The Letter Box

September 18, 1934

Beaverton Review, Gentlemen: Enclosed find a letter which we desire to have published in your paper. The names of the three gentlemen who have been appointed to serve on the Relief Committee to fill the vacancies left by the resignation of the County Judge and County Commissioners are: W. G. Ide of Hillsboro, W. C. Schultz of Forest Grove, and Bert Hagan of Tigard.

Very truly yours,
COUNTY COURT

September 14, 1934

To the County Relief Committee of Washington County, Oregon

Effective with the date of this communication we, the members of the County Court of Washington County, Oregon, terminate our services on the County Relief Committee of this County.

Chapter 15, Section 6, of the Oregon Laws enacted by the Special Legislative Assembly of 1933 provides in part as follows:

"Within each county there is hereby created a county relief committee to consist of seven persons, three of whom shall be members of the board of county commissioners or county court or shall be persons selected by members of the board of commissioners or county court. The remaining four members shall be appointed by the governor, who shall name the chairman. Members of the county relief committee shall continue in office for the duration of the emergency period, unless removed as herein provided."

The termination of our services on the Committee is not motivated by any desire to escape any duties attendant on that service, neither are we moved to this action by reluctance to give our time or efforts. With the expansion of the State and Federal relief activities there has arisen a conflict of interest between the County and the State and Federal Relief Agencies. We do not feel that we can serve both the County and the Relief Committee and do justice to both. Our first and paramount duty is to the County and the taxpayers of the County, and we feel that we can best serve the county by discontinuing our services with the Relief Committee. We also feel that by the appointment of those three citizens of the County whose names we have submitted to you as our successors that the interests of the Relief Committee will be better served, as each of these gentlemen can and will render an excellent service to the Committee and to the people, and they will not experience the conflict of interest which has handicapped the members of the County Court.

Be assured that we are ever ready to co-operate with the Relief Committee in carrying on the relief program in Washington county.

Very truly yours,
Donald T. Templeton
County Judge
H. D. Kerkman
Co. Commissioner
James Lewis
Co. Commissioner

LARGE GROUP AT BIBLE STUDY CLASS

A large group, 40 in number, were present at the Saturday evening Bible Study class at the R. B. McMinn home. The meeting was opened with a short song service led by Miss Genevieve Carter.

A prayer service of sentence prayer followed, after which Miss M. A. Burnet, founder of the Central Japan Pioneer Mission, gave an intensely interesting talk on her work among the Japanese people. This work was begun in 1925 and some very wonderful results have been achieved. Many pictures and maps of various phases of the work were on exhibition about the rooms. Mr. W. E. Garnett closed the meeting.

Dr. Mason reports the birth of two girls in the Good Samaritan hospital last Sunday: in the morning to Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Boge, Rt. 1, a girl, and in the evening another to Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Bell of Kinton.

CARD OF THANKS

City Council Holds A Special Meeting

Instruct Livermore To Secure Lease Building for Fire Truck

COMMITTEE IS NAMED

Fire Hose, Damaged At Last Fire, Will Be Repaired

At the special meeting of the City Council held at the City hall Monday evening of this week, the recorder was instructed to segregate the assessments for paving Front street in front of Tracts 15 and 16 of the Ladd and Reed addition to Beaverton and place the assessments against lots 1 to 5 of Erickson's addition to Beaverton.

The matter of a suitable place to store the fire truck has been before the Council a number of times and at this meeting Alderman Livermore was instructed to secure a lease, if possible on the west part of the Raynard building on First street for the housing of the fire truck. This is much nearer the City hall than where it has been kept and should prove more satisfactory to those connected with the fire department.

A budget committee was nominated and the Council hope to get a sufficient number from the following list to act to fulfill the legal requirements. These men are asked to serve, W. E. McCloskey, Elmer Stine, L. F. Humbert, Day Grav, Dr. C. E. Mason, I. R. Metzler, M. W. Manning, and Dewey Drobbaugh.

