A pleasant day was spent by all present.

Your Day of Days

Your Day of Days, that day when you give out the Gospel; next door maybe, or maybe across the sea.

For when the procession of other and more common days has gone its way, this day will endure in the mind and heart of God; a day to feast His eye and the eye of men and of angels.

Did you not step up to this central business of giving out the Word, how would that other soul ever hear of God's Son? How hear of His coming and dying for sin and of His rising again; how ever know deliverance from sin-guilt and how know of day-by-day victory over sin-habit and untoward circumstance?

And how would the Father's eternal plan for the Son bring forth until the Son becomes the foremost among many brethren if you never awake to give the Message of Life to that one out beyond?

The Day when you give out the word—your Day of Days, waiting there to give you glad welcome when the great God bestows the eternal rewards. It tells him you were a pilgrim on the earth, passing through to herald the message of life, with buying and selling a side-line to finance it all.

On that day of eternal rewards you find awaiting you there that soul brought in from the dark; you hear the Father's "Well done good and faithful servant", you receive your crown of unrighteousness and all the unfolding ages take on meaning. Yea, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," next door, maybe—or maybe across the sea.

The Fords Plan Their San Diego Exhibit

Here are Henry and Edsel Ford getting their first glimpse of a model of the building that will house the Ford exhibition at the California Pacific International Exposition at San Diego, Calif. Between them is G. Aubrey Davidson, chairman of the exposition.

DEARBORN, Mich.—Both Henry Ford, and Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., will visit the California Pacific International Exposition this summer. So they told G. Aubrey Davidson, chairman of the Exposition, who was here to make final arrangements for the Ford exhibit at the Exposition.

Mr. Davidson told the Fords that it is hoped that the exposition will make a definite contribution toward world amity, as the assembly of more than 30 representatives of countries whose shores line the Pacific Ocean is bound to bring about greater understanding and good-will.

The building that is to house the Ford exhibit is to be a permanent structure that will remain in beautiful

Balboa Park, site of the exposition, after the show is over and the exhibit removed. A huge circular building, partially roofed, is fronted by a tower rising from what appear to be two immense gears, one inside the other. The building, architecturally, is done in the modern motif, but its open court, in the center, is characteristic of the Spanish and Mexican types of architecture that dominate the exposition.

The circular main section of the building will be 340 feet in diameter. The tower, resting on a base 221 feet above the Pacific, will rise 198 feet. The outer walls of the building will be 40 feet high. The tower will be lighted in a manner to make it resplendent in varying colors.

A special feature of the Ford exhibit will be a series of dioramas showing, in pictured story, life in the principal countries on the Pacific Ocean.

Inside the main section will be two great corridors. Along one will be shown the actual manufacture of Ford parts, including the rolling of steel and some of the more interesting foundry operations, such as die-casting. In the other corridor will be grouped a number of exhibits showing the technical development of the Ford car—torsion, tensile and other tests of steel; ball-bearing and piston-ring tests and inspection; methods of testing the action of weather on upholstery and other features.

Construction of the Ford exhibit will start immediately.
