Mary Martha Says: "We Grow House Tired"

storming Heaven's gates. Make me a saint by getting meals, and washing up the plates. Although I must have Martha's hands, I have a Mary mind; And when I black the boots and shoes, Thy sandals, Lord, I find. I think of how they trod the earth, what time I scrub the floor; Accept this meditation, Lord, I haven't time for more.

Warm all the kitchen with Thy love and light it with Thy peace; Forgive me all my worrying, and make all grumbling cease.

Thou Who didst love to give men food, in room, or by the sea, Accept this service that I do—I do it unto Thee.

And this very lovely thing by Thomas Curtis Clark:

"God Give Me Joy" God give me joy in the common things:

In the dawn that lures, the eve that sings.

In the new grass sparkling after rain,

In the late wind's wild and weird refrain;

In the springtime's spacious field of gold,

In the precious light by winter doled.

God give me joy in the love of friends,

In their dear home talk as summer ends;

In the songs of children, unrestrained;

In the sober wisdom age has gained.

God give me joy in the tasks that press,

In the memories that burn and bless;

In the thought that life has love to spend,

In the faith that God's at journey's end.

God give me hope for each day that springs;

God give me joy in the common things.

From my cliff of shattered rock, I send to you thoughts of courage, of strength, of patience and joy in the work of your hands.

Lovingly,

"MARY-MARTHA"
