Pie

1 baked pastry shell (or 6 tart shells)
 3/4 cup sugar
 1/3 cup flour
 1/4 tsp. salt
 2 eggs
 2 cups scalded milk
 1 tsp. vanilla
 3 sliced bananas
 3/4 cup cream, whipped
 Mix sugar, flour and salt. Add eggs, slightly beaten, and pour on gradually scalded milk. Add flavoring and cook fifteen minutes in double boiler, stirring constantly until thickened, then occasionally. Put in shell, cool, add bananas and cover with whipped cream.

Banana and Ham Sandwich

Mix 2 1/2 ounce can deviled ham and 2 1/2 crushed bananas thoroughly. Spread mixture between buttered slices of bread, with or without lettuce leaves. Makes 6 to 8 sandwiches.

Banana Cake

1/2 cup shortening
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 2 eggs
 2 cups flour
 1/2 tsp. baking powder
 1/2 tsp. soda
 1/2 tsp. salt
 1/2 cup sour milk
 1 cup mashed bananas (2 or 3 bananas)
 1 tsp. vanilla
 1 cup cream, whipped and sweetened
 2 bananas, sliced
 Cream shortening and add sugar gradually. Stir in the well-beaten eggs. Sift flour, baking powder, soda and salt together, and add alternately with the sour milk and bananas, which have been mashed through a sieve. Flavor, pour into greased and floured layer cake pans, and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven, (375° F.). When layers are cold, put together with whipped cream and sliced bananas, and spread whipped cream over top of cake. Garnish with slices of banana. Banana frosting may be used instead of the whipped cream. Serves 6.

Stuffed Baked Apples

1 1/2 cups sugar
 1/4 cup water
 6 apples
 1 or 2 bananas
 1 tsp. butter
 6 marshmallows
 Make a syrup by boiling sugar and water together three minutes. Core apples and pare tops. Fill cavities with thinly sliced bananas and arrange in a baking pan. Pour syrup over them and bake about half an hour, until tender, in moderate oven (385° F.). When done, dot each apple with a little butter and baste well with remaining syrup; then place marshmallow on each and put back into oven to brown. Serves 6.
