THE FIRED
Lisle Walker
It's quite a tree we have—the fir!
It's quite a wind we have—to stir!
The firm green boughs of this fine tree,
And make it hold its sides with glee.

And it is quite a sight to see
A calm and stately old fir tree;
Serene and peaceful as a queen,
Majestic, powerful, virgin, clean.

I hope that careless people will
Not wreck its life, its children kill;
Not leave a campfire's smoldering light
To creep upon our tree at night.

Dear friends, I hope we never see
A burning, withering, fire-smirched tree;
A trunk defiled—its black bark loose,
Limbless. Gone beauty, value, use.

Is World End Near?

Much talk about it these days: what are the facts?

1st: God pledged forever to the royal line of David a throne and a king to sit on that throne. 2. Sam. 2:16. But if David's people turned away from God, they would be punished with the rods of men. The Jews turned away, and true to His word, God scattered them among the nations. So the throne of David was fallen down, for the time.

2nd: To the Virgin Mary of the line of David, the angel Gabriel declared, "The Lord God shall give unto Him"—until Christ—"the throne of His father David." But Christ did not come at His first advent to sit on that throne; the came to die as the Saviour of mankind. They crucified Him. He became the punishment for our sins on His first advent, 1900 years ago, and the throne of David remained fallen down.

3rd: He arose from among the dead and fifty days later, at Pentecost, St. Peter, in that first sermon affirmed that so far as the Jews had to do, Christ was raised back to life to sit on the throne of David. Acts 2:29-31.

4th: At the first church council held a bit later, it was declared that God was now calling out a people from all nations. For 1900 years the church has been at it:

And after the roll is completed, then what?

"After this I will return and will build again, the tabernacle of David, which is fallen down," says the Lord. Acts 15:16.

So when the last soul needed for God's total is saved, Christ is to return, this time to set up His own rule over the earth. The church taken up; His rule begun, to give for a thousand years, such blessings as earth has never known.

And to-day "But as many as received Him, to them gave He power to become the sons of God." George N. Taylor, Beaverton, Oregon.