The Chairman of the water committee, G. P. Forshey, and the Water Superintendent, Fred Govt, were instructed to repair the fire hose which was damaged at the Erickson fire last week. Following this the Council voted to adjourn on call of the Mayor.

Lisle Walker, Asst. Scoutmaster Grade school meeting tonight.

Twenty people attended the cabin meeting last Friday evening. Night paper chase was played and campfire refreshments served. Saturday last a fine hike was programmed, and ten scouts attended. A cross-woods hike was featured, new scouts were initiated in Camp Underwood, five completed their work projects, and the Indian tribesmen chose a name for their tribe in a powwow.

Mr. Bullas, grade school teacher, will assist the scoutmaster in the troop leadership in the future. The present assistant scoutmaster, now leaving Beaverton, turns over the records to the former senior patrol leader, who has recently been advanced to the rank of junior assistant scoutmaster. News articles, too will probably be his function.

FOREST FIRE DANGER NOT YET OVER

That fire danger is not over, is the reminder urged by the forest service upon all deer hunters and others who expect to be in the woods between now and the first drenching fall rains. It is recalled by forest officials that some of the most disastrous fires in the northwest have occurred after the light rains in September. These early light rains have the unfortunate effect, according to the forest service, of creating a feeling that the fire danger is past and that carelessness with fire is in order, whereas the forests may still be dry and needing only the recurrence of a few warm days to bring back critical conditions of fire hazard.

MRS. WILMOT ENTERTAINS XPU CLUB

The program committee is planning to have a speaker at this meeting and it has also been suggested that each person bring some one particular flower to display at that time. Cars will be provided for those wishing to attend. Those having no transportation, please meet at the Kiwanis ball at 7:45 o'clock.

BOOKLET PRINTED TO ADVERTISE OREGON

As part of its campaign to attract tourists and settlers to Oregon, the Southern Pacific Company has just brought off the press, an elaborate 16-page booklet, "Oregon Outdoors", copies of which were received here today.

Printed in colors, the booklet features large illustrations and descriptive material covering Crater Lake, Oregon Caves, Columbia River Highway and Mt. Hood, the Cascade lake country, beach resorts, fishing, golfing and other outdoor recreations. It also contains a large "animated" map of western Oregon. Many thousands of copies of the publication are being given national distribution by Southern Pacific agents located in principal cities of the east, middle-west and south. It is designed to attract residents of these sections to Oregon, using the state as an objective of their tour or including it on their itineraries when making a trip to any section of the Pacific Coast.

The booklet was written and produced by the railroad's advertising department in Portland.

The French classes under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Schaefer, have joined the World League of International Education Associations. Belonging to this league enables them to a correspondence with fifty foreign countries. During the past year two high schools in Oregon have joined, Beaverton being one of them.

The library opened Thursday. The librarians are as follows: first period, Jean Lewis; second period, Chloa Gee; third period, Mildred Twohy; fourth period, Evelyn Alexander; fifth period, Vera Jacobson; sixth period, Edna Blanken.

With the entrance of six new pupils this year's enrollment promises to be one of the largest in the Beaverton Grade school's history. Two new little pupils were welcomed to the First grade while two students, Frances and Clarence Kennedy, entered the eighth grade. The second and fifth grades boast a new pupil each, with Louise Kennedy in the second and Lorraine Kennedy in the fifth.

Autumn has made her appearance in the school world, as can readily be seen by a journey to the various rooms. In the First Grade, little fall vegetable men, some with potato bodies and string bean legs, make a gay border for the room. In the Third grade, a delightful sunflower adds color and cheerfulness.

If anyone sees a big stuffed, ferocious looking animal taking a little second grade pupil to school, don't be alarmed. A big zoo of stuffed animals in connection with the study of them is going to be an addition to the Second grade. They guarantee a big zoo with many animals, among which, in all probability, you may find some creatures whose acquaintance even you do not boast. Therefore, a visit to the Beaverton Zoo sometime in the near future might be interesting.

The pupils of this room were very sorry to hear that one of
